Philip Cameron is spending a few days at Carlisle visiting relatives and Several Grangers of Beaumont Grange visited Mill City Grange on Wednesday evening. Degree work was given by the Beaumont Grange. Davis and wife of Bowman's Creek Grange also attended.

M. W. Whitaker intends to take his son, who suffered infantile paralysis a few years ago, to a specialist at Philadelphia for the summer months. George Space has moved into his new home purchased of Clarence Dymond.

Miss Gladys Sickles, who formerly resided at Noxen while her mother held a position with the firm of Risley & Crosby, has published a book containing her poems. The volume will be used as an introduction to her novel, "The Great Despair" which she intends to have published this fall. The title of her volume of poems is "The Calico Lillies."

Ruth Evans, who has been teaching in the Noxen High School the past year, has been engaged to teach near her home at Mt. Carmel, Pa. Dorothy Gilmore, who has been teaching in the district school at at Evans Falls the past year closed her school last Monday and celebrated the evening by tendering her students a picnic. Games were played.

Miss Jennie Evans of Dallas, was in town Wednesday. A balloon was seen about 11:30 Sunday forenoon over Stull and headed for Schooley Mountain. Many of the Stullites were in a nervous tremor thinking that it was probably a new stunt put on by the prohibition element. Many of their hidden cellars were suddenly brought into use.

Rev. Miller of the M. E. Church has the following program for Sunday:

Beaumont—Sunday School at 10 a.
m. Worship at 11 a. m. A Mothers Day sermon.

Noxen—Sunday School at 10:30 a.m. Epworth League at 6:45 p.m. 7:30 p.m. a Mothers Day service. Prizes given to the oldest and youngest mother present. A practical talk will be given. "Keeping Young Throughout the Years." All are cordially invited to attend.

Wm. Wright, Albert Wright, Lawrence Kitchen, Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Jones, Angeline Jones and Albert Jones motored to Oneonta, N. Y. last Saturday to call upon Mr. and Mrs.

Wilson Hettig.
Mrs. Daisy Waltman nee Bigelow left Wednesday for Binghamton to join her husband who holds a position there Mrs. Waltman towards there. Mrs. Waltman taught at Nox-en High School the past year. Sheriff Stark, of Tunkhannock, was town Wednesday, but headed for Stull, where they have a wet season the year around.

emember the bake sale today at the M. E. Social Hall. Three new members will be iniated t the Bowman's Creek Grange this Saturday evening. Clarence Dymond moved the forepart of the week to his new home which he recently purchased from Ira

Carverton

Mrs. Charles Frantz is a patient at the Wilkes-Barre General Hospital she is recovering from an attack of pneumonia.

Mr. and Mrs. George Knorr and Mr. and Mrs. Thompson and M. J. Hefft called at the home of Mrs. Mary Knorr on Sunday.

Sunday services: May 9. Sunday school held at 1:30 followed by preaching services at 2:30. Greenfield, pastor.

Miss Margaret Knorr, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Knorr, was bridesmaid at the marriage of her former school mate, Miss Elsie Rinus, of Shavertown. Miss Knorr wore a blue silk crepe and ware a picture a blue silk crepe and wore a picture hat to match.

The Ladies' Aid held a business meeting at the home of Mrs. Alfred Lunch was served to the following: Mrs. Hugh O. Jones, Mrs. Seth Webb, Mrs. Willard Prynn, Mrs. Loren Andreas, Mrs. Charles Dana, Mrs. Amos Sax, Mrs. Jonas Frantz, Mrs. Grover Stock, Mrs. William Vosburg, Mrs. Charles Brown, Mrs. Ralph Hefft, Mrs. George Brown, Mrs. Emory Harris, Rev. and Mrs. Emory

Mrs. Bertha Anderson is much improved after a recent illness

EHMAN

Dr. H. A. Brown, of Lehman, has purchased a new Dodge six coupe.

