

ALDERSON

The Epworth League added a little touch of—shall we say interest?—to its monthly business meeting last Tuesday night by enjoying a little banquet before more weightier business was placed before the meeting. The election of officers for the coming year gave the following results: President, Lillian York; first vice-president, Esther Garinger, second vice-president; Mrs. Howard Higgins, third vice-president; Ruth Jackson, fourth vice-president; Paul Avery and assistant Adda Garinger; secretary, Esther Honeywell; treasurer, Michael Kuchta; pianist, Genevieve York and assistant pianist, Mrs. Alfield Rogers. Many interesting things have been planned for the coming year and everyone will be invited to share them.

Those present at the meeting were: Mr. and Mrs. Loren Killer, Esther and Adda Garinger, Esther and Ruth Honeywell, Bethia and Hilda Allen, Mrs. Howard Higgins and Caroline Higgins, Mrs. Sterling Kitchen, Mary Kuchta, Mrs. L. T. Avery, Lillian and Laverne York, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Rodgers, Rev. Mr. York, Ruth Jackson, Paul Avery, Michael Kuchta, Peter Kuchta, Virginia and Harry Allen, Joseph Rauch, Ralph and James Harris, Ross Garinger and George Smith.

Mr. E. S. Eggleston had his share of excitement last Sunday when part of the workers in a hive refused to agree with judges in a queen bee beauty contest and accompanied their favorite in her search for a new home. Luckily she was easily satisfied and chose an apartment in a nearby brier patch. Mr. Eggleston hastily erected a new building with all modern improvements and Her Majesty moved in with all her courtiers.

The Ladies' Aid was entertained at the home of Mrs. D. P. Thomas Thursday afternoon, May 9.

The party given by the Men's Club last Wednesday night has been voted a huge success. The party consisted of eight tables, seating from ten to twelve each, which were decorated to represent certain months of the year. The January table, sponsored by Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Kitchen, boasted a bell with which to "ring out the old and ring in the new" and Old Father Time and his new son, were right on the job. The February table, of which Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Davis were host and hostess, displayed a complete Valentine's Day all in itself with hearts and valentines galore. The May table, presided over by Mr. and Mrs. Grover Anderson was resplendent with a maypole and fragrant apple blossoms. The June table, headed by Mr. and Mrs. D. P. Thomas celebrated a June wedding with the miniature bride and groom right in the center of the table. July was right on the job with the Rev. Mr. and Mrs. York at the ends and the Goddess of Liberty in center. October, sponsored by Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Harris celebrated its last evening with pumpkin moonshines and witches and cats and everything "skeery." November, planned by Mr. and Mrs. Loren Keller, had Thanksgiving with all the usual "fixin's". December produced a real Christmas tree right in the center of the table and Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Garinger played Santa Claus. The prize for the prettiest table was awarded to the June table which depicted the wedding. These brides and grooms always have to have a good send-off anyhow. We can well add that all the other tables deserve honorable mention. The guests were entertained by a program of songs, piano solos and recitations. Each of the tables furnished a stunt after the other entertainment was concluded. The prize for the best stunt was captured by the October table which presented an interpretation of the fairy story "Cinderella." The rubber boot, representing the glass slipper, undoubtedly had much to do with the decision. Before the evening was over everyone admitted that another such party would be just the thing.

John Rauch has secured employment with Contractor F. R. Jackson. As far as the new road os concerned "we ain't got nothin' to say." Contractor Coons and the weather man don't seem to get along very well and the concrete mixer is still idle because of the rainy weather.

Whale Not a Fish

A whale is a large aquatic mammal and not a fish. Though it lives in the sea and has the appearance of a fish, it is a warm-blooded animal, breathing air and not under water. Its skin is smooth and hairless, and it has a nostril opening far back in the head. The young ones are born alive and suckled like the young of other mammals. Whales may have been land animals at one time, but their adaption to life in the water must date from the far-distant ages.
