GIRL SCOUT SENDS LETTER FROM CAMP.

Visitors to Camp Onawandah see a group of happy, healthy girls enjoying duties and pleasures, playing while they work and grow and getting a general and enjoyable education. Many of these visitors never had an opportunity for camp life when they themselves were children and so never get quite the thrill the girl does today when she enters the camp for her one or two weeks' stay.

So it is a privilege to print and read the following letter from a little Trucksville girl to her mother. She not only gives a description of Camp Onawandah but expresses the viewpoint of any girl who is lucky enough to live where a girl scout camp is maintained:

Camp Onawandah, Tunkhannock, Pa. August 2, 1929.

Dear Mother:

We arrived today about 10 o'clock. The first thing we saw as we came over the top of the little hill was the flag waving in the breeze, and you can't imagine the thrill it gave us.

The camp is divided into five units. The youngest girls, from 10 to 12, are in screened bunk houses. The bunk is divided into three parts. Two councilors sleep in the center room and on each side are twelve beds. This is known as Wa-Bay. On a hill are open Adirondack bunks, where girls from 12 to 14 sleep. This is known as Kearsage. In Mirimichi there are six tents. Four are for girls and two for councilors. Each tent has six or eight girls in it. We are in tent eight. Walohipi is also composed of tents.

Ledell is the pioneering unit. The girls cook two meals a day on a campfire. They went on a three-day hike recently.

The river is very low now but the water is fine. About fifty feet out is a raft with a diving board. The test of our swimming ability is the use of various strokes in swimming out to the raft. There are a lot of girls here who belong to the Red Cross Junior Life Saving Corps. I don't think you could drown here if you wanted to.

We have daylight saving and we like it too. By our time we get up at 6:45 and have stretchers. Before breakfast comes colors and after breakfast we do our "Kamp Kapers." Each patrol has some duty, either dishes, vegetables, sanitation or waitresses. It is more fun than working at home. We have time to straighten our bunks or tents, and then assembly. Classes start immediately after the assembly and we can take up Nature Lore, pioneering, first aid, or scouting. I am taking first class signaling.

Swimming is after classes. We wear a certain color cap, according to whether we swim or not, and how far advanced we are. There are two showers in the wash house, so we always take a shower when we come out. Next is dinner and we have real appetites. Mail is given out after dinner and it is an important time. If we don't get a letter from home we feel blue, so please write every day. Rest hour is a welcome hour, because swimming comes after it. Hobby hour is next. We make clever things to take home. After colors is supper, followed by canteen, where we buy Scout supplies, stationery, stamps and candy. We can spend five cents a day for candy.

In the evening we have parties or campfire. Mirimichi gave an "Old English Tea Party" with lemonade. We dramatized old English songs. I was the man in "Strawberry Fair."

Tuesday is hiking day. Each unit decides where it wants to go and takes its supper along. If we get back before 8 o'clock we can go in the river for a few minutes.

Taps sounds at 9:15. I'm having a dandy time. There are so many people here who know people that I know, so I don't feel lonesome one minute. Don't forget that visiting hours are on Sunday from 1:30 to 6 and I'll expect your car to be the first one in. Please write. Lovingly,

JUNE.
