WASHINGTON LETTER

(Special Correspondence.)
"Washington has heretofore been known as the 'city of magnificent distances, monuments and statues,'" said Senator Blackburn the other day. "Henceforth, I predict, it will be known as the 'city of apartment houses.' They are going up on every hand. The number reminds me of a crop of spring flowers."

"In many respects I like these apartment houses. They do good in causing the destruction of old buildings and the erection in their places of something more modern and attractive, which will produce more taxes and help take better care of the city, and, then, too, they will draw the attention of a large number of people to the fact that they can obtain living quarters at the national capital at a moderate rate, which they can afford to rent in winter and close up in summer."

"Apartment houses are not good places for children, and I am sure those who are in favor, as President Roosevelt is, of large families will continue to occupy old fashioned American homes. The people of Kentucky are, of course, accustomed to large lots and low structures."

"I think Washington has taken a going start, and its progress in the next ten years will astonish the old citizens and gratify the most enterprising of the new generation which has taken up improvements. Of course I am a friend of this city and have never hesitated by my hand or vote to advance its interests. The people of my state are proud of the national capital and will never object to any improvements which will add to the attractions of the city. Here Americans can get more object lessons to inspire patriotism than in any other place on earth."

Rather Ride With the Crowd.
Postmaster General Payne refuses to patronize his own private elevator, built to enable him to get in and out of his office without being waylaid by the waiting public. He shakes his head when the idea is suggested to him. The private "cage" runs only from the fifth floor at a corner to the second, where, because the city post office has the floor below, the passengers have to get out and walk half the length of the building and take the stairway to the ground floor. Mr. Payne does not like this arrangement and never has ridden in his own elevator in the recollection of his employees. Meanwhile the elevator, a handsome affair and one of the pet ideas of those who designed the present post office building, languishes in oblivion, almost forgotten. The only patrons are several officials of the bureau of salaries and allowances, through whose rooms the shaft passes, and Stephenson, its conductor, only wakes from his lethargy at the sound of four rings of the elevator bell, the official signal that has right of way over all others in the public conveyances of the building.

Too Many Immigrants.
Commissioner General of Immigration Sargent has completed a comparison of the number of immigrants that arrived in this country during the months of March last year and this year. The figures are absolutely startling. Mr. Sargent is not very much pleased with the character of the larger portion of the immigrants, as the greater number still come from countries that furnish the undesirable class.

From European countries in March, 1902, the immigrants numbered 75,553, while in the same month in 1903 they numbered 88,827, or an increase of 13,274. The total number of immigrants from all countries was 91,606 as compared with 77,488 in March, 1902, or the enormous increase of 14,118 for the month.

Valuable Picture Torn.
It has been learned that one of the results of the "restoration" of the White House, as the recent remodeling of the executive mansion is called, has been damage, possibly irreparable, to a handsome portrait of Mrs. Benjamin Harrison. The paint has been scratched and in some places knocked off, and a hole three inches long has been knocked in the canvas.

The portrait was accounted to be one of the best of those of former mistresses of the White House. It was painted by Daniel Huntington and was thought by Mrs. Harrison's friends to be an excellent likeness of her as well as a beautiful work of art. It was presented to the government by the Daughters of the American Revolution.

Health Resort For Horses.
It will surprise many persons in this country to learn that Uncle Sam is using his good offices to furnish baths for horses, but a lease just granted by the interior department discloses this fact. The lease grants to a man in Hot Springs, Ark., where there is a government reservation, the privilege of furnishing hot water for a pool bath for the treatment of horses that are, so to speak, under the weather. Horses that have had too high living and, like the blue blood of the human race, suffer from rheumatism, sciatica, gout, etc., can hereafter find the bath of Glenad at Hot Springs and, what is more, without price if it be used.

Charter May Be Amended.
It seems quite likely the trouble with the membership of the Red Cross society will be brought to the attention of congress next fall. It is expected an effort will be made to obtain an amendment to the charter satisfactory to those members who have been suspended by the executive committee.

A suggestion has been made tentatively that a new organization of the Red Cross be effected, but it is realized there are technical and legal obstacles to such a project.

CARL SCHOFIELD.