A birthday party was recently held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Kinsmen, in honor of their daughter, Misses Kathleen Johnson and Mildred Greene, of Lehman, spent Saturday afternoon with Mr. and Mrs. Munson Shaver, of Huntsville. Paul Johnson recently motored to Sayre, N. Y. Willard Lansberry, infant son of and Mrs. Laawrence Lansberry, of Lehman, has been ill.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Winters, Mr. and Mrs. Harney Sutton, Bert Miller, Arthur Ebert and M. F. Stair, attended the installation of the Rebecca's and Odd Fellows held at New Columbus

Odd Fellows held at New Columbus

Odd Fellows held at New Columbus

The Ladies' Adult Bible Class will hold its monthly meeting at the home of Mrs. Flora Thomas on May 15th.

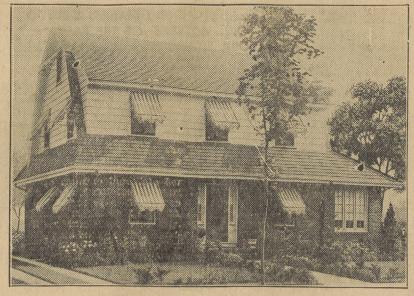

Mr. and Mrs. John H. Nulton are rejoicing over the arrival of a son. Mrs. Nulton before her marriage was Miss Arline Trumbower.

The Expert

"What is the best definition of an expert?" asks T. R. (Littlehampton). One who knows more and more about ess and less.

Combination Brick and Frame Makes an Attractive Residence

Here is a home radiating an atmosphere of comfort and solid worth. The combination of brick and shingles, laid wide to weather, is highly appropriate to the architectural style and the awnings add an effective touch of color.

By W. A. RADFORD

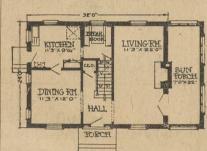

By W. A. RADFORD

Mr. William A. Radford will answer questions and give advice FREE OF COST on all subjects pertaining to practical home building, for the readers of this paper. On account of his wide experience as editor, author and manufacturer, he is, without doubt, the highest authority on all these subjects Address all inquiries to William A. Radford, No. 1827 Prairie avenue. Chicago, Ill., and only inclose two-cent stamp for reply.

Homes that are built entirely of Homes that are built entirely of brick and homes that are built entirely of wood are most common, but there is a way of combining both of these home building materials so that the resultant home will be most attractive. Brick gives an air of stability to a home; wood gives the idea of age for it was of lumber hewn from the forest that the original American homes were built.

Shown in the accompanying illustration is an example of how these two building materials can be combined and a most attractive home made of them. Here is a home radiating an atmosphere of comfort and solid worth. The combination of the face brick wall up to the first floor sill and above that walls covered with wood shingles is highly appropriate to the architectural style and the awnings add an effective touch of color. The dimensions of this house are 24 feet by 32 feet, exclusive of

First Floor Plan.

Demand Specifications for Your Protection

A complete set of specifications is the quality of materials and workmanship to be employed in bailding, on the basis of which the contractor agrees to build for a definite price.

Complete specifications also contain he general conditions of the contract etween owner and contractor respecting insurance, liability, foreman superision, bonds, liens, delays, etc. They ere thus a protection to the home builder, since they insure that he will t what he pays for.

They are also a protection to the ontractor against any unreasonable lemands that the home builder may make of him. High-grade contractors demand complete specifications. Home | terials. builders should do so.

Plumbing Should Conform to Rigorous Standards

A good system of plumbing with a supply of pure water has been said to be the most important single contribution of modern civilization to comfort, health and elimination of disagreeable housework.

Anyone who has had experience with leaking, stopped up, or overflowing drainage systems needs no warning that good standards should be rigorously carried out.

A committee of sanitary engineers and plumbing experts, associated with ed by sanitary engineers.

Loss of Heat Through

The objection to common asbestos paper used as a heat insulator on hotair pipes was worked out some years ago by investigators at the University of Illinois. They were able to show used, adequate insulation was ob-

Bathroom and Kitchen

Too often, in planning a home, the bathroom and kitchen are neglected. Yet these rooms, almost more than other places, should possess an air of refinement and sanitation which will the logical next step forward, behold! leave its impress upon everyone who enters them.

the sun parlor at one end. It contains three rooms and the sun porch on the first floor and four bedrooms and bath on the second floor.

The room arrangement is very similar to the colonial, as the entrance hall is in the center of the house with the living room on one side and the dining room and kitchen on the other. The living room extends the depth of the house, 22 feet, and is 11 feet 3 inches wide. It has an open fireplace in the center of the outside wall and at one side are double french doors opening into a sun porch which is 7 feet wide and 22 feet deep. To the left through a cased opening is the dining room, a front corner room, 11 feet 3 inches by 12 feet. At the back is a good sized kitchen and off it a breakfast nook.

Second Floor Plan.

The stairs to the second floor run out of the central entrance hall and end in a central hall on the second floor. Each of the bedrooms open off the hall and is a corner room. They all are of practically the same size. The bathroom is at the end of the hall at the front.

This is a very fine building design: It should have plenty of ground surrounding it as the lower portion of the home being of brick gives an air of size. Planted as shown in the illustration any owner may be proud of this home.

Use of Rust-Proof

Metals Saves Trouble Modern invention has played its loving people. Better homes have been made possible by the development of better materials.

Before rust-proof metals came into general use in construction, home owners constantly faced the annoyance of leaks from corrodible water pipes. flashings, gutters and rain pipes. Frequently such leaks caused serious damage to interiors and furnishings In recent years the expansion of the great fabricating mills of the cor per and brass industry has made possible to use these enduring metal. in home construction for but a little more than the cost of corrodible ma

When building or buying a home insist on copper flashings, roof decks, gutters and rain-pipes, brass pipe fittings and solid brass or bronze hardware, lighting fixtures; bronze screens, weather strips and sash chains. These metals cannot rust. Door knobs discolored by moisture deposited upon them by the hands and lighting fixtures that are tarnished and pitted with rust give rooms a shabby appearance that becomes steadily worse until the items are re-

Strong Flow of Water

Cleans Stucco House A stucco house requires vigorous cleaning. For stains, which sometimes are found below the windows, diluted sulphuric acid can be applied.

The stucco must first be scrubbed well and then rinsed thoroughly. To clean a stucco a strong flow of Asbestos Paper Shown water through a hose with the nozzle set to throw a small stream will be found effective. Begin at the top of the wall under the roof and work down. Naturally the closer you can get to the stucco surface the more satisfactory will be the result.

Home With Central Hall Proves Popular Now

Probably the plan most frequently utilized for the house of moderate size is the central hall type, with living room on one side, dining room on the other. To the visitor entering the front door, be he friend or foe, 90 per cent of the first story is spread open before his eyes. And if he but take he will be up the stairs and right into the sleeping quarters.

Beware of Bachelors Arline de Haas

make any answer. She had never heard her husband use that tone of voice to her. Before she could "Pretty and true," Davis continued. "But, as I. was saying—"

"Please dcn't bother. I'm not interested." May started to rise.
"You'll sit here and listen if I have to knock you unconscious."

Davis' mouth suddenly became a grim, determined line. May sat

"As I was saying, Joe introduced me to this woman, and I was sore because he'd brought her along. Then to add to everything,

Joe received a telephone message and said that he had to dash back to the office. Personally, I think his wife was on the warpath. But that's neither here nor there. I was left alone with that girl. I didn't know her, and I didn't care anything about her. I was trying to get away without appearing absolutely rude when you walked

"You saw me doing nothing of the kind," Davis retorted. "I sus-pect her of trying to have a mira flirtation, in which I was not in the slightest interested. And then when you walked in I was so upset I couldn't see straight. And when you wouldn't speak to me I was almost wild. Of course I resubterfuge, which you saw through truth. You believe me, don't you,

I suppose I was trying to divert

"Yes, you must have snatched at ed good naturedly, "but, you see,

I didn't pick her. And what I can't understand is how you could think picked her after I'd picked you.

You must admit I have good taste.

at least. And you know I never did like brunettes. In fact, I belong to the group of gentlemen who pro-

In spite of herself May had to smile. She didn't in the least feel felt that Ed was telling the truth, and after all—well, they had only been married for three months and she couldn't find it in her heart

"You know I don't love anyone else but you, darling," Davis continued. "Don't let's quarrel any tinued. "Don't let's quarrel any more." He puts his arm around ing."

draws BOILS to a natural head

50 package includes spature ula. bandage and tape

GROBLEWSKI & CO., Plymouth, Pa. founded

"Oh, Ed, don't—everybody's look-g." May blushed as she saw several of the waiting customers smiling over their magazines.

"I don't care if the whole world's looking if you'll only say you've forgotten all about this—this affair. If you don't, I'll—I'll kiss you acting just like a pair of newly-

"Oh, Ed, don't be silly.

like being angry any more.

He leaned towards her

May interposed.

"I saw you holding her hand," down.

SYNOPSIS "But I'm not going to allow an en-Dr. Pavis, recently married to tirely strange woman—who means may Davis, is having lunch with nothing in either of our lives—to Joe Babbitt and his friend, Myra cause us to quarrel."

Pfeffer, when Babbitt is called away. May happens into the same stranger to me, but I can't say she looked as though she was to you."
"Be quiet," Davis commanded.
"I'm talking." hotel an dis furious at seeing her husband with a girl. She drops her gloves and they are returned May looked up, too surprised to by Claude Beranger-de Brie, a perfumer, who presents his card. Davis, trying to explain the situa-tion, invites the first man he sees, bring herself to reply Davis was hurrying on. He had the advan-tage and he knew it. He hadn't de Brie, to lunch and leaves him with Myra. Then, in order to turn hurrying on. He had the advanthe tables, Davis accuses May of tage and he knew it. He hadn't having a flirtation with de Brie. gained anything by cajoleries, and More angry than ever, May tries to he had decided to try other tacelude Davis by going to her hair- tics.

"I made a luncheon engagement with Joe Babbitt several days ago," he was explaining. "I get so blamed sick of looking at women CHAPTER IV—Continued "May, darling, I'm terribly sorry," Davis began again, noting her in the office that it's a relief to get out and talk to a man once in a attempt to cover the smile. while. And I usually meet some-

"I beg your pardon!" She stared one at noon or else go to the club. at him coldly. "This gentleman's I was good and fed up this mornannoying me." She turned to the elevator boy—this time a beaming When I arrived at the Grill the

The boy looked from the man to the woman. Davis reached his duced her as a friend of his." hand into his pocket and drew interrupted, but there was little forth a dollar bill. He slipped it into the boy's hand.

"I happen to be this lady's hus"I happen to be this lady hus"I happen band. We're just having a nice, but she was not yet willing to adfriendly quarrel, that's all," he an-alized that she trusted Ed, and she nounced casually. knew that her threats to leave

A row of white teeth gleamed in the dusky face of the boy. He nodded as though he understood. him were empty ones, but she had been angry, and she thought she would teach him a lesson in time. "Tenth floor, please," May called as the car ran past the ninth.

"Let's kiss and make up."

"Tenth flo', lady," the boy announced. "An' luck's what Ah alized what you were thinking, and hopes you ain't got nothin' else, but, Mistah!" he called after the quick, and I resorted to that silly departing figure of Davis.

'You and me both," Davis re- immediately. I'm sorry about the torted, hurrying down the hall whole thing, but that's the honest after his wife. 'Good afternoon." May burst May?"

into the hairdressing salon and approached the appointment desk.

and tried to take her hand.

"Well, you didn't need to accuse "Oh, good afternoon, Mrs. Da-vis. You haven't an appointment, have you?" The girl behind the "I wasn't accusing you, darling. "What I swear I wasn't. It was stupid of me to say what I did, I'll admit, but desk scanned her book. did you want?"

"Could—do you think Peter could take me for a trim—right your mind from myself, and I snatched at any straw-She turned and saw the figure of her husband outlined in any straw if you picked out your luncheon companion." With her the doorway.

