FAREWELL, SHERLOCK HOLMES

Sherlock Holmes is dead. Sir Arthur Conan Doyle has again announced that he will never revive this world-famous character.

But not only is he dead in fiction—the Sherlock Holmes type of detective is now seen as doomed in fact.

Baffling mysteries are no longer to be solved by cleverness. They are to be unraveled by scientific experts relying upon standardization methods of precise identification.

Before the National Conference of Weights and Measures at Washington, William Studer of the Bureau of Standards, some weeks ago made predictions that may eventually take all the romance out of criminal hunting.

He showed how the most cunning criminal of the future will be discovered through super-microscopes that will tear his identity from a type-written document, a pistol ball, a cartridge shell or a signature.

The timing out and dried methods may take some of the thrill out of the accounts of the exploits of detectives on the trail. But they may eventually reduce crime to a minimum by making discovery virtually certain.

MARION TALLEY'S MODEL FARM HOUSE

Not only has Marion Talley, famed opera star who announced she was giving up her career to enter agricultural activities, actually bought farm, but she has decided to build a farm house to serve as a model for wives in the Kansas wheat belt.

Miss Talley's 360 acres near Colby, Kansas, are level, treeless, unbroken, with rich black dirt everywhere. It is ideal land for wheat.

In the immediate vicinity of her farm, Charles M. Talley, her father, met and wooed her mother, Mrs. Talley.

Soon Miss Talley will begin to build her house on the ground she has purchased, and it will be equipped with all modern conveniences, especially in the kitchen.

Miss Talley hopes she can prove to Kansas farmers that their wives might just as well have the comforts and labor-saving devices of their city sisters. She plans to visit among them, encouraging the comforts and conveniences of new housekeeping methods.

We wait to wish Miss Talley great personal success in the operation of her farm. And express our admiration for her spirit of helpfulness in desiring to make her house a model for others.

GOOD POLICY

Preaching is one thing; good business policy is another. Men find things to criticize in preaching; only a dumb-bell opposes the safe and sane business proposition.

If you study your newspaper as you should, then take note of the great number who are overtaken in crime, folly, and other wrong-doings. Set the number down in your memorandum-book each day for a month. The number will astonish you—and the sad total will be a shouting, thundering argument for right living.

There is absolutely no excuse for doing wrong—for it is the poorest business policy in the world; why? because it leads inevitably to disaster.

Take intoxicating drink, for instance. Over indulgence, or, for that matter, taking it under any circumstances save under advice of a good doctor for illness—is a very, very poor business policy. Why? Because its victims are legion.

If cheating, defrauding and falsifying were not wrong morally, it would remain one of the worst business policies. Such an operator may apparently succeed for a time, but will surely be exposed in time, and bring sorrow to the perpetrator.

The price of a clear conscience is beyond doubt is effort well expended. Compared with the dividends reaped, the clear science pays more than the best stocks on the market today. To maintain a spotless character and reputation at the forks of the road. It has always baid to turn to the right. There is policy in the world is—the Golden Rule.

Every man knows right from wrong by native intuition. Every man has no better business.

The square shooter is the happy man; the crook does not know the meaning of happiness, because always apprehensive; he is never sure of being safe; his restlessness becomes self-torture in course of time. The best business policy in the world is—the Golden rule.

Heard Around The Corner

County Political Appointments

With the action of Governor Fisher in approving the recommendation of certain county political leaders in the appointment of Wm. Henderson of Forty Fort as Clerk of the Courts and Atty. John Bonin of Hazleton as Prothonotary, it was at first thought that these two appointments would meet with universal approval.

The appointment of Dr. Henderson was the recognition of Senator Sordoni by State Leaders. Dr. Henderson is fully capable and qualified for the position and his appointment by the Governor, on Sordoni's recommendation, is in payment of a well deserved tribute to Dr. Henderson's ability. Also as Dr. Henderson is considered a resident of Plymouth, although lately moving to Forty Fort, Senator Sordoni paid for the fine vote he received from Plymouth at his election three years ago.

With the appointment of Atty. John Bonin, considerable resentment has been heard throughout the county, especially by the people of the greater West Side and throughout this section. Atty. Bonin was appointed to fill the vacancy created by Dr. Turpin's resignation.

As Dr. Turpin was a resident of the West Side it was felt that the local state leaders would listen to reason and appoint a West Sider to fill the vacancy.

Atty. Bonin is a resident of Hazleton and comes from one of the newer nationalities. At first thought his appointment was made to please the so-called foreign element, at this writing we do not know who was instrumental in his appointment but the papers from the valley credit the appointment to Judge Fine.

Ralph H. Rood For Council

We just heard around the corner that our fellow townsman, Ralph H. Rood will run for council. Ralph has been one of the most active citizens of Dallas for many years, prominent in church work, a former school director and is generally highly thought of.

We hear that Harry Garrahan and Ralph Elpper, present members of council will also file for the office.