MINISTER SOUNDS WARNING

How Long Will It Be Until We Go the Way of the Roman Empire?
Speaking in Carnegie hall, New York, recently, at the annual benefit of the St. Andrew coffee stands, on the subject of centralization of capital and the inequality of conditions among men in relation to wealth, Dr. Madison C. Peters said:
"Until God makes all people's brains alike so long will there be rich and poor in human society. The leveling process would take away the stimulus to individual accumulation, and therefore the capital of a community could not grow, but would be diminished and every man's share lessened; and, in spite of these facts, individuals among us are becoming too rich and others getting too poor."
Concentration of wealth exists today in forms which are perilous to American institutions. De Toqueville warned us more than a century ago that the greatest peril in America would arise from plutocracy.
It is true that nearly one-half of the families of the United States own the real estate they occupy, but it is also true that seven-eighths of the families own but one-eighth of the wealth of the nation. Twenty-five thousand men own one-half of the wealth of this country, and 200,000 own quite 80 per cent of our total capital.
One-half of the wealth produced in this country annually goes as a tribute to 23,000 persons, and thus about one-half of our population of 77,000,000 are working all the time for 25,000 of their fellow men.
One hundred and twenty-five families in the United States have more money than all the other 77,000,000 people put together.
Just prior to the fall of the Roman empire the entire wealth was in the hands of 1,900 men. How long will it be if our present ratio be maintained ere a few hundred men will own all the wealth of the country?
Twenty men in this country have it in their power, by reason of the wealth they control, to arrive at an understanding and any day they should so choose could stop every wheel of commerce from revolving, block every avenue of trade and strike dumb every electric key.
No sensible man ought to object to an industrial system which allows a man by his genius and industry to make all the money he can. But we do protest against accumulation by legalized methods of robbery by which a few steal what the billions earn.
A Tip For Railway Men.
Doubtless some of the increases in pay lately obtained were due to natural causes—the working of the law of supply and demand. The demand for labor has been unprecedented. Any man of intelligence and experience in railway work has been able to get employment. Competition among employers for the services of wage earners has been very active. Under such conditions increased wages are inevitable. But there is no doubt that some of the increases within the last year have been obtained practically under duress, for the reason that financial interests have been timid, dreading the consequences of a strike. Managers have yielded many points not on their merits, but purely through considerations of expediency. But advances on such a basis are not likely to be permanent, and there is surely a limit beyond which they cannot go. The labor leaders are doubtless claiming credit for the entire advance. For so much as they have been able to procure over and above that which would arise from natural causes they are entitled to a certain kind of credit, but if they push the limit too far they will merely create conditions the reaction from which will be harmful to their own interests. Up to the present time the railroads have yielded on the score of expediency.—Railway Age.

Cheap Men.
"If single men should live on $200 a year and families on $300," said Professor Clark as he thoughtfully turned his cuffs, "I am afraid that two-thirds of the saloons and vaudeville houses in Chicago would have to go out of business." The professor is right. Not only the saloons and places of amusement, but also the art stores, the jewelers, the bookstores, the bootblackers, the barbers, the restaurants, the tailor establishments and some of the big department stores. Most of Evanston that comes to Chicago every day to do business could stay at home and admire the stately trees of the classic suburb or watch the gentle ripple of the wavelets on the lake. Some of them might wonder, too, where they were going to get even the $200. If we could all live on nothing and did not need clothes, there would be no need to raise crops or run factories. After we had stocked up the foreign markets there would be no reason why the American workingman should not take a vacation for about two years. Then, if he hadn't saved up $400, he could try the experiment of living on nothing a year.—Chicago Daily News.

The Wastes of the Body.
Every seven days the blood, muscles and bones of a man of average size lose two pounds of worn-out tissue. This waste cannot be replenished and the health and strength kept up without perfect digestion. When the stomach and digestive organs fail to perform their functions, the strength lets down, health gives way, and disease sets up. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure enables the stomach and digestive organs to digest and assimilate all of the wholesome food that may be eaten into the kind of blood that rebuilds the tissues and protects the health and strength of the mind and body. Kodol cures Indigestion, Dyspepsia and all stomach troubles. It is an ideal spring tonic. Sold by Grover's City drug store.

$1.50 a year is all the TRIBUNE costs.

ROUND THE REGION.

Annie Caffrey has been non-suited in her case against the borough of Sugar Notch. She claimed damages for injury to her property caused by overflowing water from a street in that town. The borough's attorneys argued that the water took its natural course and that it is the duty of property-owners to provide against its destructive tendencies. The court agreed with this view and dismissed the suit.

Grievances of the employes of the Pottsville trolley lines are to be adjusted by arbitration. The employes selected H. E. Wilson, a Pennsylvania Railroad official, as their representative, and the traction company selected Robert Allison, an iron manufacturer, of Port Carbon. These two arbitrators have chosen Prof. S. A. Turlow, principal of Pottsville high school, as the third member of the board.

Michael Campbell, an eye witness to the shooting of Patrick Sharpe, a striker, at Nesquehoning, in August last, and the principal witness in the prosecution of Harry McElroy and George Ronemus for the killing, met death on Wednesday by being crushed between the top of a mine car and timbers in Buck Mountain colliery, Schuylkill county.

The jury in the case of Miss Margaret A. Jones, of Minersville, who instituted an action to recover $10,000 damages from Chas. H. Fredericks, of Pottsville, for breach of promise of marriage, brought in a verdict in her favor for $1,500. A board of arbitrators had previously awarded Miss Jones $1,000, but her erstwhile lover refused to abide by the decision.

