PENN STATE EXPERT CONDUCTS CLASSES AT IDETOWN CHURCH

Classes in Home Economics and Home-Making Attract Many; To Be Resumed in Fall

Miss Eureka Nitkowski is conducting a Junior Sewing Club in the church school room of the Idetown Church. The following girls are enrolled: Elinor Morgan, Mary Kishbaugh, Marian Baines, Marjorie Ide, Charlotte Parrish, Lillian and Katherine Casterline and Elinor Rinken.

The Junior Sewing Club is the fifth project in home economics held in Idetown by Miss Nitkowski. The four previous ones were for homemakers principally. Attendance numbered from twenty to twenty-five. The first class was "Food Selection and Preparation," it consisted of demonstrations in preparing and serving food and in lessons on food values.

Sewing club was the second course. It consisted in making a dress from a commercial pattern with helpful instruction in all the problems involved.

The third course, "Home Decoration," gave much valuable information in the arrangement of furniture and care and decoration of the home.

These classes covered a period of approximately eight weeks each with one lesson every week.

The fourth group took eleven consecutive days. During this time each woman made a plain muslin pattern, fitted especially to her and was taught to copy any style garment by varying the pattern. Each one designed and made a dress from her pattern and at the end of the period an interesting exhibit was held in which all of the twenty-two women wore the dresses they had made. No two of the styles were alike. The display was very attractive because the dresses were suited to the different types in line and color as well as in the correct fitting of the garments. Miss Nitkowski was assisted in this project by Miss MacDowell, an expert in dress design.

Miss Nitkowski is a graduate of Columbia University. She works in connection with the Home Economics Department of Pennsylvania State College. She has a charming personality and is a splendid teacher. The women look forward to meeting her in another group in the fall.

The service is sponsored by the Agricultural Association, is entirely free and deserves highest commendation. The benefit they have derived in easier and more efficient methods of home-making is deeply appreciated by the women of the Idetown group.

sonality and is a splendid teacher. The women look forward to meeting her in another group in the fall.

Athletic Field Now Possibility

William LaBar and Peyton Lee Close Three-Year Lease On Field Owned By W. E. Weis

Paving the way for a community athletic field for which there has been a long felt need, William LaBar and Peyton Lee this week closed a three-year lease on the big field on Matchell avenue owned by W. E. Weis and located back of the Lee estate.

The field will first be converted into a first class baseball diamond where games can be played on Sundays and Saturdays and will probably later be developed so that football games can be played there. The two young men have already started work on the ground clearing project and a number of local citizens have pledged their support and assistance. Others who wish to lend their support to the project should get in touch with either Mr. Lee or Mr. LaBar.

Since the baseball diamond on the Dallas township high school grounds has been closed to local teams there has been no nearby athletic field where community teams could hold their contests. The aggressiveness of these two young men in acquiring a lease on the Weis field should open the way for the establishment of a real athletic field in this community.
