THIRTY-EIGHTH YEAR

Local Man Gains Success In the Newspaper Field

The Post columns are pleased to report congratulatory expression of the remarkable success recently attained by William B. Fine, former editor and publisher of this publication.

Since January 1st, Mr. Fine has been a member of the staff of the Gornik Miner publications of Wilkes-Barre, an organization capitalized at approximately two hundred thousand dollars, possessing one of the finest newspaper plants in the valley.

News has been current this week that our friend Bill has been voted by the board of directors of the corporation, into the position of assistant manager of the firm's publications and business.

The Post columns extend best wishes for his success and express deep words of appreciation for the splendid community service and sterling qualities, honesty and integrity always foremost in Bill's mind during the years of service he faithfully rendered to our local public, since coming here in 1924, at which time he purchased The Post.

Friend Bill is at present, regardless of his present hard luck here in business, a man of youth, being twenty-eight years of age; a graduate student of Newport Township High School and Pennsylvania State College; veteran of the World War, a member of Phi Kappa Psi National College Fraternity, Wilkes-Barre Advertising Club, past vice president of Dallas Rotary, member of local Lodge I. O. O. F., Junior O. U. A. M., and Washington Camp, P. O. S. of A.

We know that The Post management and the readers of this publication will greatly appreciate hearing from friend Bill from time to time and know that his vast number of true friends in this community wish him continued success.

New Judge of Luzerne County To Take Oath of Office Next Monday

Luzerne County bench and bar freely voted approval Thursday of Governor Fisher's appointment of Attorney William Alfred Valentine to the vacancy on the Luzerne County Common Pleas bench. Governor Fisher sent the nomination to the State Senate Wednesday morning. It was promptly referred to the committee on executive nominations, was as promptly reported out favorably and voted upon immediately winning unanimous vote in the Senate.

The appointee will take his oath as judge probably next Monday morning in the presence of the court in banc, with President Judge W. S. McLean administering the oath and Elias Cohen, clerk to the judges, reading the commission.

Appointment of Attorney Valentine is for the remainder of 1929. In November a judge will be elected for a full term. In line with expectations, regardless of who the appointee might have been, Mr. Valentine, as the appointee, will be a candidate to succeed himself. He immediately removed all possible doubt on that score by appending to his initial statement the announcement "I shall seek the nomination for a full term at the approaching primary election."

With all the politics that seemed to be associated with the appointment of the new judge it is remarkable that the appointment has few political earmarks. Mr. Valentine has not been associated with the State administration group in politics. His selection is regarded as a tribute to legal merit and a solution of the judgeship dilemma by the appointment of one who was virtually unopposed.

Nevertheless the appointment is the result of a recommendation by State administration leaders in Luzerne County and is acceptable to all of them. Strangely enough, as politics go, the appointment is equally pleasing to the Old Guard leaders who have been opposed to the State administration leaders in recent campaigns.

The new judge was born in Coatesville, Pa., on December 23, 1879, the son of William A. and Emma Cave Valentine, and received his early education in the Coatesville schools, graduating from Dickinson Law School in 1907. The year following his graduation from Dickinson, Mr. Valentine came to Wilkes-Barre and was admitted to practice before the Luzerne County bar.