Charles W. Tammany, at one time a leading business man of Wilkesbarre, last night entered a cell at the county jail to serve a three months' sentence. He was convicted before the United States court at Pittsburg for using the mails for fraudulent purposes. At the last election he was a candidate for mayor of that city and received 1,400 votes.

At yesterday's session of Lehigh Classical of the Reformed Church, held at Allentown, the committee appointed to report on the questionable methods in vogue in some churches to raise funds presented a report condemning church fairs, ice cream and strawberry festivals, suppers and entertainments of a worldly nature. The report was sustained.

The Barnum and Bailey circus, billed to appear at Shenandoah tomorrow, canceled the engagement. Business men who anticipated a big day's trade telephoned the circus management that if they would consent to go there enough citizens would be on hand to put up the tents free of charge. The offer was refused.

The convention of the Episcopal diocese of Central Pennsylvania was brought to a close at Carbonate with a reception to Bishop Ethelbert Tatbot. The important action of the session was the arranging for a relief fund for the old clergymen. Williamsport was selected for the next convention.

Met on Friday, courted on Saturday, proposed on Sunday, married on Monday. This is the romance of Joseph H. Green, a farmer, aged 53 years, of Seta, Monroe county, to Mrs. Annie E. Singler, a widow of Lehigh, aged 23 years, whom he had engaged as a housekeeper.

Judge Ferris has handed down an order directing that Patrick Hennessy, who was acquitted of the murder of Daniel Morris on the ground of insanity, be removed to the asylum at Retreat until he recovers.

Kenyon Praises Americans.
Yesterday's Philadelphia Record, in commenting upon an address delivered at Washington, D. C., during the recent medical congress, refers in a complimentary manner to Dr. Curtis G. Kenyon, of San Francisco, whose visit to town last week to provide for his blind sister, Mrs. William Hart, was reported in Monday's issue. The Record also gives the following extract from Dr. Kenyon's address:
"Americans are coming to the front in medicine and surgery as in every other profession and business. In fact I should say that they are already at the front. Without boasting or undue partiality to my own country, I maintain that in point of scientific attainment American physicians and surgeons are the equals of those in any land. Of late Europe has given us Dr. Lorenz, whose splendid achievements I am the last to underrate, but our own surgeons—Simms and McDowell—taught those of the Old World things of greater importance."
"The originality and inventive genius that are peculiarly American are ever in evidence among our professional men, and, though the Europeans are profoundly scientific, they are hindered by their conservatism from making very rapid advancement."
Fair at Laurytown Almshouse.
A fair will be held at the Laurytown almshouse on the afternoon of four Thursdays in June, namely the 4th, 11th, 18th and 25th, for the benefit of two of the inmates of the institution, Andrew O'Donnell and Patrick McCole.
It is hoped that a sufficient sum may be raised by the proceeds of the sale of fancy articles, to purchase artificial limbs for these men, who have been so unfortunate as to lose each of them a leg.

FEAR.

HOW IT MAY BE OVERCOME.
Fear is not always a lack of courage. One may be absolutely fearless when facing real danger, but a perfect coward about trifling matters. Many people fear to be in a crowded hall, and frequently, and unnecessarily, leave some enjoyable affair and return home. Thousands fear lightning to such an alarming extent, that during a thunder storm they become ill. Fear of this character is caused by a nervousness brought on chiefly by diseases of the kidneys and bladder.
A further proof that these organs are diseased, is ascertained by depositing a small quantity of urine in a glass tumbler and if after standing twenty-four hours you find it rosy or milky in appearance; if it has a sediment; if your back pains you, and you often have a desire to urinate during the night, with burning, scalding pains; it's the strongest kind of evidence that your kidneys and bladder are diseased, and the very strongest reason why you should not delay in trying DR. DAVID KENNEDY'S FAVORITE REMEDY, the pathfinder in medicine, for diseases of the kidneys and bladder, liver, rheumatism, dyspepsia and constipation.
We are sure, absolute, certain of the curative powers of Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy, that we will send you a trial bottle, absolutely free, by mail, if you will write to the Dr. David Kennedy Corporation, Roundout, N. Y.

The X-Rays.
Recent experiments, by practical tests and examination with the aid of the X-Rays, establish it as a fact that Catarrh of the Stomach is not a disease of itself, but that it results from repeated attacks of indigestion. now and then, at bedtime will cure constipation, biliousness and liver troubles. Do You Enjoy What You Eat?
You can eat whatever and whenever you like if you take Kodol. By the use of this remedy disordered digestion and diseased stomachs are so completely restored to health, and the full performance of their functions naturally, that such foods as would be one into a double-knot are eaten without even a "rumbling" and with a positive pleasure and enjoyment. And what is more—these foods are assimilated and transformed into the kind of nutriment that is appropriated by the blood and tissues.
Kodol is the only digestant or combination of digestants that will digest all classes of food. In addition to this, it contains, in assimilable form, the greatest known tonic and reconstructive properties.
Kodol cures indigestion, dyspepsia and all disorders arising therefrom.
