Interesting Facts for Wool Growers

Dating back almost to the time when mythological Jason gave the wool business its first great impetus through the capture of the Golden Fleece, there has been a constant division of opinion concerning certain practices in the wool and sheep industry. The recent survey of wool marketing conditions conducted by the Sears-Roebuck Agricultural Foundation has brought to light many facts of interest to wool growers.

One of the most important of these is the attitude of the mills toward the tying of wool for shipment. It has been a common practice among sheep raisers to tie fleeces with binder twine or any other twine which came to hand. The mills have experienced considerable trouble on account of the fibers from such twine getting into the finished cloth or clogging their machinery. Accordingly they are insisting on the use of paper twine which dissolves to a pulp during the scouring process, and are willing to pay more for fleeces bound with paper twine. The less twine used the better it suits them. Fleeces should be free of chaff and dirt, and should always be tied with the bright side out.

Shipping methods were also given considerable attention during the investigation and it was found that freight shipment is in all cases cheapest and most practical. Express shipment is far too expensive on account of heavy carrying charges. Lots of less than 100 pounds cannot be marketed economically.

"It's Just Cowbells, That's All"

Goodyear Tubes at proportionately low cost

Attractive Low Prices on Goodyear All-Weathers and Double Eagles

WHEN YOU consider the purchase of another make of tire, ask yourself if it contains the values made possible by Goodyear experience and science, proceeding from the largest tire engineering and development corps in the industry.

Ask yourself if it can possibly approach Goodyear measure of excellence, enabled by the fact that Goodyear production is easily twice that of any other manufacturer.

Ask yourself what can weigh against that outstanding superiority in Goodyear Tires which last year gave Goodyear a percentage of gain in sales more than three times the percentage of gain in production recorded for the tire industry as a whole!

WHEN you have considered fundamentals like these you will be proof against the specious plea of the tire dealer who advances the misstatement "All tires are about alike."

You will understand why it is true throughout the world this year as for fourteen years past, that "more people ride on Goodyear Tires than on any other kind!"

And because Goodyear Tires cost little if anything more to buy than others, you will realize they cost less to use, and will want their savings and satisfaction for yourself.

Greater tread traction — greater car-cass vitality — we can demonstrate these superiorities in Goodyear Tires
