Dallas Post Offers Book On Highways

Attractive Booklet Published By Department of Highways May Be Had By Calling Dallas Post

A supply of "Pennsylvania Highways," the beautiful new fifty-page booklet issued by the Pennsylvania Department of Highways, has been received by the Dallas Post and will be distributed free to all who call at the office or write for one.

This booklet is one of the most beautiful ever issued by the department of highways in any state. Beside containing a valuable two-page highway map and many articles on historical and industrial Pennsylvania, the booklet contains more than 150 pictures of spots of interest in the Keystone State.

Problems involved in highway construction are discussed by Samuel Eckels, chief engineer of the State Department of Highways. The introduction, Penn's Woods, is written by John S. Fisher, Governor of Pennsylvania. There are many articles on the Pennsylvania State Police and on Courtesy in Driving.

The booklet is beautifully printed on glossy paper and is a valuable addition to any Pennsylvanian's library. It should be invaluable to the motorist, a short detailed description is given of every primary and secondary route in Pennsylvania.

Rev. O'Leary Honor Guest of Kiwanis

Local Priest Recently Elected National Chaplain of Disabled American War Veterans

Mt. Greenwood Kiwanis celebrated O'Leary night Wednesday at its dinner meeting in Colonial Tea Room, in honor of Rev. J. J. O'Leary who was recently elected national chaplain of the Disabled American War Veterans.

Rev. Father O'Leary was elected to the high post at the national convention held last week in Detroit. Wilkes-Barre sought the 1930 convention but lost it to New Orleans by a margin of ten votes.

The rector of St. Therese's was also recently the guest of honor at a dinner given by the Disabled American War Veterans of Wyoming Valley at their headquarters at 20 Public Square, Wilkes-Barre.

WOMEN OF ROTARY ENTERTAINED AT WINOLA

Local Man Is Appointed A. C. A. State Manager

Ira D. Cooke Receives Recognition for Representative of Big Organization Work Done in Local Field As

The American Creditors Association of Cincinnati, Ohio, a national organization announces the appointment of Ira D. Cooke as their State Manager. Mr. Cooke became associated with the A. C. A. in April as their Special Representative for the Eastern Pennsylvania Territory and his work in this field has won for him the promotion to State Manager. He will remain in this territory until he has completed his organization which he has already underway and will then appoint a special representative to take charge of the work here.

The A. C. A. is an institution which aids members in establishing credit on a sound basis. "Retail credit is the backbone of business. Over sixty percent of the retail business is done on credit basis. If credit were destroyed the whole international structure of business would collapse over night."

Business and banking authorities are agreed, however, that the expansion of credit has been so rapid that its momentum has carried it past the danger line until it threatens to destroy the very foundation upon which it rests—Confidence.

Mr. Cooke states, that it is not the purpose of the American Creditors Association which he represents, to check or hamper the growth and expansion of credit business, but to make increased credit business practicable through providing the means of handling credit business upon a sound basis.

"We want not fewer, but more charge account customers," "But we also need a better understanding between dealer and customer, between creditor and debtor, a sense of mutual understanding and responsibility and fair dealing."

"These principles are, of course, universally recognized by all business authorities, but their application to business, in order to increase sales, keep prices down, and eliminate credit losses, is an ever-recurring problem."

"Advisory service along these lines is one of the functions of the American Creditors Association," said Mr. Cooke, "and all our representatives are under obligation to render all possible co-operation to local merchants. No charge is made for the advisory service, which is given solely in the interest of better business."

The American Creditors Association maintains representation in all principal cities in the United States and Canada and is serving over 100,000 merchants and professional men. As Pennsylvania manager, Mr. Cooke will have direct supervision of 14,000 accounts and will be glad to make an appointment with anyone interested and go over the service which he represents.

Mrs. Earl Monk and Mrs. Russell Case and their children were luncheon guests of Mrs. L. A. McHenry on Friday.

The W. C. T. U. will meet in the Lehman M. E. Church, Tuesday, July 16, at 2 p. m.

Former Dallas Resident Sends Letter To Post

Rev. H. G. C. Hallock, Now in China, Tells of Political Turmoil There In Interesting Letter From Shanghai

The following interesting letter was sent by the Post from Rev. G. H. C. Hallock, a former resident of Dallas, now located in Shanghai, China:

Dear Editor—Wars in China suggest sending you "Wu-ti," the Chinese god of war. He is seated. Behind is his armor-bearer. The general idea about Wu-ti is that he delights in war. That is not the Chinese idea of him. Once a man nine feet high, he did great exploits in war, yet he is best known for his loyalty to his friends and for protecting the weak. Officials and scholars worship him as the ideal of loyalty, soldiers do it to make them brave and protect them in battle, and the people worship him to protect them from war's horrors. He is called "Peace Bringer, Protector, Great God of Loyalty." But he makes not peace, nor protects nor makes loyal, so is a failure. He's also called "Warrior Prince." As to that name he's a great success! In spite of the claims of Nanking that China is united, wars break out constantly, the Chinese warlords fighting each other—not fighting for freedom, but for money—to squeeze money from rich and poor alike. The most fighting is where the loot is richest. Reports make this war mess a real Chinese puzzle; but keep it in mind it's just a big scramble for money and power—then there's no puzzle about it except the puzzle as to how men can be so cruel as to bring such havoc and pain for money. But they know not Christ. We must stay and preach—not run.

Recently I have received letters from America suggesting that since "China has altogether gone to the bad and the Chinese are absolutely impossible" and since our "work among them has gone for nothing" then I should "quit and come home." I hope you don't think thus. The masses of Chinese though reminding one of "dumb-driven cattle" are still friendly as ever. The warlords, the Nationalists, the Reds, the bandits, wars and evil propaganda are disturbing elements; but they are NOT China nor the Chinese. Terrible they are; but they do not represent the Chinese and their attitude toward us. Most of our Christians have kept loyal and have stood by us in time of real danger. This is true not only of Christians, but of many heathen too who have helped and protected us at much risk to themselves. The trouble in China has come from a fiercely aggressive and "noisy minority," who make the great mass suffer untold hardships. The Chinese are not "impossible" and what Christianity has done for China during all these years has not "gone for nothing" but is planted deep in myriads of hearts of men, women and children. Shall we desert the Chinese because a comparatively few are wicked? A thousand times NO!

Not only for Christianity's sake but for humanity's sake the Chinese common people's need calls us today. The wars and bandits have made sad havoc in many places and the famines, caused in some places by too little rain and others by too much rain, have brought millions to starvation. The Chinese "government" has made a wonderfully great show of helping on paper but has done comparatively nothing to save the starving. The Chinese Red Cross and Famine Relief people are working hard but their efforts and their funds are hopelessly inadequate for the task. And for some reason very little help has come from organizations abroad so the famine-stricken people are indeed in an exceedingly bad way. I have never known a time when the lot of the common people was as hopeless as it is today. Oh, that I were a multi-millionaire and were a thousand young men so that I could throw myself into the breach and help save at least the mothers and children who are dying like flies in many places in China. I am not in a place ravaged by famine but should any readers of your excellent paper desire to help save life they can send gifts to me by draft, personal check, postoffice money order or by U. S. notes in registered letter and I shall do my best to see that they go to the most needy places in the famine districts, and so their gifts will go to feed the hungry and relieve suffering. With best wishes and kindest regards,

Yours in Christ's Glad Service,
REV. H. G. C. HALLOCK.

EARL MONK ENLARGING HIS HARDWARE STORE

Earl Monk is enlarging his store at Shavertown. He is remodeling the store room formerly occupied by Thomas Higgins' confectionary store. Mr. Monk has rented the front portion of the store room to Joseph Anthony of Wilkes-Barre for a shoe repair shop. The rear portion of that store room will be connected with his present store room giving him larger facilities for expanding his rapidly growing retail hardware business.

New Money Is Just As Hard To Get As Old

Much Simpler, Smaller and Harder to Counterfeit, New Bills Are Now In Circulation

The new United States currency was put in circulation Wednesday by local banks.

It has been a gigantic task to prepare an entirely new form of paper money for the 118,000,000 citizens of the United States. The Treasury Department has realized the need of a simplified, well-planned scheme by which the various issues, such as silver certificates, gold certificates, Federal Reserve notes, national bank notes, etc., might be made in a uniform design for each of the eleven denominations of bills from $1 to $10,000. Therefore, as a part of the general federal policy of greater economy and increased efficiency, a decrease in size and a uniformity of design of the paper money of the United States has been adopted.

More Convenient For many years there has been a public demand for a more convenient size than the old bills, which have been in use since 1861. The new bills are only about two-thirds the size of the old, are more economical to manufacture and are approximately the size of the paper currency that has already been used in the Philippine Islands for a number of years and which has been found by money handlers, such as bank tellers, paymasters and others, to be more convenient in every respect than the larger size. The small notes will generally fit into pocketbooks without being rolled which was not the case with the old bills—this frequent folding and creasing eventually breaks the fibre of the paper and hastens its deterioration and retirement from circulation.

Design The design of every one of these bills is radically different from the old ones except the $1 bill, which is similar.

The central idea of the new designs is the representation of each denomination by the portrait of one famous American, instead of the hodge-podge that has existed and made it so easy for the counterfeiter and "money-raiser" in the past. The public is expected to learn that the portrait of Washington on the front of the bill denotes a $1 bill, a portrait of Jefferson a $2 bill, etc., and that the picture of a building on the back of a note is evidence of denominations only as high as $100.

A scheme of ornate designs for the backs of the higher denominations has been adopted to make it easier to detect bills "raised" from denominations below $100 to higher amounts. Thus this new simplification of design makes "bill-raising" and counterfeiting more difficult as the public will learn to know the denominations by the pictures on them as well as by the figures in the corner. The crook who changes a bill from a lower denomination to a higher one by altering the figures will then have more difficulty in plying his dishonest trade.

The following portraits and designs have been adopted for the faces and backs of the eleven denominations:

- Portrait On Front of Bill: $1 George Washington, $2 Thomas Jefferson, $5 Abraham Lincoln, $10 Alexander Hamilton, $20 Andrew Jackson, $50 Ulysses S. Grant, $100 Benjamin Franklin, $500 William McKinley, $1000 Grover Cleveland, $5000 James Madison, $10000 Simon P. Chase.

- Design On Back of Bill: Ornate ONE, Ornate FIVE, Ornate TEN, Ornate FIVE HUNDRED, Ornate ONE THOUSAND, Ornate FIVE THOUSAND, Ornate TEN THOUSAND.

The backs of the new currency will be printed uniformly in green; the faces will be printed in black, and the Treasury seals and the serial numbers will be printed in the following colors: Silver certificates, blue. United States notes, red. Gold certificates, yellow. Federal reserve notes, green. National bank notes, brown.

Razing "Old Main" At State College Work of razing and reconstructing Old Main, the first college building erected on the campus of the Pennsylvania State College over 70 years ago, was started this week by the Henry Baton Construction Company, of Philadelphia. The new structure, which according to the contract, is to be completed by August 1, 1930, will be erected at a cost of approximately $750,000. It will be constructed along the same general plans as the old building and will be used for student activities and administrative offices. The building will have an 150-foot clock tower which will house a complete set of chimes as well as the old bell and the original clock left as a memorial by the class of 1904.

DALLAS TO GET JUNIOR-SENIOR HIGH SCHOOL

The following letter, which is self-explanatory, was received this week by A. P. Cope, county superintendent of schools, and forwarded to the Dallas Board of Education: July 15, 1929.

Dear Mr. Cope: This is to advise you that the Pennsylvania Department of Education will approve the addition of grades eleven and twelve to the program of studies of Dallas borough high school, grade eleven to be installed for 1929-30 and grade twelve for 1930-31. It is understood that the Dallas borough school will be reorganized as a six-year junior-senior high school and that all requirements for classification on the junior-senior high school basis will be complied with.

This action approves the application for permission to extend the program of studies of the school previously filed with the department.

Sincerely yours,
WILLIAM H. BRISTOW
Assistant Director Secondary Division.

