INTER-HIGH SCHOOL NEWS OF GREATER DALLAS

VOL. 2 No. 1

"They Meet the Joys of School Life."

September the ninth turned many smiling faces back to the class rooms of Laketon High school. Rumors were that the students dreaded returning to their duties, but they certainly did not appear to be in any such a predicament.

But then, why should they be sad when they have so many new experiences to deal with?

For instance, the new trucks which glide over the highway like a toboggan slides over the snow, and there's the new teacher, Mr. Simmons, as full of smiles as a spring morning.

It certainly does make an ex-graduate feel blue.

I, as a visitor, had nothing to do but stop and look on.

It certainly did amaze me as I saw to what extent of vigor the students grasped their text books and how eager they cast their eyes upon the words of the author.

How strange it seemed, for my eyes fell not upon one member of that honored class of 1929.

No, for all have stood true to their motto and struggled "onward" for something higher and better in this ambitious world.

In the years to come I am sure that famous men and women shall develop from the class of 1929.

Perhaps the road appears rough and rugged at first, but then clears into a smooth pavement as it is daily trod.

So may the class of '29 be patient in waiting for their future to brighten into misty rainbow, encircled with showers of blessing.

CELESTINE KOCHER, Editor in Chief of the Class of 1929.

Harry Smith, Mrs. Patrick Moran and sons, Paul and Jean of Kingston, Mr. and Mrs. George Hart and sons, Gerald and Leo, of Luzerne.

Mrs. Nelson Shaver attended the card party held at the home of Mrs. Peter Oberst for the benefit of St. Therese's parish on Thursday of last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Davis of Elizabeth, N. J., enjoyed last week-end with Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Albert. Mr. Howard is Mrs. Albert's brother.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Shoemaker and children of Forty Fort visited Mrs. Shoemaker's brother, Clyde LaBar, on Saturday and Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Strunk of Kingston, accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Dungey and son Jack on a motor trip to New York City last week-end.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Morrell of Lanzhorn, Pa., and Mr. and Mrs. A. Shantz of Harrisburg left Saturday after a brief visit with Mr. and Mrs. C. N. Booth.

Mrs. Henry Randall's son Charles and wife of Loyallville, her grandson, Walter Beck and two grandsons, Ralph and Wesley Beck of Wilkes-Barre spent Saturday at Mrs. Randall's home.

Miss Addie Elston was quite ill the first part of this week.

Little Isabel Hunt spent a part of the week with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Parrish.

Jane Case is spending the week with Peggy McHenry.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter Yorde of Hazleton and Miss Mellan of Wilkes-Barre spent Sunday with Mrs. George Norton.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Shiber returned last week from a motor trip through Maryland and points of interest in southern Pennsylvania. They spent some time in Harrisburg and Gettysburg.

The annual conference of the Dallas District Young People's Council will meet in Dallas on October 19. Watch for further announcement of the program.

Miss Elizabeth Culbert, Walter Rau and Leonard Machel are attending Coughlin high school this year.

Mrs. Claude Isaacs, who submitted to a tonsil operation in Wilkes-Barre General Hospital last Thursday, is improving quite satisfactorily now. In spite of a rather slow recovery she was removed from the hospital on Sunday following the operation because of the excessive heat in the city. Quiet and good care are now working a rapid cure.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Shiber of New Haven, Conn., are spending some time at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Shiber.

The tenth annual family reunion of Hiram and Mary K. Vanderburg-Wilson descendants was held at Sandy Beach, Harvey's Lake, Monday, September 2, 1929. About ninety-five persons were in attendance.

BACK AGAIN

Passers by the Lake township High school building Monday morning might have seen four beautiful new busses enter the school yard and deposit in all about 350 smiling and happy school children, for September 9 marked the opening of the fifth term of school in our new high school building.

Old friends greeted new, as each returned to acquire another year of schooling. Although school has been in session but these everything and everyone is settled to the new routine, and everything is running as smoothly as though we had been in school a month.

Everyone is happy. From the tiny first graders to the dignified, stern seniors and to even the sometimes stern teachers come smiles which give one a glad-you-are-here feeling.

Again the familiar halls echo and re-echo with the sound of new and old footsteps and merry laughter.

From the primary room comes the sound of Miss Davis' careful introduction of the A, B, C's amid some noise. The fourth, fifth and sixth grades are all trim boys with neat hair combs, and girls with stiffly starched dresses, under the supervision of Miss Hausch, amid no noise. The seventh and eighth grades are very busy getting acquainted with their new teacher, Miss Edwards.

In the high school we find quite a different aspect. Sophomores and Juniors, recalling the first several days under the name of Freshman, are striving to make the new class of that name feel entirely at ease in their new environment, while the Seniors are dividing their time trying to become accustomed to being by themselves in the class room and also to becoming acquainted with the new professor, Mr. Simon. We know from experience that it will not take long for the Freshmen to become acquainted. We were Freshmen once, ourselves.

The smiles on the faces of the pupils indicate that we are glad to be back. While the smiles of the teachers indicate that they are glad to have us back.

Only the Seniors are a bit down-hearted. We realize that this is our last year at Laketon and are not so happy about leaving old friends and teachers. But our departure is nine months away, and, raving learned that "To meet, to know, to love to part, is only the fate of a scholar's heart."

We are going to try to make this the happiest, brightest, most studious and successful year that Laketon has ever had. In scholarship, in discipline, morally, physically, spiritually and mentally, and most of all, athletically!

ADDA GARINGER, Senior Reporter.

Farm Raised Boys

of agricultural graduates of the past few years, find that many boys raised on the farm are making a success in the allied agricultural interests. While many return to the homestead farm or become farm managers, livestock raisers and the like, a large number enter extensive work, become food chemists, fertilizer specialists, farm machinery salesmen, vocational teachers, agricultural journalists, creamery operators, college, state or federal research workers, or enter scores of other branches.

Penn State officials declare that the farm-bred boy or girl has a decided advantage over those lacking the valuable experience of life on the farm. The college has never refused admission to such applicants who are especially well prepared for entrance and who have ranked high in their high school studies. Such applicants can still obtain admission to the freshman class that gathers at State College for observance of the usual freshman week on September 19.

Deciduous teeth are the first teeth. Children cut them usually between the ages of four months and two years. They are shed between the ages of six and twelve.
