Election News In Neighboring Communities

Otis Rood Wins School Director Fight In Lake Township, Dyer Lauderbach and Alex Wilson Win Tax Collector and Supervisor Contests In Dallas Township

Dallas township's election on Tuesday past was marked with great interest due to the tax collector and supervisor fights. In the tax collector contest Dyer Lauderbach won over his opponents in easy style, as did Alex Wilson in the supervisor fight.

Earl Husted won without any opposition for school director and Katie Wilson won over Mr. Spencer for auditor by a vote of 268 to 190.

The tax collector and supervisor returns were as follows:

	Supervisor		Total
	No. Dis.	So. Dis.
Alex Wilson	91	198	289
John Compton	12	181	203
Tax Collector
Dyer Lauderbach	36	161	197
A. C. Edwards	25	72	97
Wilson Ryman	36	113	149
Robert Knarr	8	64	72

Lake Township

In Lake township, Otis Rood won over A. N. Williams for school director (six-year term) by a majority of sixty votes, Rood receiving 205 votes against 145 for Williams.

Torrence Ruggles defeated M. J. Kocher for the office of tax collector, 200 against 182, having a majority of eighteen votes. Very great interest was shown in this fight as shown by the small majority in Ruggles' favor.

James Hoover defeated H. B. Williams and William Armstrong for supervisor by a large majority.

William Vaughn was elected overseer of the poor over W. Kocher by a substantial majority.

William Hausch was elected auditor without opposition.

Franklin Township

Margaret Snell was elected tax collector; Daniel Dymond elected school director (four-year term); John Bodie was elected school director (four-year term), and Thes McHenry won out for justice of the peace in the election in Franklin township.

Kingston Township

Kingston township election was exceedingly quiet, all nominees having both major nominations with the exception in the supervisor contest, where Grover Stock won out over Hugh Jones, 488 to 191 votes.

George Malkemes was elected justice of the peace; Joseph Schooley was elected school director; Milton Neyhart tax collector and Stanley Davis auditor, without opposition.

Lehman Township

In Lehman township James Parks was elected justice of the peace; Arthur Major tax collector; George Lewis school director and Joseph Worthington auditor, all without any material opposition.

The supervisor contest was close. Fred Lamoreaux won out over William Pollock with 160 votes to 128 for Pollock.

EASTERN STAR BANQUET

At the regular meeting of Dallas Chapter, Order of Eastern Star, on Wednesday evening, the members decided to hold a banquet in the near future. Members and friends may attend. Committees are being formed and will be announced at an early date. Watch for time, place and ticket price.

A REAL BARGAIN

The Dallas Post calls the attention of its readers to The Boston Store's advertisement appearing in this issue. If you need a pull-up chair for your home be sure to take advantage of this liberal offer being made by one of Wilkes-Barre's great stores to Dallas Post readers. There is no trick or catch to the offer. The Boston Store simply wants to know whether Post readers take advantage of the many bargains offered in its advertisements and it is willing to make a sacrifice to learn if subscribers really read Post advertisements thoroughly. Clip the ad, place $8.98 with it and either mail it or take it to the Boston Store and receive either a $16.50 or $14.50 chair for it. These are the regular prices of these chairs and the only way you or anyone else can obtain them at the low price is by using the coupon's

America's answer to humanity's challenge

The American Red Cross will hold its annual roll call from November 11 to November 28. Dallas residents will respond generously this year as in the past.

Work Nearing Completion On Gun Club Cabin

Limited Twenty-Gun Club of Noxen Is Building Fireproof Hunting Lodge On South Mountain

Fine progress is being made on the new hunting cabin being built on South Mountain by The Limited Twenty Gun Club of Noxen. During the past month some member of the club has been working on the cabin every day.

When completed the building will be as nearly fireproof as possible. The building is 18x40 feet and will be sheathed with metal to protect it from forest fires. The building is situated in the center of a fifty-four acre tract of land owned by the club. This land joins the property owned by the South Mountain Gun Club, which is made up of a group of Shavertown men.

The cabin will have a lobby and kitchen and will be equipped with two large chunk stoves for heating and a cooking range in the kitchen. Later a fireplace will be built. Twenty Simmons cots have been purchased for bunks. Each member will have his own bed. The club will also install radio receiving equipment.

One of the features of the cabin's location is an excellent spring nearby. Water is being pumped from this spring to the cabin. The cabin stands in the center of the big game country of the South Mountain. Bear and deer are plentiful. In an orchard nearby the bears have scaled most of the bark from the trees in their eagerness to reach the higher branches of the trees for apples.

Auxiliary Makes Plans For Winter

Fine Monthly Attendance Marks the Monthly Meeting at Home of Mrs. Charles Norris of Trucksville

The monthly meeting of Shavertown branch Nesbitt Memorial Hospital Auxiliary was held Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Charles Norris of Trucksville. Fifty-four members were present including the following new members: Mrs. James Case, Fernbrook; Mrs. Earl Keithline, Shavertown; Mrs. J. S. Thomas, Dallas; Mrs. Vivian Crosby, Idetown.

The meeting was called to order by Mrs. Wells, the president, and after this the various committees read their reports. A report was handed in by Mrs. Richard Bosworth of the Shavertown unit of the card party held during the month. It did not bring a huge sum but all present had a delightful time. These affairs to be held from time to time will help contribute largely to the success of the Helping Hand Club, a side issue that the members have started to take care of worthy cases who are not reached by other charitable bodies. During this meeting Mrs. Wiese also touched upon the subject of arrears in the auxiliary. She stated if members have failed to pay their dues they must pay in full to become reinstated as a member.

