Attend Sunday School Sessions At Williamsport

Local Delegates Numbered Among the Twenty-nine Who Attend From Luzerne County

Mrs. Howard Wright and Mrs. Howard Crosby attended the sixty-seventh annual convention of the State Sabbath School Association of Pennsylvania for three days at Williamsport. They were sent as representatives by the Sunday school. There were 1,248 delegates in attendance, only twenty-nine of which were from Luzerne county, although it is one of the largest in the State.

Every session of the convention was filled with inspiration and help. The Sunday School Association is interdenominational and the contacts with other sects are an education. It is indeed encouraging to see so large a number of different creeds and beliefs come together in harmony. Any school which does not keep in touch with this body must suffer loss.

The morning sessions were general and were held in the Pine Street Methodist church. At these all business was transacted and a number of short, stirring addresses made by different workers throughout this state and others. Afternoons were given over to departmental conferences. Each department of the church school had headquarters in one of the city churches and every worker was supposed to take up some phase of the work in which he or she was most interested. These conferences were led by men and women specially trained in their particular line of work. They were the best possible to procure and spoke with authority on the latest and best methods of carrying on church school work.

Religious education was the subject especially stressed. Some of the leaders in the different departments are well known in name at least to all church school workers. The following are only a few of the many:

Mrs. Archer Holman, Mrs. F. W. Tomlinson, Miss Elsie Rodgers, Mrs. J. M. Bailey, Miss Mary Alice Jones, secretary of the International Council of Religious Education; Prof. Wilhelmna (Sooker) and Miss Blanche Carrier. These were the leaders in the children's division.

Young people's division had as leaders: Dr. Frank McKibben, University of Pittsburgh; Rev. J. Gordon Howard, Prof. Herbert C. Mayer, director of education, Curtiss Aircraft Company.

Adult division leaders were: Rev. Park Hays Miller, O. P. Thomas, Mrs. G. G. Kerr, Dr. H. E. Tralle.

Other leaders were: Dr. J. S. Armentrout, authority on leadership training; Prof. L. Guy Rohrbach, Dickinson College; Dean George F. Walk, Philadelphia; Dr. Luther Weigle, of Yale; Hon. Martin G. runbaugh, ex-governor of Pennsylvania; Rev. Ralph C. Hutchinson, dean of American College, Teheran, Persia, and many others.

ENTERTAIN AT CARDS

Mrs. J. H. Roberts and Mrs. A. N. Garinger entertained on Wednesday evening at the latter's home on Lake street. Games and cards provided entertainment during the evening. A delightful lunch was served at a late hour. Present were Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Fortner, Mr. and Mrs. George Eowen, Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Besecker, Mr. and Mrs. William Franklin, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Roberts, Leslie Warhola and Mr. and Mrs. A. N. Garinger.

Night Train Derailed At Noxen Station

Open Switch Cause of Wreck Which Destroys Box Car and Crushes Gas-Electric Engine

Investigation by Lehigh Valley officials into the cause of the passenger train wreck at Noxen on a Saturday night has failed to reveal what left the switch open that caused the derailment of the train and the destruction of a freight car.

Only luck prevented a more serious wreck and the loss of life. The wreck occurred as the east-bound 8 o'clock train was pulling out of the Noxen station on its trip to Dallas. As the gasoline-electric engine crossed the switch which serves the Armour Leather Company, the front wheels jumped the track and the engine plowed down the track into an empty box car. The engine cab was crushed in, Engineer James Usselman narrowly escaping death in the crash. The box car was completely destroyed. The force of the impact hurled the passenger train back against the main track where it plowed several yards through the roadbed. Only the pressure of the rails prevented the train from turning completely over.

A special train from Coxtown arriving at 10:30 conveyed the passengers to Wilkes-Barre. Later in the night a crew of track men and a wrecker from Coxtown raised the engine back on the track, although work was not completed until Sunday morning. On Sunday foreman Clark Ebrost with his crew put the tracks and roadbed in shape for Monday traffic.

LUMBER YARD STILL OPEN

L. A. McHenry, who purchased the stock of the O. A. Adelman lumber yard, is still at the old stand on Lake street, where he still has a varied assortment of prices which range at least 20 per cent cheaper than any prices of concerns back of the mountain.

"Great to Be Winner," Says Connie Mack.

"It's great to be a winner," said Connie Mack, manager, after the pennant was clinched by the Athletics of Philadelphia. "It's great to be a champion, but it took years of effort." When the Athletics blanked the Chicago White Sox, 5 to 0, they were assured honors for 1929 in the American loop. The pennant victory placed Connie Mack once more in the van of American League managers.

U. S. Surveyors Runnings Lines In This Section

Twenty-Three Men and Four Officers With Twelve Trucks of Scientific Apparatus Working Here

Members of the United States Geodetic and Coast Survey have been working this week in this vicinity extending the arc of First Order Triangulation from Buffalo, N. Y., to Trenton, N. J.

The party comprises four officers and twenty-three men. They travel in twelve government trucks bearing all of their scientific apparatus and camping equipment.

While in this vicinity the engineers are making use of all available fire towers and high points of land for observation purposes. The Harvey Fire Tower under the supervision of Irvin Whispell, is being used by them as their nearest base of operations in the Dallas district.

The work was started from the U. S. Survey station at Buffalo, N. Y., and extends to Trenton, N. J., where it meets the stations of the Eastern Oblique of First Order Triangulation, which runs along the Atlantic Coast.

A geodetic survey is one which takes into account the fact that the earth is curved. Most geodetic surveys are for the purpose of supplying starting points for local surveys. These control surveys must be made with the greatest accuracy and since they extend over the entire country they must be corrected for the curvature of the earth's surface, which is not uniform.

The surveyors do their work from the tops of high mountains, using the triangulation method. Three high points are selected, if trees or other objects obstruct the view from point to point, a temporary steel tower is erected. At night the engineers signal to each other by the use of strong electric light supplied by dry batteries. A code is used so that they may communicate easily. The stations are marked with brass tablets set in stone of concrete.

Captain Frank S. Bordon, a Tunkhannock young man, is in the Coast and Geodetic Survey office at Washington and the men working locally are under his supervision.

Dallas Chapter of Eastern Star Holds Card Party

Delightful Affair is Held Thursday Afternoon At the Home of Mrs. Nelson Whipp

One of the social events of the week was the benefit card party given for the Dallas Chapter, Order of Eastern Star, on Thursday afternoon and evening. Mrs. Nelson Whipp very generously opened her spacious home on Church street for the affair. Guests were allowed their choice of bridge, pinochle or five hundred and there were tables provided for other games if a preference other than these was expressed. Light refreshments were served. The prizes were clever and apparently pleased those who won them.

Mrs. W. E. Smith, chairman, and her committee, Mrs. Harriet Stevens, Mrs. Herman VanCampen and Mrs. Nelson Whipp are responsible for the success of the party, both socially and financially. Especially does the chapter wish to thank Mrs. Whipp for so kindly offering her home for the party.

Take Educational Trip Down State

Mr. and Mrs. John Girvan and son, Francis, enjoyed a very interesting and educational visit on Monday to the plant of Armstrong linoleum at Lancaster, Pa. They started early in the morning and with guides provided by the company, people were shown the raw materials, their treatment, the processes through which they are taken and each step in the manufacture of the beautiful floor coverings which the Armstrong people make. The party was entertained at lunch in the Armstrong cafeteria. It required the full day to see the plant in its entirety. The firm is one of the largest manufacturers of linoleum in the country, and their product is becoming more and more popular as floor covering not only in places of business but in offices and homes as well.
