VOLUME 1 INTER-HIGH SCHOOL NEWS OF GREATER-DALLAS NUMBER 19

HIGH SCHOOL PAGE

This page is contributed to the interest of all the High Schools served by The Dallas Post. It has the approval and active support of A. P. Cope, county superintendent of schools, and each of the five superintendents. It is conducted by these High Schools for three major purposes: to foster, sponsor and exchange High School and Inter-High School activities of the respective schools; to inform the public of this section about matters pertaining to the school life for which their taxes are paid; to develop the literary talents of the student editors of each class of the five schools.

Kingston Township

Z. R. HOWELL, Supt.

Misses Marion Harris, Dorothy Patterson, Ruth Palmer and Catherine Rice, all of the Class of 1927, visited K. T. H. S. during Easter vacation. Miss Harris is a Senior at Wyoming Seminary. Our School Government

(By a Dallas Taxpayer)

To you, fellow taxpayers of Dallas Borough, as participants in our economic life and as citizens of our borough will be called upon to help make a decision as to who shall be elected to serve on our school board, as the terms of two of the present directors will soon expire. In doing so it will be necessary for you to weigh matters impartially and carefully, for not only your own good but the good of the whole district may be affected by these decisions. You will, therefore, have to look at these matters from the broadest possible point of view.

Let us all freely admit we have, not always been without fault in the conduct of our own business affairs. However, in doing so we are not called upon to admit the honesty or the purity of motives of some who may have been unjustly criticized. Recently misstatements of a vituperative character have been made publicly around town concerning a prominent, aged, and honored educator, which were absolutely untrue and without foundation in fact. But I am sure he will not allow himself to become hardened or impervious to deserved criticism by these unwarranted attacks. Every one must answer to his or her own conscience—lose not sight of this fact.

Finally, it will be essential for you to consider carefully the consequences of any action that you may take in respect to important questions of economy, in order that you may not travel a road or influence others to travel a road which, in spite of your good intentions, may lead you and others to grief and perhaps even disaster.

In any period, but especially in one of such tremendous changes and eventual higher taxes, there are those who are quite ready to criticize the existing board, who are eager to rush forward into the unknown without any care for the history of human effort or a sane evaluation of the consequences of their suggested actions.

They seldom have anything at stake, and in their haste to usher in the millennium, they call everybody more cautious than themselves an "old foggy," a "reactionary," etc.; and with their attack upon him they attack the whole economic system of thinking people today. Yet, if these critics knew history, they would realize that haste must be made slowly in order that it may bring enduring beneficial results. They think in terms of hours where they should think in terms of decades; they lack the proper perspective.

The critics of the conditions of today do not take all this into account. They attack our schools, our industry, our public servants, in fact everything and everyone who moves too slowly for them. They forget that we can build solidly only on a foundation of healthy evolution—not a rash evolution. They confound motion with progress.

Decisions on problems of economy must be approached with sanity and clarity of thought, with full understanding of underlying principles and of the consequences that may flow from any action, and essentially with a clear recognition that the activities of the human race of today are the results of the experiences of untold centuries of civilization. Human activities cannot, therefore, be ruthlessly torn out of their historic setting and transplanted into an entirely new and untried sphere with any justified hope that thereby wholesome and enduring progress may be made.

Progress is the natural law of human life. We move forward, some-

SENATOR SORDONI INTRODUCES BILL FOR MOTOR BOATS

Busy Senator A. J. Sordoni introduced and saw passed in the Senate this week his bill requiring lights on boats anchored on lakes away from shore and imposing fines of from $10 to $100 on playful dads and joyful youngsters who violate the new ten mile an hour speed limit with their motor boats on lake of 500 acres or less.

Lakes affected are: Nuangola, Winola, Carey, Silkworth, and scores of other smaller ones in the State.

It takes time to be sure, but we move forward nevertheless. Nature's law is evolution and evolution is a slow process. There is too much at stake in our school system for it to be wrecked by hasty and unwise judgment and actions.

The teaching load of the principal in the school is such that it is impossible to give the necessary time needed to plan courses, develop a program of standardized tests, give adequate attention to needed laboratory work, and develop a program of pupil activities. Standard 6.—Teacher Preparation and Certification. The following requirements are made of teachers in all secondary schools: "College graduation should be the standard of preparation for all secondary school teachers. The majority of teachers in a classed senior or four-year high school are required to be holders of college certificates. Schools wishing to qualify for senior or four-year high school classification should require teachers already in service who do not have this standard of certification to continue their preparation to the college level. The school code requires that all teachers in secondary schools be properly certified in the specific subjects which they teach." Standard 7.—Teaching Load. The teaching load of the principal is too great to make possible satisfactory work. Standard 8.—Pupil Load. The pupil load is satisfactory. Standard 9.—Records. As the school develops a more adequate system of records and reports which give definite information concerning guidance, health, supplies, equipment, standardized tests, library, etc., should be inaugurated. Classification. It will be noted that this school does not meet the requirements for classification as a two year high school and cannot, therefore, be continued on the Department's list as a classified high school. We will be glad to do what we can in aiding the board to find a solution of its problem. W. H. BRISTOW, Asst. Dir., Secondary Education. The board was disheartened to hear this report and immediately set to work to correct the unsatisfactory conditions. It should be borne in mind by the public in general that the school board does not make the school law or the regulations. It should also be considered that the board is bound by these, and to some extent by customs elsewhere, so that it is necessary to make drastic changes at times, and some heavy expenditures, whether individual directors or citizens personally approve them or not. The board is working toward a full high school course in Dallas, which will not be only a source of town pride, but more satisfactory than the present system of sending some pupils to Wilkes-Barre. It will in the long run be just as cheap or perhaps cheaper. Our tuition bill to Wilkes-Barre is increasing annually, this year being about $1,625. What the School Should Be To inform the readers what is expected in a high school, the State requirements are appended below: Requirements for the Classification of Secondary Schools I.—Requirements of the School Code:
