Parent-Teacher Association Is Organized Here

Sixty Persons Attend First Meeting in High School Auditorium—Mrs. Stanley Davis Elected President

A forward step in the development of cooperation between parents and the borough schools was taken Monday night when sixty parents and teachers met in the borough high school auditorium and formed a Parent-Teacher Association.

Prof. George Bowen, principal of the borough schools, was temporary chairman and quoting Benjamin Franklin's famous words, "Unite or Die," stressed the necessity for the closest cooperation between parents and teachers to make the local schools the success that they can be.

A. C. Cope, county superintendent of schools, spoke next and narrowed the term cooperation to this locality when he suggested the slogan, "Know Your Own Schools!" He urged parents to visit the schools, to get acquainted with the teachers and to attend classes while they are in session. Make no quick judgments but study the schools at first hand and get acquainted with facts and conditions at first hand and then try to see that the needs of the schools are met. Unless there is the closest cooperation between parents and the schools a Parent-Teacher Association is worse than useless.

Prof. Templin, superintendent of West Pittston schools, told of the work of the Parent-Teacher Association in West Pittston where the group is so large that it has become necessary to limit membership. Despite its large size the association is functioning successfully and beneficially. Parents should look at the schools in a constructive light for a destructive and critical attitude toward the schools is the wrong frame of mind in which to approach school problems. Study your own child. The parent knows the child in his own home. But that child frequently behaves in a different manner when in a group of thirty-five or forty other children.

Daniel Waters, representing the school board, spoke briefly from the viewpoint of the board of directors. To really know the school, he said, the parent should attend meetings of the school board and get an unbiased knowledge of the schools' needs. There is probably no other body of public spirited men who come in for so much criticism as a school board. These men give their services gratis, try continually to use their best judgment in directing the schools and in return are constantly criticized for their work.

The following officers were elected: Mrs. Stanley Davies, president; George Bowen, vice president; Lawrence Bevan, vice president; Mrs. William Baker, secretary, and Mrs. Evans, treasurer.

Meetings will be held in the school auditorium the third Monday evening of each month. Dues will be discussed at the next meeting. Chairmen of committees will be announced at a later date.

Continue Arrests For Use of Light In Killing Deer

Despite the heavy fines which the law provides for "jack lighting deer, protectors in various parts of the State continue to make arrests on that charge, according to reports made to the Game Commission offices in Harrisburg. In each case a $500 fine is imposed.

Ire Hoffman, Milford, was one of the most recent violators to pay a $500 fine. Coe Decker of Port Jervis, N. Y., was fined $100 for assisting in concealing an illegally killed deer.

Use of artificial lights in killing deer is known as "jack lighting" by sportsmen.

Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Culbert returned on Tuesday morning from a week's visit with relatives in Lancaster. One of the interesting events of a most delightful stay there was the Franklin and Marshall football game with Ursinus, which occurred on Saturday. The fact that Franklin and Marshall carried off the big end of the score was made doubly pleasing because of the fact that Mrs. Culbert's nephew, Rollin Charles, with whom they were visiting, is a member of the college faculty.

The affair promises to be better than ever this year and the committees have been working hard on an unusually good program. One of the features will be the music furnished by the Rythm Kings, an orchestra which has become exceedingly popular with the younger Dallas set during the summer months.

Features of the program include a grand march and awarding of prizes for the best and most grotesque costumes. There will be an abundance of Halloween games for those who do not care to dance.

Valuable Dogs Poisoned Here

Reward of $100 Offered For Information Leading to Arrest and Conviction of Poisoners

Dog poisoners got in their work this week when several valuable hunting dogs in the community were found dead on Tuesday and Thursday morning. One of the dogs found dead was that owned by Prof. Frank Morris. The dog was a valuable hunter and Mr. Morris had been offered more than a hundred dollars for him. The dog belonging to Mrs. Stella Whitebread was a pet. Neither of the dogs had done any harm about the community, and were tied up except when let loose for exercise and in the custody of their owners. A reward of $100 has been offered for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the person or persons who have been setting poison for dogs. Poisoning dogs is a criminal offence and in a case in Wyoming county about four years ago a dog killer was fined more than $500. Captain Mack killed a pet dog belonging to Attorney E. B. Farr. The subsequent court trial was one of the most interesting in the annals of Wyoming county courts.

ASKS HUNTERS' AID IN FEEDING GAME

If every hunter who buys a license is willing to spend eight cents for a pound of scratch feed and carry it into the game country the shortage of natural food for game and birds will be partly overcome, John J. Slaughterback, executive secretary of the Board of Game Commissioners, said today. Slaughterback explained that if each of the 700,000 hunters who buy licenses would carry one pound of food to the woods and fields the total distributed would go far in meeting the food shortage problem.

In addition to the hunters Slaughterback asked mail carriers, scouts and country school children to help in the distribution. District game protectors have been instructed to organize civic cooperation in their sections to carry out the winter feeding programs.

Dallas Beats Township Team By 7-0 Score

Driving Rain Hampers Players and Diminishes Crowds at Annual Football Classic

Dallas High school football team will play its hardest game of the season this morning with the strong West Pittston high school team at West Pittston. Members of the local high school team will meet at the borough high school this morning at 9 o'clock and will go to West Pittston by bus. A large following of supporters is expected to attend the game. West Pittston has an alert team this year and has been tested in several games with the strongest teams of the valley. The game will be played on the West Pittston grounds at 10:30.

The Dallas team has been playing good football this year under the capable coaching of Earl Young. On Tuesday in a driving rain storm and on a mud-soaked field Dallas showed its power and speed by defeating its traditional rival, Dallas township, by a score of 7-0. In spite of the unfavorable weather a large crowd of supporters of both teams stood in the downpour until the final whistle.

Coolbaugh kicked off to Dallas township and early in the first period Himmler, flashy backfield star of Dallas Borough carried the ball over for a touchdown. Oliver carried the ball over the goal line for the point after touchdown on a tricky forward pass play. From then on throughout the game the township line bolstered up and held the Dallas line time after time. Mud soaked and wet to the skin the boys of both teams made a fine impression on the spectators for their sportsmanship and dogged determination to come off the field winners. Dallas township will play a return game on the Dallas borough field on November 15. With good weather prevailing a record crowd is expected to attend.

How About Mileage?

Montgomery Ward & Company use a Model A Tudor to test Riverside tires. The car is given hard usage and at the time these figures were obtained had rolled up 105,000 miles on the speedometer.

It is driven 500 miles a day, 250 in daytime by one driver and 250 at night by another. The same fan belt is still in use. A general greasing is given the car every 1,750 miles. The rear axle has never been down. So far it has used two sets of brake linings and one set of pistons and rings. The car is driven at an average speed of forty miles per hour. The wheels are tight and running true and no bearings have been replaced. Considering the fact that a test car is necessarily subjected to much braking and high speed, this is considered a good record.