A report has been current that the private room furnished at the hospital by this auxiliary was for members only. This room is for anyone who wishes it and pays the usual fee the hospital asks for a private room of this kind.

Burgess Anderson Is Reelected; Besecker and Space New School Directors; Jeter Elected Justice

Rev. J. J. O'Leary
Lauded Highly At Church Dedication

Churchmen of a National Repute Take Part in Dedicatory Services at St. Therese's Church, Shavertown

Achievements of Rev. John J. O'Leary, pastor of St. Therese's Church, Shavertown, as a priest, soldier and humanitarian, were lauded yesterday by Rev. Francis P. Duffy, famous chaplain of the Sixty-ninth Regiment of the New York National Guard. Father Duffy delivered the sermon at the dedication of the new St. Therese's Church at which Rt. Rev. Thomas C. O'Reilly, bishop of Scranton diocese, officiated.

A drizzling rain did not prevent hundreds of persons from attending the solemn high mass of dedication at 10 o'clock last Sunday morning, although it did necessitate the eliminating of the procession from the rectory of the church. Included in the assemblage were representatives of civil and fraternal life.

Delegations present included the Fourth Degree Assembly, Knights of Columbus; Wyoming Valley Chapter, Disabled American Veterans of the World War; American Legion Posts of Wilkes-Parre and Kingston. A special choir of sixty selected voices furnished appropriate music. Guards of honor to Bishop O'Reilly were Hon. John J. Coyle, Andrew P. Maloney and Joseph F. Gallagher, all of Philadelphia, who have been given official recognition by the Pope. They were attired in uniforms of office, Senator Coyle as a Knight of Malta, and Messrs. Maloney and Gallagher as Knights of St. Gregory.

A class of sixty was confirmed by Bishop O'Reilly. Sponsors were Florence Rave, Catherine Ward, Fred Youngblood and N. A. Staub.

Father Duffy, chaplain of the regiment which won acclaim during the Civil, Spanish American and World Wars, as regiment of "Fighting Irish," spoke on "Priest and Patriot," during which he paid tribute to Rev. Father O'Leary's record of accomplishment in religious, civil and military life.

Rev. Dr. Francis A. McGinley was celebrant of the mass. Other officers were Rev. Theophilus Wroblecki, deacon; Rev. Joseph Ward, Scranton, sub-deacon; Rev. James Rilly, Wilkes-Barre, master of ceremonies; Rev. Martin O'Connor, S. T. D., of the Scranton Cathedral, served as master of ceremonies in the office outside of the mass.

LOCAL JURORS

The following persons from this section have been drawn for jury service during the December term of court:

Week of December 2—Kingston township, B. G. Besteder, farmer; Exeter township, Giles Gay, fruit grower; Dallas, J. F. Besecker, Ford dealer; A. A. Neeley, farmer.

Week of December 9—West Wyoming, Matthew Carey, insurance; Dallas, A. T. Gangloff, gentleman.

MINSTREL SHOW

A minstrel show will be given by the Lehman Girl Scouts in the high school auditorium on Friday evening, November 29. Much time is being spent by the girls in rehearsing and the making of costumes. They hope to make it a success and expect many to attend.

Council Nominees On Republican Ticket, Garahan, Franklin and Hildebrandt Win With Ralph Rood Making Exceptional Run, Following Closely to Hildebrandt

With election circulars being distributed both in the mails and from house to house, election ads in our local paper, and with many street conferences, Dallas experienced the most interesting election in the history of the borough.

While not entirely unexpected, the surprise of the day was the wonderful showing made by Burgess Anderson in seeking reelection, he having won over the Republican nominee by a majority of twenty-nine votes. Burgess Anderson owes his election in a large measure to his fine showing in the Parrish Heights district, which he carried by forty-four votes majority.

With no county fight in evidence, very few straight Republican ballots were cast, which was a material benefit to the fighting burgess, but notwithstanding this, his victory was all the more deserved.

John J. Jeter won over Charles H. Cook for Justice of the Peace by a substantial majority of 174 votes.

School Director Contest

James Besecker won over Stanley Doll in the school director contest for the six-year term by a majority of 132 votes, carrying both the Parrish Heights and old Dallas districts.

In the two-year school director fight, which during the week prior to election took up as much interest of the voters of town as the burgess contest, Clifford Space won over F. F. Morris by seventy-seven votes.

Council Seats

Harry Garahan, present incumbent, James Franklin and Clarke Hildebrandt, new councilmen, will take their council seats on the first Monday in January.

Ralph Rood, who had the Democratic nomination, was sought after the past week to make a stand for election as councilman, and with only a few days before election Ralph started a canvass which netted him two hundred and forty-one votes.

This showing is remarkable in view of the fact that with only a Democratic nomination he was only defeated by Clarke Hildebrandt by thirty-six votes, notwithstanding the fact that Mr. Hildebrandt had both Republican and Democratic nominations.

Fred Gordon had no opposition as tax collector and he will once more serve Dallas for another four years.

J. Harry Mannear will be our new auditor, having had no opposition.

Stanley Doll is judge of election and Morgan Wilcox inspector and John Frantz minority inspector for the North district.

M. E. Coolbaugh was reelected register assessor.

The official count of the vote in which there were borough contests is as follows:

	Burgess		Total
	So. Dis.	No. Dis.
J. H. Anderson	105	133	239
Thomas Higgins	61	148	209
Justice of the Peace
John Jeter	120	178	298
C. H. Cooke	32	92	124
