

Many Attend Funeral of M. L. Yaple

Pioneer Resident Buried From Late Home Tuesday Afternoon With Interment in Woodlawn

The funeral of M. L. Yaple, aged 72, who died early Sunday morning after a long illness of complications, was held Tuesday afternoon at 3 from the late home in Dallas. The services were in charge of Rev. W. E. Webster of the Methodist church and included the singing of two of Mr. Yaple's favorite hymns, My Jesus I Love Thee and Crossing the Bar.

The great profusion of floral offerings from friends and neighbors and the large number who attended the services bespeak the high esteem in which Mr. Yaple was held by the community in which he had made his home for the greater part of his lifetime.

Born in New Columbus, September 20, 1857, he had with the exception of a few years spent in Kentucky and Dorranceton, spent his entire life in this community. For many years he conducted a blacksmith shop here and was a business man and citizen of the highest integrity. He was a member of the Methodist church and always took a keen interest in civic and community affairs. He was always interested in the development and betterment of Dallas township and in civic affairs in general.

Beside his wife he leaves three daughters: Mrs. James Oliver and Mrs. A. P. Keifer of Dallas and Mrs. E. A. Itrich of Pasadena, California, and one son, John of Dallas. He also leaves two sisters, Mrs. J. B. Quick of Union, N. J., and Mrs. Hulda Bowman of New Columbus.

Funeral services were held at 2 p. m. at the home of Mrs. J. B. Quick, with the Rev. W. E. Webster officiating. Burial was in Woodlawn cemetery.

Kunkle Folk Pay Off Debt On Social Hall

Will Celebrate Final Payment Saturday Night With Free Dance and Program.

Having made the final payment on their Community hall, Kunkle folk will celebrate this Saturday night with a big free dance to which the entire community and countryside have been invited. The following Saturday night there will be another dance, the entire proceeds of which will be donated to the Henry M. Laing Fire Company.

The Kunkle Community hall was formerly the school building used by that section of Dallas township. When the new township school was built there was no longer any use for the building for educational purposes and it was sold by the school district to John Isaacs for $1,200. Mr. Isaacs purchased it so that Kunkle folk could have a community center and carried the financing of the project until last week when the Community Hall Association made the final payment to him on the building.

It is planned to renovate the building and grounds as soon as possible. Shrubs and trees will be planted about the grounds and an athletic field will be developed. The building already has a small kitchen but this will be enlarged and there will be many changes on the interior of the hall.

Charles Martin is president of the Community Hall Association. Music for the dance this Saturday night will be furnished by Joe Gobel's orchestra of Centremoreland.

HERE'S REAL OPPORTUNITY FOR WOMEN OF DALLAS

$1,250 Offered For Best Jar of Canned Food in National Canning Contest. Two Hundred and Twenty-two Other Cash Prizes

Just how good at canning are Dallas women and girls?

This question suggested itself today from an announcement in Chicago of a national canning contest to find the best jar of canned fruit, vegetables or meat in the country. Twelve hundred and fifty dollars ($1,250 in cold cash) awaits the woman or girl in the United States whose entry is selected as the best jar of canned food entered in the contest.

The contest, which is sponsored by a Chicago agricultural foundation, seeks to acquaint more housewives with the economy and healthfulness of home canned foods. For years the U. S. Department of Agriculture and home demonstration agents throughout the country have worked for increased production of native canned foods. It is to further this excellent idea and at the same time to help absorb the threatened surplus of farm products in many sections, that this canning project was conceived.

Two hundred and twenty-two cash prizes, totalling $5,825, will be disbursed to the winners in the contest, which has three major divisions: fruit, vegetables and meat. The best entry in each division will be awarded $250, and one of these will also receive the thousand dollar sweepstakes prize, thus bringing the total cash prize for the best jar of canned food in the contest to $1,250. Second prize in each of the three divisions will be $200, third prize $100, and fourth prize $50. There will also be five prizes of $25 each, ten prizes of $20 each and fifty prizes of $5 each. In addition, a thousand dollars in cash will be awarded to the home demonstration agent whose county sends in the greatest number of entries, $500 to the agent whose county has the next largest number, and $100 to the agent whose county sends in the third largest number of entries. A number of lesser merchandise prizes are also offered.

Contest Closes October 15. According to the rules, the contest is open to every woman and girl in the United States. There are no restrictions as to the nature of the food sent; any fruit, vegetable or meat, whether home grown or purchased, is acceptable. Contestants may enter one, two or all three divisions. Entries, regardless of when canned, must not be sent prior to August 15 nor later than October 1, which is the closing date of the contest. No entries will be returned, but instead these will be sent, with the name and address of the contestant to an orphanage, hospital, infirmary or other charitable institution to be selected by the foundation.

