

NOXEN

Mrs. Walter Risley called on Mrs. Lewis Orcutt Monday afternoon.

Mrs. Gerdon Shook is confined to her bed with pneumonia.

Every prop truck is a coal dealer of late. Revenue going both ways.

Silk stockings has caused a big boom in the optical line. Squire Miller complains about his glasses.

Two residents in the Noxen section passed away the past Tuesday forenoon. Mrs. Charles Weaver and Mr. Zacharias Sickler.

Reports have been flying so thick concerning the state starting the improved highway between Crosby Corners and Ruggles Station this spring it makes a man dizzy trying to dodge them. In all likelihood another political move.

The Garage that was erected by Cyde Sickler about three years ago and has stood vacant over a year has been rented to a firm by the name of Smith and Cooke two young fellows that come with the reputation of being first class car repairers.

Last week Friday evening at the M. E. parsonage Miss Josephine Kresge, oldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Asher Kresge were united in marriage to Mr. Elmer Dymond by Rev. Miller. Both are young people who are much respected throughout Noxen and vicinity. Their intentions are to reside with the parents of the bride until summer.

Mr. Emery Schock who has been suffering for long while with heart trouble passed away last week Thursday, the funeral took place at the family home Sunday afternoon Rev. Kiengst of the Noxen Lutheran Church officiating. Noxen loses one of its most influential citizens. Emery had a good word for everybody. For many years he was employed by the firm known as the Trexler and Terrel Lumber Company doing their bookkeeping and measuring lumber. A widow and two daughters survive him, all of whom reside at Noxen. He would have been 54 years old the day of his burial.

It is said that John Steirnuck complained that his coat all at once was too small across the chest. In looking up the cause we find that the printer's devil had made a mistake in last week's issue of the Noxen news stating that his body weighed 41 pounds at birth instead of 4.

Arb Dimmick is doing carpenter work for Rrank Scouten who is improving at his home.

It takes the Junior Order of American Mechanics to throw a good entertainment. Many out of town visitors were present last Friday evening and if it had been better advertised there would have been a full house. Many took it for granted that it was for lodge members only.

The bake sale, under the auspices of the Parent Teachers Association last week for the benefit of securing lights for the school house did fairly well considering the weather.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Crispell of Endicott, N. Y., were visitors at their parents the past week-end.

The Bowman's Creek school house which has not been used for school purposes for a length of time is now claimed by the Kresges, which it appears was built on leased grounds with this understanding. Mr. Kresge has padlocked same. A year or so ago the Monroe Township school directors gave the Bowman's Creek Grange the right to use the building provided they would repair the roof which they did at over $100 cost. In all probability there will be litigations started to learn where the goats are.

The results of the quilt pitching contest on the evening of January 30 are as follows:

Fred Schenck leads in number of ringers pitched in three games, having pitched 12. Lyman Roote stands second with 11 to his count. Harry Miller, Richard Traver and Russel Casterline tie for third place.

In the National League, the Reds, Harry Miller and Albert Dendler, lead, having a perfect score so far, but they feel a little shakey of the Pirates, George Stitzer and William Keiper, who have not played so far but will show their science before this issue is distributed. Next week's news will determine.

In the American League, the Senators, Bert Scouten and Frank Turner, seem to have every thing their own way, having won six straight, still have their eyes on the Red Sox, Dave and Richard Traver, who won their first three games.

In the International League there are two teams fighting for first place, the Newark, John Traver and Lyman Roote, and the Reading team, Paul Montross and Sylvester Traver.

The New York and Penn League have three teams on the firing line, Scranton, James Murray and Clark Brobst; Elmira, Louis Hacklin and Andy Thomas, and the York team, William Spencer, Jr. and Elwood Wormer.

The American League leads with number of ringers pitched.

The New York and Penn League, Fred Schenck, of the Williamsport team, has the honor of pitching the most number of ringers in three games, 12.

The Clergyman's team tried the nerve of the Tannery officials. They only eked out with one or two points on each game ahead.
