YOU want to "see" a big league game. At two o'clock in the afternoon reception conditions are not at their best. But to the C. A. Earl, with its "Hair-Line" Super-Selectivity, two o'clock in the afternoon is like two o'clock in the morning.

The station you want may be sandwiched in between the most powerful stations in America. There may be a "Broadway and 42nd Street" traffic jam on the air. It makes no difference.

You Own the Air

So far as you are concerned, that baseball game is the only thing being broadcast. Not a murmur of the outside world comes to disturb your tense excitement when it's "two strikes and the bases full."

Compare the C. A. Earl with any set you please on that essential matter of selectivity. Come in for a demonstration.
