VOLUME 7 INTER-HIGH SCHOOL NEWS OF GREATER-DALLAS NUMBER 25

Lake Township CALVIN J. McHOSE, Supt.

"WHO'S WHO" IN L. T. H. S.

Celestine Dorothy Kocher, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Kocher, was born December 6, 1911 at Ashley, Pa.

She attended school at the Wilkes-Barre city schools during her first term and later at Kingston.

Later she moved to Outlet and attended Outlet school until she completed the Eight grades.

She started her high school career at Lehman High School, but spent only her Freshman year at Lehman. Her Sophomore year she entered Lake Township high where she has brightened our way with her sunny countenance and cheerful disposition.

In her school work she has been an industrious and diligent student, always responsive to duty.

She has also displayed a helpfulness in school activities, and her melodious voice has reached the heart of many. She has been a great asset in the Thespian Society.

Selestine has been given the name of "Sally" among her friends, and in our hearts we will always remember the wonderfully attractive personality of "Sally" and will all miss her when it becomes necessary for us to part.

We have chosen "Sally" as our class treasurer, and she has been a very capable and trustworthy one.

"To those who know thee not,
No words can paint
And those who know thee
Know all words are faint."

MOTHER

Make your mother happy,
Make her sing instead of sigh
For the mournful hour of parting
May be very, very nigh.

Make your mother happy,
Many griefs she has to bear;
And she wears 'neath her burdens
Can you not those burdens share?

Make your mother happy
Prompt obedience cheers the heart;
While a wilful disobedience
Pierces like a poisoned dart.

Make your mother happy
On her brow the lines of care
Deepen daily, don't you see them?
While your own are smooth and fair.

Make your mother happy,
For beneath the coffin lid,
All too soon her face so saint like
Shall forevermore be hid.

Bitter tears and self-upbraiding
Can not bring her back again,
And remorseful memories
Are a legacy of pain.

Ah, begin today, all youthful people,
Listen when your mother speaks;
Tender, quick, and sweet obedience
For your highest good she seeks.

She loves you better than all others,
And for your sake herself denies;
Always patient, prayerful, tender
Ever thoughtful, true and wise.

Remember while you live, dear children,
And should you search the rounded earth,
You'll never find a friend more faithful
Than the one who gave you birth.

HIGH SCHOOL PAGE

This page is contributed to the interest of all the High Schools served by The Dallas Post. It has the approval and active support of A. P. Cope, county superintendent of schools and each of the five superintendents. It is conducted by these High Schools for three major purposes: to foster, sponsor and exchange High School and Inter-High School activities of the respective schools; to inform the public of this section about matters pertaining to the school life for which their taxes are paid; to develop the literary talents of the student editors of each class of the five schools.

How true this is after reading the last verse you stop and meditate on the question, "Can a mother's love be supplied?" No, dear folks it can not. Not by the deep earnest yearning of our spirits, not by the weary aching in our hearts, not by the restless, unsatisfied wanderings in our affections and not by the reverence and holy love can a mother's love be supplied.

In a mother there is an enduring tenderness in the love for her children that transcends all other affections. Her love is not chilled by selfishness or daunted by danger. A mother will sacrifice every comfort to her children's pleasures, and will surrender every pleasure to see them enjoy themselves. When a son or daughter meets fame she glorifies in it and exults in their prosperity. And if for some reason failure overtakes them to her they will be dearer and sweeter than ever and if disgrace blots out their name she, and she alone, will love and cherish them while the whole world scorns them.

But as a people the Americans appreciate far too little the love and sacrifices of a mother. We think too little of her love and tenderness and many think she is simply a servant in the home. But how many stop to think when she is gone? When the cares and the coldness of the world come withering to our hearts and we find how few love us. It is then, and not until then, that many yearn for mother, the mother that will be gone.

When she is laid quietly to rest, we will weep over her grave, the only spot left in the world that is dear and yet many dread it. It is there, over the grave of the darling one, where tears will be shed, vows be made and prayers offered. It will be there that all rude words and actions will pierce our hearts like a dagger and it will be there that we will realize how dear our mothers were, and we will pray to be taken in her loving arms again, but it will be too late, for that saintly being will never more be able to come to us again and with a pang in our hearts we will go wearily on our way, praying for the time when we will again see her and she will again take us in her arms.

Do for her today, make her happy. Give up some of your own pleasures for her enjoyment. Love and care for her as she does for us. Be considerate. Obey her out of love and of fear. Respect her and call her mother. Never she "old lady or old woman."

Be always loving and thoughtful.
For that was God's intention.

MILDRED KOCHER.