Specimens of canned fruits and vegetables in the contest will be judged on the basis of clearness, color, pack, neatness, flavor and texture. Meat specimens will be judged in their relation to pack, neatness, texture and flavor. There will be three judges, to be selected by the foundation from a list of outstanding authorities on home economics, domestic science and canned food. Their decision will be made known just as soon as possible after October 1.

Gives Hints On Canning. "Any method of canning may be used for this contest," announces Annie Williams, director of the contest. "The use of a steam pressure cooker, however, is highly recommended by canning experts and by the U. S. Department of Agriculture, especially in canning meats. Not only does this method of canning save time and fuel and assure absolutely, sterility and preservation, but food canned under pressure retains all its natural flavor and texture, which are vital points in any canning contest."

That the judging may be thoroughly impartial and the display of canned samples absolutely uniform, contestants are required to submit their entries in standard glass jars of the quart size. All contestants will be furnished with one Ball mason jar and carton for sending in a canned article, but those making entries in more than one division are expected to supply their own jars and shipping cartons. The sample jar and prize entry labels for use in submitting entries may be secured without cost by communicating with the headquarters of the National Canning Contest, 925 S. Homan avenue, Chicago, Illinois.

Nine persons entered bids for the job of school janitor at the meeting of the Dallas borough school board on Tuesday night. The contract for the work was awarded to Olie Harvey, who was the second lowest bidder. William King was low bidder but because he lives some distance from the school it was decided to award the contract to Mr. Harvey.

The bids were as follows: William King, $65 per month; Olie Harvey, $99.99; J. D. and J. W. Gaylord, $115; W. T. Sutton, William Elston and Russell Evans, $120; Wilson Garinger, $124, and James Stem, $140.

The date for the opening of the fall term of school was set as September 3, the day after Labor Day. The monthly tuition for students outside of the borough was set at $10.

It was announced at the meeting that $3,244.25 in State appropriations had been received by the board. The secretary was advised to advertise for bids on the hauling of fifty tons of coal.

A letter from the American Heating and Ventilating Company, read before the board, showed that the inspection of the old building by a company representative revealed the heating system to be in good shape.

Directors present were Morris, Culbert, Machell and Space.

BIG, BLACK BEAR VISITS SHAVERTOWN

Maybe a bear doesn't look like a cow, but you can't tell that to Bobby Isaacs, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. T. Isaacs, and get away with it. On Monday night just about sundown, Bobby was playing in the field opposite his home in Shavertown when he saw a queer looking black cow in a pasture nearby. Rather concerned about the queer actions of the "cow," Bobby hurried across the road and into the house to ask his father to come out and tell him what kind of a cow it was, saying that he'd never seen one just like it before.

Upon investigation it was found that the "cow" was a good sized black bear about two years old. The bear seemed unconcerned about spectators and gamely stood his ground while Mr. Isaacs summoned his neighbors to come and see the unusual sight.

The bear appeared very thin and had evidently wandered out of the woods where berries are scarce to seek food in the vicinity of houses. The heavy smell of honey in the air led some of the spectators to suggest that perhaps the bear had scented a bee tree in the neighborhood and was out to find the honey.

Local Boy Makes Good In Aviation

Fat Crosby Of Noxen Gets Pilots License At Patco Field, Norristown

The following clipping from a Norristown, Pa., paper is of interest locally and of especial interest to residents of Noxen. Fasset Crosby is the son of Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Crosby of Noxen and has been in Norristown since he was graduated from the University of Pennsylvania a year ago last June:

"Out at Patco Field on Ridge Pike, below Norristown, is one young pilot who is slowly but surely making his way in commercial flying. He is W. Fasset Crosby, who during the past week passed his examination for a private pilot's license.

"Crosby became interested in aviation while a student at the University of Pennsylvania, when an aviation club was organized there in 1927. Upon being graduated from the university last year Crosby determined to follow commercial aviation as a vocation.

He got himself a job with J. Wesley Smith, operator of Patco Field, working around the airplanes. In the meantime he was in the air every chance he got, at the same time picking up information on flying from the commercial pilots and instructors attached to the field. To date Crosby has acquired about thirty solo hours in the air and he is perfecting himself toward winning a transport license.

Crosby chose this method of learning about aviation, for he wanted to be competent on motors and other phases of operation and, according to his boss, he is learning the job thoroughly.