"Well, let me see." The girl returning spirits May was resorting to the "catty" feminine.
"I agree with you," Davis accedscanned her book once more, frowning. "He's terribly busy, but maybe he could work you in between customers. Just a min-ute. I'll ask him." She got up and disappeared into an inner 'May, you might just as well talk to me, because I'm not going to leave until you do." Davis stepped up beside his wife and laid an appealing hand on her arm.

"I've already told you I have nothing to say to you." 'Well, but I've got a lot to say

"I'm not interested." "Peter says if you'll wait a few minutes he'll take you, Mrs. Da-The girl returned to her 'Thank you." May walked over to a lounge and seated herself, picked up a magazine and began to read. For a moment Davis waited, contemplatively, thoughtfully Then he strode determinedly across

"Now look here, May, you're going to listen to me whether you want to or not," he began. "I'm going to tell you the truth, the right here and now," he threatened whole truth and nothing but the "Oh, Ed, don't be silly. We're quite an adapt liar by this time," she retorted.

"I'm nothing of the sort, and you know it," Davis returned hotly.

"Well, aren't we? Hurry up and tell me you'll forgive me—and I'll take you out and buy you the biggest bottle of perfume we can find."

(To be continued.)

INSTALLMENT SEVEN

Sweet Valley

MANY SOCIAL ACTIVITIES AT SWEET VALLEY— SCHOOLS CLOSE TUES.

The Mott school will close on Tuesday. If the weather permits a picnic will be held in Mr. Harris'

Ilene Jackson and Laura Foss, who are attending Wilkes-Barre Business College, spent the week-end with their

The entertainment given by a number of young people from Slocum, at the Church of Christ hall was well at-tended and enjoyed by all.

Mr. and Mrs. Francis Shaw and family, of Hunlock's Creek, called on the former's parents on Sunday. Rev. Waterstripe and family are spending the week at Richland, New York, visiting their son and daughter.

Mr. and Mrs. Torrence Naugle and daughter Merle, called on Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Hoover on Sunday.

Mr. D. E. Davenport and Mr. H. B. Hoover spent Monday in Avoca. Milo Birth, Robert Birth, Jr. and Leroy Rosencrance spent Sunday afternoon at Lehman.

Miss Freda Eckhart is quite ill Mrs. W. H. Thomas spent Sunday with her daughter, Mrs. Lena Foss.

A. M. Hontz and William Farver spent Saturday at Thornhurst.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the Christian Church met with Mrs.

Stanley Post on Wednesday.

The Willing Workers of the Church of Christ met at the church hall on of Christ met at the church hall on Thursday.

Philip Bredbenner, of Beaver Meadows was calling on friends on

Mr. and Mrs. Warren Boston are spending a few days fishing for trout in Pike County.

Mr. and Mrs. A. N. Williams and Mrs. Izora Williams, of Loyalville, spent a day recently at Sweet Valley.

Misses Iona and Nell Holcomb spent Saturday at Nanticoke.

Science Triumphant

In these days, anybody who scoffs at the putterings of the research worker thereby proclaims his own blind ignorance. - Woman's Home Com-

JONES, ABBOTT & MARTIN, (Incorporated)

makers of ARTISTIC MONUMENTS 56-58 N. Pennsylvania Avenue Phone 8716, Wilkes-Barre, Pa.

Dr. Scholl's Foot Expert

will be here WURSDAY, FRIDAY, and SATURDAY, MAY 9, 10, 11

To explain the newest scientific, most advanced methods of correction - how relief can be had at once

By special arrangement with Dr. Wm. M. Scholl, the world famous Foot Specialist, an Expert of his personal staff will be at our store on the above date.

He will demonstrate Dr. Scholl's newest scientific, most advanced methods of correcting foot troubles. He will make an analysis of your stockinged feet and show you the nature and extent of your foot trouble and how you can be immediately relieved of your distress. This valuable service costs your othing. Take advantage of it at once.

R. M. STAPLETON PUBLIX DRUG STORE Next to Luzerne Post-Office