MISS FLOY V. GILMORE.

Bright Indiana Girl Who Has Marked Legal Ability.

A Bright Indiana Girl Who Has Marked Legal ability.

The career of Miss Floy V. Gilmore shows how a woman who is determined to succeed can accomplish her aim and win a place and a name for herself even though she invades the fields of labor that are supposed to be talents of man.

Miss Gilmore is the assistant attorney general for the government of the United States in the Philippine Islands, and she is the first woman ever appointed to such an important position. Miss Gilmore is the daughter of A. M. Gilmore of Elwood, Ind., and is twenty-four years old. She was graduated from the University of Michigan and was admitted to practice at the Indiana bar a few years ago.

Miss Gilmore owes her distinction entirely to her ability and ambition. She was clerk and secretary to E. Finley Johnson when he was professor of law at the University of Michigan. While thus employed she devoted her sparetime to the study of law and was eventually rewarded with a diploma. Professor Johnson was appointed a judge in the Philippines in 1901 when the judiclary was first established there, and Miss Gilmore went with him. She took the civil service examination and was appointed a stenographer in the office of the attorney general.

Her marked legal ability attracted the attention of Governor Taft, who appointed her assistant attorney general. The appointment was unantmously confirmed by the Philippine commission and by the war department. Miss Gilmore's salary as stenographer was $1,400 a year, which is doubled under her new position.

nographer was $1,400 a year, which is doubled under her new position.

How Being Jilted Benefits a Girl.

A normal woman should not be soured by being Jilted. She would only be a little wiser, a little better able to Judge between the true and the false afterward. She would not be so ready to trust all men, but would have just as much faith in the one man as ever should she love again, for faith and hope and love are the natural heritage of the normal woman. These qualities are as much a part of her as life itself.

There are girls, of course, whose natures never recover from the shock of being filted.

The wise girl, however, recognizes that it is better to be Jilted before marriage than neglected afterward. She may love him dearly and yet willingly give him up on hearing that his heart has changed toward her. Probably the worst sorrow a girl can know would be hers, with the knowledge that his heart has gone from her to another. But even then if she truly loves she would not feel bitter toward him She would lose her childlike, girlish trust which led her to believe all men good and noble; she would be better able to distinguish between the false and the true as a consequence, and it she loved again after time had healed the wound it would be in the same blind, unreasoning, trusting way if she was the normal woman.—New York American.

For the Nervous Woman.

"Too nervous to sit still a minute," and off she goes, talking, gesticulating and moving about in a distracting manner, with apparently no other object in it but to move—move and keep forever noving.

That this is true of very many girls nd women we all know. Now, if these

That this is true of very many girls and women we all know. Now, if these same restless ones would get an object to sit still for they would find how greatly beneficial it was, and the incessant wearing away of flesh and nerves would be very much lessened.

One nervous woman, realizing this, gave two hours every day to posing for a friend who was an illustrator. And she made a good model too. It was, apparently, just as easy for her to sit completely still as it was to keep constantly on the move. At the end of two hours, with, of course, rests every twenty minutes, the value of the work as a nerve cure was immediately felf in a sense of rest, repose and power. While every one who is nervous cannot find the opportunity to pose for one professionally engaged in drawing or even for a student, she might "hold a pose" quietly in her own room for several twenty minute lengths and get nearly as good results.

injurious vapors that have left the gold intact they may be restored to brilliance by applying a weak solution of saits of tartar in water with a cotton wool ball and then syringing the surface with cold water. If regidling is necessary this also can be undertaken with very little trouble. After rubbing the surface of the frame with fine sandpaper a coat of shellac varnish (shellac dissolved in alcohol) is to be applied with a brush, followed by a coat of japanner's gold size. When the size has become tacky—that is, receives but a slight impression from the finger—the gold leaf, previously cut in suitable sizes, is taken up and laid on with a cotton wool ball, each piece being made to overlap slightly the adjoining pieces. The gilding is then gently pressed with cotton wool. The surplus gold having been swept off with a silk handkerchief, a coat of shellac varnish is given. Two layers of gold leaf are better than one. For this the first layer is treated with gold size. The same process may be applied to the gilding of any wood surfaces.

The Skirt.

Hyglenically speaking, the skirt as now prevailing stands gullty, or, rather, should hang condemned, of many sins. It fetters free movement, impedes progress, interferes with active exercise, produces needless fatigue, predisposes to accidents, limits the use of the hand, troubles the mind, is in constant danger of entanglements, collects dust, dirt and bacilli galore and is oftentimes unduly expensive. Workers find it heavy, hampering, harmful, and, as all must admit, it readily becomes filty and unhealthy. We have no wish to suggest banishment of the skirt; but, since the participation of women in sports and physical exercises of various kinds has clearly demonstrated the possibility of combining hyglenic requirements with artistic effects, we venture to advocate a more general adoption of rational skirts. But on the subject of skirts woman is mistress of the situation.—Hospital.

Leather Trappings.

A clever woman with considerable artistic ability is making the most of the fad for leather trappings and more particularly the fancy for using calf-skin in its natural state as a covering for small tables, footstools, taborets, portfolios, book racks, wall pockets, music stands and similar articles in different kinds of wood. She designs all her pieces of fancy furniture, using the wood in its natural state and polished or stained any desired tint. Brass headed tacks or dull finished nails are used, according to the preference of the purchaser, and this young woman has built up a profitable business, which she carries on in her own home, using her parlors as sale and exhibition rooms.—Brooklyn Eagle.

