13 WAYS TO KEEP HEAT COSTS LOW

Thermologists Tell Home-Owners Scientific Methods of Burning Fuel.

Covering all phases of keeping a heating system in good condition and stoking the heater, the Holland Institute of Thermology of Holland, Mich., has prepared 13 rules for operating a home-heating plant economically. These rules, which are applicable to virtually all modern central heating plants, including the vapor-air circulating system, are as follows:

1. The chimney should be sufficient in height and in area and absolutely tight with a smooth round or square flue, straight from top to bottom.
2. The smoke pipe should be straight and short, sloping slightly upward to the chimney.
3. A shut-off or cross damper in the smoke pipe, and check-draft damper beyond the cross damper are required. Use the latter for ordinary daily regulation of the fire.

Checking Fire Requires Care.

4. There should be an air-slide lift damper or slide in the fire-door to furnish oxygen to mix with the volatile gases, but this never should be used to check the fire. All dampers must fit true and be tight.
5. With the check-draft closed the fire should burn quickly when the draft damper in the ashpit is open. Otherwise the draft is deficient and the chimney should be examined for defects.

6. The heater base must be tight and grounded to the floor, so that no air leakage into the ashpit can occur. Danger from this source does not occur with a well-made warm-air circulating plant in which the ashpit is one solid cast section.
7. Keep all heating surfaces free from soot and fine ashes, and clean out the ashpit daily.

8. Grates must be true and not warped, must move easily, and have no broken places for coal to drop through. The cone-shaped center-pivoted grate is to be preferred because of its freedom from these defects.
9. Pipes Require Insulation.

10. All basement piping must be covered with suitable insulation.
11. If soft coal is used, the heater should be stoked at regular intervals so as to provide for steady moderate combustion. Don't poke or stir the fire from above.
12. Keep the firepot full of fuel up to the fire-door level. Don't add coal by the spoonful. In mild weather ashes may accumulate on—not under—the grate. Don't shake grates too long and hard. Remove clinkers with as little disturbance to the fire as possible. Shake fire before you add fresh fuel.

13. Don't let the fire burn too thin. Try to anticipate heating demand by firing the heater at the onset of a cold wave.
14. If your heater is too small for your house, use large-sized coal. Small-sized fuel can be used advantageously only if the heater is ample in size and you can give close attention to the fire. The way to be sure your furnace is of the right size for your house is to have it installed by a manufacturer who maintains a genuine engineering service.

15. Avoid Over-Dry Heat.
16. Thermostatic or other automatic damper-control is essential to economy.
17. Keep the temperature down to 70 degrees with a relative humidity ranging around 40 per cent.
18. Keep a uniform temperature throughout the house, not allowing the rooms to cool more than 10 degrees at night.

19. Weather strips or storm sashes, at least on the west and north sides, are a genuine economy.
20. Your central heating plant, and the whole system as well, must be kept in first-class condition. It is cheaper to have defects repaired than to overcome them in operating the heating system. All ducts, registers and other parts must be kept scrupulously clean and free from dust, cobwebs and other accumulations.
