Predicts New Record in All Features of State Farm Exhibit

Harrisburg, January 13.—Pennsylvania's Sixteenth Annual Farm Show is rapidly taking form here and all exhibits will be in place when the doors open to the public Monday morning, January 18, according to John H. Light, director.

Never before has more interests been manifested in the exhibition and agricultural meetings, officials asserted. More than 35,000 premium lists have been distributed to prospective exhibitors and 20,000 preliminary programs and reduced fare certificates have been mailed in response to requests.

Entries made to date indicate that all departments will be filled to the limit of space. Hundreds of entries in the livestock and poultry sections have been turned away. More than four acres of commercial space has been sold to approximately 300 firms, 75 of which have never exhibited at the show before.

Unusual Programs
Unusual programs with many outstanding speakers and special features, have been arranged. Senator George W. Norris, of Nebraska, and Governor Pinchot will be the principal speakers at the opening meeting to take place in the main pavilion Monday evening, Secretary of Agriculture John A. McSparan has announced. On Tuesday evening, a program has been arranged in which 1000 boys and girls enrolled in vocational schools is scheduled for Wednesday evening will take part. A 3-H Club pageant in addition to the finals in the State-wide horseshoe pitching contest. Other special entertainment is being provided for the remaining evenings of the week. A demonstration of sheep herding by a dog of national reputation, one of the most popular entertainment features at the show a year ago, will be repeated this year.

Educational Displays
Numerous outstanding and unique educational displays have won for the Pennsylvania Farm Show a most favorable reputation. The annual meetings of thirty agricultural associations with their instructive programs made of speakers—specialists, farmers and business men—from a dozen Eastern states; the vocational demonstration contest and 4-H Club exhibits in which hundreds of farm boys and girls take part; the one-act play tournament with eighteen district-winning groups made up of more than 125 amateur players, competing; the State-wide horseshoe pitching contest in which forty-seven contestants from thirty counties will participate; the elaborate exhibits arranged by the Pennsylvania State College, the departments of the State Government and commercial firms—these will afford a great variety of features to interest the thousands of people in attendance.

Record Livestock Show
The livestock and poultry exhibits will be the largest in the history of the Commonwealth. The exhibition will include 379 purebred dairy cattle representing the Ayrshire, Guernsey, Jersey, Holstein and Brown Swiss breeds; 101 beef cattle of the Angus, Hereford and Shorthorn Breeds; ninety-seven 4-H Club baby beef steers from Montgomery, Dauphin, Lancaster and Cumberland counties; 315 breeding sheep representing twelve breeds; eighty-four 4-H Club fat lambs of four breeds; sixty-three Belgian and Percheron draft horses; and 105 Berkshire, Chester White, Duroc Jersey and Hampshire swine. There will be 3133 birds consisting of 2884 chickens, 142 turkeys, 149 ducks and fifty-eight geese, in the Poultry Show. These birds will come from thirteen States as far south as Florida, as far north as Maine, and as far west as Wisconsin.

A new unit to the livestock section of the ten-acre Show Building has been completed. The additional space has been equipped with stalls, and pens which makes possible the increase in the size of the livestock exhibit.

Parking accommodations for thousands of automobiles with parts and cables to insure systematic arrangement with the least possible delay, have been completed by the Show Commission. The parking area is located in the rear of the Show Building where hundreds of carloads of cattle were used in preparing the land for parking purposes.

Special Railroad Rates
Special railroad rates are being offered to members of all organizations co-operating in the Show. These reduced rates are available throughout Pennsylvania, New York, New Jersey, Delaware, Maryland, Virginia and West Virginia. As an additional inducement, the Pennsylvania and Reading Railroads are offering, throughout Central Pennsylvania, a special round trip daily excursion rate to the Show.

The Commission which is directly responsible for the Pennsylvania Farm

Show includes: Gifford Pinchot, Governor of Pennsylvania; John A. McSparan, Secretary of Agriculture (chairman); R. L. Watts, Dean of Agriculture, Pennsylvania State College; M. S. McDowell, Director of Agriculture; H. C. Fetteroff, State Director of Agricultural Education; Miles Horst, secretary, Pennsylvania Potato Growers' Association and field editor of the Pennsylvania Farmer; H. D. Allebach, president, Inter-State Milk Producers' Association; and John H. Light, secretary, Pennsylvania State Grange (director); J. M. Fry, assistant director, Agricultural Extension, Pennsylvania State College, is secretary of the Commission. The Commission is supported in its efforts by the agricultural associations of the Commonwealth.

As in the past, no admission will be charged to see the Show.

William J. Bryan said that upon one occasion when he was making a very important speech, he was greatly impressed by the attention of a man in the audience. The man sat a few rows from the front, and as the speech went on, seemed to grow more and more absorbed. He hung upon the speaker's words, his face fairly twitching with excitement. Mr. Bryan said that he felt so flattered that he found himself watching his admirer more and more closely, until finally he was conscious that he was addressing himself to that one man, oblivious of the rest of the audience. Later in the evening the man came upon the platform, watched his chance, and seized upon the hand of the speaker. "I've watched you every minute he said breathlessly. 'I've never taken my eyes off your face.'" He was so eager, so impassioned, that Mr. Bryan felt a thrill go through him; here was something worthwhile, and the man went on: "I'm a dentist, and I've never before in my whole professional life seen a speaker who, when he laughed, showed both rows of teeth all the way round."—"Daniel Chester French, Memories of a Sculptor's Wife."

WHEN TO HATCH CHICKS

By Prof. Paul G. Riley

The Commercial poultryman, who must make a profit from his flock, usually tries to plan ahead on the basis of several years of experience. The average poultry raiser, however, who is not so deeply interested in poultry production too often does not plan, or if he does plan his hatching time, he bases the time of hatching on last season's prices and results.

In order to make maximum profit out of raising chicks, it is necessary to remember two years instead of one. During the 1931 brooding season, price of broilers for early chicks was good, and somewhat to a great many people's surprise the price remained good on chicks hatched late in April and May.

In 1930, the price of broilers on early hatched chicks was fair, but the price of late hatched broilers was comparatively low. In 1932, it is more likely that we will see a repetition of price conditions in 1930 than in 1931. Speaking strictly from a price standpoint, it would seem to be better business to hatch chicks comparatively early, preferably in February, March and April, in 1932.

A difference of two or three cents per chick in the initial chick cost is not nearly as important as a matter of two to five cents per pound on the poultry sold. Also it takes the early pullets to produce the high priced fall and winter eggs. Poultry profits in the last four months of 1931 have been good. Poultry profits for the good poultrymen are always good for the last four months of every year. All poultry profits are determined by the time the chicks are hatched, care and management, and feeding program during the summer time.

Let's hatch chicks early this year.

Store Improvements

Our spring water fountain, ladies rest room, telephones and information service are for your convenience. Use them.

On second floor, we will have a well equipped Harness Shop, while an improved rest room for the ladies will be built on first floor. We will also practice what we preach by using plenty of Moores Paint where needed.

When ice cutting time rolls around, you'll find us all lined up with your favorite tools and creepers.

Since eggs are scarce, it pays to give the hens good attention. We don't have any reliable information, but at least we think that's why C. E. Ross bought a corn sheller.