For That Tired Feeling

Backaches and footaches and headaches are responsible for most of the wrinkles and worry squints and tired faces among women. Backaches give that hard edge to the voice and make women feel forty-five when they are barely thirty. Many of the tired aches could be avoided if women would take a little less care of their houses and a little better care of themselves.—Farm and Fireside.

Lehman Township O. H. AURAND, Supt.

The events of commencement week are beginning to shape themselves into a definite array, and the school days are numbered. On May 31 the pupils will lay aside the "weights and cares" which so easily beset anyone connected with public schools, and take up the fishing rod—or the white man's burden, depending upon their station in school.

On Wednesday evening the Junior Class presented "Nancy Anna Browns Folks" to a large and appreciative audience. It was a pleasing play, diversified in its appeal, and well rendered by the performers. A goodly sum was realized and will be applied to next year's Washington tour. The Juniors are indebted to a number of local people for lending furniture to Benton Hadsall for a specialty number between acts, and to Elwood Terry for violin solos of exceptional merit. Katherine Stolarick and Nell Holcomb were stage managers.

Next Wednesday, May 22, the Junior high school, under the direction of Mr. Earl T. Farley, will present their annual entertainment. It gives promise of being very good. On Friday evening, May 24, the first six grades will occupy the stage. This attraction never fails to fill the auditorium and spectators are forced to come early to procure admission. A special number will be the playing of the juvenile "Kiddy Band."

The Baccalaureate sermon will be presented to graduates on Sunday evening, May 27 at 7:30 by Rev. Jas. Burleigh of the Lehman church. On Wednesday, May 29th the Senior Class night exercises will be held and commencement will take place on Friday, May 31. All events will begin promptly at 9:00 P. M.

County prizes in the W. C. T. U. were awarded to Alberta Wilcox of the Fourth grade, Jean Zimmerman of the Sixth grade, Madeline Searfoss of the Ninth and Tenth grades and Frances Zimmerman of the Eleventh and Twelfth grades.

The base ball team has won three out of four games to date, for an average of 150 per cent. Poor fielding marred the record in the one defeat.

Dallas Borough

HARRY DOHL, Supt.

On Friday afternoon Dallas Borough played a game of baseball with Laketon on Goss field, Dallas Borough lost to Laketon, the score being 3 to 21. Our plucky boys find it to be an uphill fight to compete with four year high schools.

To replace the usual commencement exercises the school will present two evening programs at the close of the term.

The school expects to be represented in the field day program at Kirby Park on May 22.

Difficult for Stout Sisters

A beauty expert says one should walk in such a way that one seems to float. Well, we saw one of the stoutest old girls in our neighborhood trying to do it and she looked like a barge making headway in a ground swell.—New Orleans States.

Kingston Township

Z. R. HOWELL, Supt.

Mr. McNeal, of the Educational Thrift Service visited the schools of Kingston Township on Monday. He was very well pleased with the school's record in banking during the past year.

Miss Robinson, Miss Smiley and Prof. Carle will accompany the Senior Class to Washington this year. They expect to leave on June 10.

The members of the Kingston Township School Board visited the schools on Tuesday.

The K. T. H. S. base ball team played a team from Kingston Borough H. S. at Kirby Park on Friday afternoon. The score was 24 to 5 in favor of Kingston Township. Prof. Taylor and the members of the team received the congratulations of the school upon their return.

Our high school team will play Laketon on Wednesday, of this week.

The Kingston Township Field Day will be held at Shavertown on Friday, of this week. An exhibition of school work will be on display in the Shavertown building. These are annual events and friends of patrons of the schools are invited to be present. The winners of the local events will represent the schools at Kirby Park on Wednesday, May 22nd in the Luzerne County Field Day events.

The exhibition of school work will be held on Friday, May 31st.

Many of the grade children are absent from school on account of illness.

Mrs. Genevieve Meixell, of Espy, a former teacher in the Shavertown school was a visitor in town on Monday. Miss Meixell has completed the four year course in Bloomsburg Teachers College.

ADVISES TREATMENT

FOR 200,162 PUPILS

It was announced today by Dr. J. Bruce McCreary, deputy secretary of fourth class districts in Pennsylvania were advised to receive treatment for defects during the medical school inspection recently completed. Of that number, nearly one-third have already received treatment and in districts which supply a school nurse this percentage is running as high as fifty.

First Use of Coal

The value of coal does not seem to have been known to the ancients, nor is it known at what time it began to be used for fuel. Some say that it was used by the ancient Britons; at all events, it was an article of household consumption, to some extent, during the Anglo-Saxon period as early as A. D. 852.
