-Beaumont-

Editor Dallas Post—I am very much interested in having your, or our, Dallas Post publishing Beaumont items. I would like our Grange to contribute these items. I wish you would get in touch with L. O. Wright, our master, and see what could be accomplished. We have a great number of young people as members and through these avenues I believe we could get a column each week. I used to write for the Semi-Weekly Record, Dallas Post and Wyoming Democrat, Tunkhannock. Therefore, would like to see the young folks become active in this work. Yours respectfully,
L. B. HILBERT.

The Modern Farm Household is Happier Because of the McCormick-Deering Engine

FROM dawn to dark, any time during January, February, March, April, May, June, July, August, September, October, November or December, there's likely to be work for a McCormick-Deering Engine. It is always there, always reliable, portable, versatile, uncomplicated. It works through meal-time, week days and Sundays, and all night long if need be.

Running water in the house! No more pumping. No more lugging heavy buckets. Think of the time and effort you save. Consider the convenience and added pleasure it will bring to your household.

McCormick-Deering Engines have high-tension magnetos for easy starting; sturdy, one-piece main frames for heavy-duty service. They are built with removable cylinder heads, long connecting rod bearings, enclosed crankcases, speed governnors, heavy, drop-forged, heat-treated steel crankshafts, and large, wide main bearings. All parts easy to obtain and easy to replace.

Four sizes: 1½, 3, 6, and 10 h. p. Ask for complete information.
