RED CROSS VOLUNTEERS PRINT BOOKS FOR BLIND

One of the most appealing services that is carried forward by women volunteers under the American Red Cross is that of transcribing popular and scientific books into Braille for reading by the blind. This work was started at Evergreen hospital, where blind veterans of the World War were sent after the Armistice.

The Red Cross now has 1,155 volunteer Braille transcribers, and last year they produced 442 titles in 1,349 volumes, or 175,000 pages of Braille. The majority of the books go to the Library of Congress and public libraries throughout the country, although some of the books go to schools for the blind and, in a few instances, text books are transcribed for some individual scholar in order to help him complete his course in some study.

The work is supported from the Red Cross Roll Call for members which occurs each year from Armistice Day to Thanksgiving Day.

AIRPLANES DROP TONS OF FOOD DURING FLOOD

Army, Navy and Alabama National Guard airplanes delivered twenty-five tons of supplies furnished by the American Red Cross to flood refugees who were completely cut off from any other aid, during the serious floods in four southeastern States early this spring.

The three services made an average of fifty flights a day, delivering medicine, food, clothing and blankets. Most of the supplies were dropped to the refugees who were isolated on hill tops and high ground, by the floodwaters.

Naval aviators made a total of 115 flights during the flood period, embracing 15,000 miles. Observation planes also reported by radio where marooned refugees could be located, and a magnificent program of co-operation with the Red Cross relief forces was carried forward by all three aviation services.

"Because they suffer most and because of their helplessness, the ministrations of the Red Cross organization take on added significance and importance. No doubt many lives among these particular groups are saved through the prompt service which this organization gives."

"Because the American Federation of Labor appreciates this fact, we have supplemented the appeal of the American Red Cross at each Roll Call period for memberships from the great mass of working men and women and their families.

"The continued service of the American Federation of Labor in this most humane and unselfish work will be most cheerfully rendered."

Mr. Green is a member of the Board of Incorporators of the American Red Cross.

LABOR HEAD URGES SUPPORT OF RED CROSS

"Invariably it is the masses of the people which suffer most when disasters occur," stated William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, recently.

GARAGE SHOWROOM COMPLETELY REARRANGED TO TAKE CARE OF NEW HARDWARE DEPARTMENT

In order to take care of his newly added hardware department, James Oliver, local merchant and garage owner, has completely rearranged and redecorated the interior of his show room in his garage on Main street.

Seeing the need of a good hardware store in this section and feeling that the people of this community would be benefited by an up-to-date store with a complete line of sporting goods, paints, carpenters' and masons' tools as well as household hardware, Mr. Oliver decided to enter the hardware business when the Dallas Hardware Company closed its doors some weeks ago.

Mr. Oliver has an ideal location for such a store. With the rearrangement of the show room and the installation of modern fixtures and equipment he now has one of the most attractive store rooms in this section.

In Arthur Brown he has a capable manager and salesman for the new department. Brownie is well-versed in this section and his ability and personality make him a valuable asset in the opening up of the new department of Mr. Oliver's business.

The hardware business will in no way interfere with the other departments of Mr. Oliver's business, although many of the automobile supplies formerly housed in the show room have been moved into new locations in the garage. In order to better house his complete line of automobile parts, Mr. Oliver has had a stockroom equipped at the back of the store where these parts are kept in compact steel racks.