With the announcement of some candidates for School Director and others for the office of council, we still are in the dark of any real active candidate for the position of chief magistrate. Burgess Anderson stated some time ago that he did not care to run, and we do not hear much of Harold of late. Let some one start the ball rolling.

Considerable surprise, and the most favorable comment was heard about town the last few days when it was heard that Dr. J. C. Fleming, our popular physician and specialist, consented to allow his friends to put his nomination papers for the office of School Director in circulation, yesterday.

Dr. Fleming has been prevailed upon by many citizens of the town to allow the use of his name for the office of School Director, the six year term, and only the past week has he given it any serious consideration. Although at the present time the general doctor feels that he should not aspire for the office, he is willing to leave the question in the hands of his friends and the people of Dallas borough.

A resident of Dallas for many years, its physician after the death of Dr. Laing, Dr. Fleming is one of the most well thought of residents in this section. Some few years ago Dr. Fleming gave up general practice and specializes in eye, ear, nose and throat treatment.

With the placing in nomination of Dr. Fleming, it is rumored that Director Morris and Director Space will both aspire for the two year term, and allow the field in the six year term to Dr. Fleming.

Office Dog

GLORIOUS FOURTH

I wish the crackers would sound as loud
As they did in the Fourths gone by.
I wish lemonade, stirred up in the shade
By a wrinkled old maid with a rusty old spade,
Would taste as good when I am dry.
I wish I could laugh as heartily now
As queer Calthumpian ways.
Though 'tis idle to wish, I'll just wish anyhow
For the joys of those long-vanished days.
I wish I could wait with impatience again
The dawn of a Fourth of July;

If You Never Saw Any Bulldogging, Just Stick Around

By Albert T. Reid

To get up and shoot the morning salute,
And make the horns toot, and drums beat to boot
As I did in the Fourths gone by.
And O, that the rockets would soar as high
As the rockets of yesteryear!
And O, that the chums of the days gone by
Could gather around me here!
But wishing is vain, and I must confess
That after all's said and done
I've a good excuse just to turn things loose,
To act like a goose and to raise the deuce,
From the rising till setting sun.
My kiddies have rights I cannot deny,
And wouldn't deny if I could.
So we'll celebrate the Fourth of July
As every American should.
—Will Maupin in St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

School Board Elects Bowman For Fall Term

Transacts Other Business and Hears Reports of Tax Collector Gordon and School Treasurer

Earl W. Bowman was reelected to teach another term in Dallas high school at the meeting of Dallas school board on Tuesday night in the new high school building.

Other business included the report filed by F. M. Gordon, tax collector, showing that $15,220.92 has been collected on the duplicate of $19,237.43. Mr. Gordon asked exonerations of $808.92; abatements, $44.92, and land returns $1,561.46. Small taxes on vacant lots account for the increase in the last item which is much larger than usual. A balance of $1,651.96 remains to be collected. A penalty of $92.59 was added.

The treasurer reported a balance on hand of $545.19. Orders were issued for the payment of $50 and $30 on notes and for the payment of $300 to the tax collector. The treasurer's report showed that 249 orders were paid by the board during the fiscal year.

GUIDEPOSTS TO Health and Happiness

By Bernard Macfadden

What Is Wrong With Physical Culture?
"There is something all wrong with the idea of physical culture," a man of fifty said to me one day. "Why should it make the young man healthy and strong and the older man uncomfortable and sick? If it's so fine, why isn't it universally beneficial? Take me, for example. Every time I eat something that is supposed to be good for me it upsets my digestion. Tennis and swimming are out of the question—my heart won't stand it, long walk exhausts me. Physical culture is a young man's game all right."

Many middle-aged people will agree with this man. They have experienced the same trouble. They feel "better" when going along in the same old rut and taking no unaccustomed exercise. Therefore "something is all wrong with physical culture."

Something IS all wrong—but not with physical culture. Ignorance and indifference are the real culprits. In the last fifteen years physical culture has taken tremendous strides, but the biggest stride of all is yet to be taken. That is the educating of people to the real meaning and purpose of physical culture.

In its truest sense it means to begin from the moment of birth to live as we were intended by nature to live. Eating bone and tissue building foods. Regular elimination. Sufficient rest and sleep. Wholesome play. A happy healthful frame of mind. And a worshipful reverence of the human form—the earthly temple of the soul during the span of life.

Too many people think that physical culture means strenuous and unpleasant exercises, and denying oneself things that the appetite craves. They point with pride to the high standard of athletics in our schools and colleges and call that physical culture. To prudes it is synonymous with immodesty and sex. But those fallacies are gradually being destroyed.

Athletics is not the definition of physical culture; it is merely a part of the whole. In schools and colleges too much attention is paid to training chiefly the bodies of those who are already in good physical condition by making available to them special apparatus that is not available in everyday life. The weaklings are shoved into the background and forgotten.

Physical culture is not a young man's game. It is not a game at all. It is the free and glorious privilege of every individual of any age. The cure-all for sickness of mind and body. The preventive of disease and unhappiness, when begun early.

It is only necessary guidepost to health and happiness on our Journey through life.