Wash Silk Waists.

The best way to clean a wash silk waist is to wash it in a suds made of benzine or gasoline and a white soap. After the garment is clean it should be thoroughly rinsed in fresh benzine. No pressing will be needed as a result of the washing, but if the silk is wrinkled it should be ironed with a warm flatiron after it is dry. A hot flatiron must not of course be put on goods wet with such fluid. The rinsing liquid may be saved for another occasion, providing it is allowed to settle and is then drained from the sediment. Delicate fabrics may be cleaned in this way.

Julia Ward Howe.

"We waited eighty years for our American national anthem," said Sentator Hoar. "At last God inspired an illustrious and noble woman to utter in undying verse the thought which we hope is forever to animate the soldiers of the republic. Julia Ward Howe cannot yet vote in America, but her words will be an inspiration to the youth of America on many a hard fought field for liberty many a century after her successors will vote."

Delicious Luncheon Dish. two cupfuls of cold muttor

Put two cupfuls of cold mutton chopped in quarter inch cubes on the stove with a cupful of cold gravy, a spoonful of minced onion and another of "kitchen bouquet." While the mixture is being brought to a boil arrange round the edge of the platter a ring of plain boiled rice. Into the center of the ring pour the steaming mixture and garnish with parsley.

The Complexion.

It would be well for one to remember that the complexion resembles every other part of the body and that it cannot be trifled with. You would not tamper with your digestion were you a dyspeptic, nor would you trifle with your lungs were you a consumptive. Even so, if your skin is delicate, you must not take liberties with it.

Layatory Pipes.

Layatory pipes are easily cleansed of salt in the bottom of the basin overnight. The salt will gradually dissolve, and the first flush of water in the morning will clear the pipe.

Before cleaning out a fireplace sprin-kle a good handful of tea leaves among the ashes. This makes the ashes lift easier and prevents the dust from fly-ing about the room.

Cumbersome Currency.

The representative of a hardware firm seeking the other day to establish a trading connection in Yap, one of the islands in the Caroline group, found himself unable to trade owing to the extraordinary currency of the natives. The only among they use is a huge flint or licestone slab varying from the size of a dinner plate to that of a cart wheel. Favorite Remedy Cures ALL NIDNER TRONGCHES. Aluminium shoes for horses have been tested in the Russian cavalry. Each test was made with one aluminium shoe and three of iron. In every test the former outlasted the latter.

Some Choice Punishments.

Subalterns of crack regiments should really study the native schools of India before they indulge in further "ragings." It has been found there are no fewer than forty-two methods of punishment. Nos. 9 and 10 are particularly choice:

Nine.—The boy is made to pass one hand under the leg and catch hold of the nose and rise and sink alternately.

Ten.—A stick four or five feet long is passed under the knees, and the boy places his elbows beneath it. The thumbs and big toes are tied together by separate strings. Thus trussed, he is rolled away into a corner of the schoolroom, there to meditate on his fault.—London Express.

Woman Suffrage.

Woman Suffrage.
Governor Garvin of Rhode Island has put himself on record as a believer in woman suffrage. In a recent address before the Rhode Island Woman Suffrage association he said: "I think states and has worked well, and sooner or later it will prevail throughout the Union."

Agricultural Spirit.

One reason why farm land is low in some sections of the east is because the spirit of the times is not agricultural in those localities. Where agricultural in those localities. Where agriculture is not respected as it should be, where other industries are looked up to and farming looked down on, how can we expect lands to sell for their full value? It is too late to reform such communities, but it is not too late to prevent others from going in the same direction. Where farmers take pride in their business, respect it and themselves, they are pretty sure to be men of consequence in the community and to find their properties of value. Think of this when tempted to run down farming and to exalt other lines of business. Remember that every 'knocker' and kicker in the community is hurting the value of his own property, and every enthusiast is helping it. There is no reason why good farm land should not be still more valuable hereafter. Our urban population is increasing rapidly and the area available to feed it is not enlarging in a corresponding degree. But if the spirit of agriculture is lost the substance will vanish also.—Stockman and Farmer.

Pearl Millet.

The United States department of agriculture has issued a new bulletin by Carlton R. Ball on pearl millet, otherwise known as a cattail millet, therewise known as a cattail millet, stapen millet, pencilaria or Mand's Wonder forage plant. According to this bulletin, the best time to cut pearl millet for soiling purposes is when the plant has reached a height of three or four feet. At this stage it is not so well relished by cattle and horses as when the plant is smaller. It is nutritious and palatable when cut for green forage when two or three feet high. As a hay crop a very great difficulty lies in curing such a large mass of succulent forage on the ground where it is grown. For the best hay the plant should be cut just as the heads are appearing.

What You Eat?
You can eat whatever and whenever you like if you take Kodol. By the use of this remedy disordered digestion and diseased stomachs are so completely restored to health, and the full performance of their functions naturally, that such foods as would tie one into a double-bow-knot are eatenwithout even "rumbling" and with a positive pleasure and enjoyment. And what is more—these foods are assimilated and transformed into the kind of nutriment that is appropriated by the blood and tissues. Kodol is the only digestant or combination of digestants that will digest all classes of food. In addition to this fact, it contains, in assimilative form, the greatest known tonic and reconstructive properties.
Kodol cures indigestion, dyspepsia and all disorders arising therefrom.
