

TEN DAYS' BANKRUPT STOCK SALE!

$4,000 WORTH OF UP-TO-DATE FINE CLOTHING,

Bought at the Bankrupt Sale of J. White & Co., of New York, will be sacrificed at from 33 $\frac{1}{3}$ to 50 Cents on the Dollar.

The firm of J. White & Co., established in 1832 and noted for the general excellence of its clothing, of which it was an extensive manufacturer, recently went into bankruptcy. The firm's failure was due to the death of the leading partner, which was followed by the withdrawal of his interest by his widow. Financial complications ensued and the house was forced to the wall. J. White & Co. had been for years one of the most honored clothing firms of the metropolis, employing none but clean American workmen and turning out nothing but high-grade clothing. We fortunately secured $4,000 worth of their stock and have placed the same on sale, giving our patrons the full benefit of our purchase. As this was a spot cash transaction we must realize at once on the investment, therefore we offer you,