Harvey's Lake Alderson Road Now Completed

New Road Eliminates Most of the Curves of Old Route and is Much Easier to Travel

Completion of two Luzerne county projects and inauguration of paving operations on a third, during July, is announced by Chief Engineer Eckels of Harrisburg. Division Engineer S. P. Longstreet, Scranton, has reported four miles of new surfacing open to traffic during the week, on two routes, the Harvey's Lake road on the east side to Alderson and Route 115, Luzerne and Courtdate boroughs.

Completion of the Harvey's Lake roadway, Route 515, will be appreciated by summer tourists who gather in thousands at the popular resort. Bituminous surface was placed on 1.71 miles at this point.

The Route 115 improvement extends over 2.32 miles between Luzerne and Dallas. This route links with the Harvey's Lake region and is built 40 feet wide, of concrete. Kersteen Construction Company now has more than half of the paved side of this road completed.

The cost of the two projects was shared by the county and the state. The smaller contract was awarded October 11 to B. G. Coon Construction Company, Luzerne, for $79,891.74. The other was handled by H. C. Kersteen Company, Kingston, for $130,620.09, awarded April, 1928.

Concrete surfacing will be under way this month on a nine-mile project on U. S. Route 309, between Wilkes-Barre and Hazleton. A relocation saving 1.09 miles in travel distance between the two points is an important advantage of this improvement.

NEW OFFICERS HAVE CHARGE OF ROTARY MEETING

New officers were in charge Thursday night at the dinner meeting of Dallas Rotary Club held in Higgins' College Inn. James Besecker, as incoming president, capably conducted the meeting and outlined plans of the club for the coming year.

A number of the members, among them Thomas Higgins, Henry Sippel, Dr. G. K. Swartz, Herman VanCampen and Ziba Howell spoke on the recent executive conference held at Irem Temple Country Club.

Calvin McHose read the biography of L. A. McHenry. Captain C. N. Booth, head of the Lehigh Valley police force, and who recently moved to Dallas, was the guest of George Metz at the meeting.

Plans were made by the club to join the Women of Rotary Thursday, July 25, when they visit the Girl Scout camp at White's Ferry, along the Susquehanna river.

League Race Tightens As Wyoming Leads

Clubs Enter Fourteenth Game of Series With Wyoming In First Place and Dallas In Second

A few changes have taken place in the league race in the past few games. After coming out of a long batting slump the Dallas club has apparently hit its stride to gain a two-game lead for second place over its Beaumont rivals, who have been on its heels throughout the race. While Dallas was winning over Beaumont, East Dallas took advantage of the tall-end Roaring Brook club by driving home a 15 to 1 victory and landing into a third place tie with Beaumont.

The Hunlocks Creek boys came within an ace of sharing third place honors when they lost one of the hottest fought games of the season to West Wyoming by a 2 to 1 score, giving the city boys a three-game lead on the top position.

While West Wyoming has a good ball club it does not mean that they have the pennant by clinging to first place. At the end of the twenty-game schedule there will be an elimination series to play off. This means that the club in first position will play a three-game series with the club in third position and second and fourth place clubs likewise. The winners in this series will play each other for the league pennant. As all clubs have been strengthened to keep in the league chase, the fans can be assured of some fast games throughout the balance of the season.

Independents Try Cardinals Here Tomorrow

Local Team Playing Good Baseball—Adds New Faces to Line-up to Better Weak Spots

Dallas Independents will play the fast Wilkes-Barre Cardinals team on Sunday at 3 on the new Dallas athletic field. Anyone knowing the calibre of the Cardinals will know that a good game is assured.

This team has been defeated but once this year and has a record for playing smooth baseball. Last Sunday the Cardinals easily defeated the Lockhart A. C.

The Independents have signed several new players to bolster up the weak spots in the team which were brought out last Sunday when the Plains All-Stars defeated the local team by a close score of 3-2.

The game was a hard fought battle and resolved itself into a pitchers' duel. The score was tied twice during the game and it looked as though the game might go into extra innings when an error by a Dallas player gave the Plains team the advantage of one run which could not be overcome in the last frame by the Independents.
