Two 'Musts' Now Face All Owners Of Automobiles

Law Requires Inspection and Purchase of Drivers' Permits

Pennsylvania motor vehicles owners and operators are now confronted by two 'Musts.' Operation of a motor vehicle in the State this year depends on compliance with each "Must." Both are law.

The first of these 'Musts' is the necessity of applying now for motor vehicle operator's licenses for 1932. The fee is $2. Every person intending to operate a motor vehicle in Pennsylvania after midnight, February 29, must have a 1932 operator's license. The work of the Bureau of Motor Vehicles will be greatly facilitated if every operator in the Commonwealth will apply for his license now. Remember, the fee is $2.

The second 'Must' is that every motor vehicle owner and operator in the State must have his passenger car or motor truck inspected by an official inspection station between this and midnight, March 31. Not only is inspection required by law but the necessary repairs, corrections or adjustments suggested by the inspection station must be made before that date. As in the case of the operator's license, motor vehicle owners will save themselves much inconvenience and the danger of arrest by complying with the inspection ruling now.

Frequently the first impression one has of a State-wide compulsory motor vehicle inspection campaign is that it may be promoted for the advertising of certain equipment for testing motor vehicles, or may be subject to commercialization by those agencies assisting the Commonwealth.

Proper Regulations

Any means which can be legitimately used under the sponsorship of the State or any assistance which can be obtained from outside agencies, if properly regulated, as the present campaign is being regulated, would seem to be justified if it does nothing more than periodically attract the attention of motorists to those factors in their automobiles which may be potential accident hazards or may become contributory to accidents.

Traffic safety is 95 per cent education and 5 per cent enforcement. The biggest problem is in the education of automobile owners and drivers. When they can be reached en-masse, the complexities of the problem are proportionately reduced.

Compulsory inspection campaigns, when conducted under the proper auspices, and with a right appreciation of the real principles behind them, are a means to this end, and for the drivers own satisfaction as to the condition of the equipment on his car which may prove a potential accident hazard.

Flames Destroy Store At Chase

Local Company Responds To Early Morning Blaze.

Fire of undetermined origin completely destroyed the home and general store of Asa A. Prutzman of Chase at an early hour yesterday morning.

The fire was discovered shortly before 2:30 a. m., and the Prutzman family were barely able to flee in their night clothing before flames were eating through the dwelling.

Sherman Prantz who lives directly opposite the store notified Henry M. Laing fire company. Ten members responded with the pumper but they were able to do little but play streams of water on neighboring buildings. Much of the household furniture was however, saved.

It is believed that the fire started from a defective furnace in the cellar of the Prutzman home and spread from there through the house and into the adjoining store. The loss is only partially covered with insurance.

APPEAL TO STATE COURTS

With appeals before the State Compensation Board and county courts denied, Kingston township school board voted at its adjourned meeting this week to carry its appeal in the Howell Compensation case to the State courts. R. Howell. Many Kingston township taxpayers, as well as legal authorities are, however, of the opinion that the board will eventually have to pay the compensation due with interest as well as a considerable amount of money to lawyers for the cost of getting an appeal.

Bad Weather Holds Down Attendance on Opening Day. Transfer of Funds Made Uneventfully on Friday Afternoon Under Police Guard

CHILDREN ADMITTED FRIDAY

More than 925 persons attended, the opening and inspection of the new First National Bank building on Saturday. The largest crowds were present early in the morning soon after the doors were opened and the second largest crowd came during the evening hours. With the opening of the new building, the bank will henceforth be open for business until 9 every Saturday night. Had the day been a nicer one it is believed that more than 1,500 persons would have been present at the opening. School children were escorted through the building on Friday before the formal dedication of Saturday.

Transfer of funds, securities and records from the old building to the new was made uneventfully late Friday afternoon under guard of a detail of State police from Wyoming Barracks and local police officers.

Everybody who visited the building was enthusiastic in praise of the beauty of the building and in predicting its effect upon the future growth of the community. The president, directors, officers and stockholders of the bank received many verbal compliments as well as telegrams, telephone and floral congratulations.

Tighman Moyer of Allentown, architect and building contractor, was unable to be present at the dedication being an appendicitis patient in an Allentown hospital. It was the first bank dedication Mr. Moyer has missed since the establishment of his firm which has constructed scores of banks throughout the eastern United States.

Architect's Organization

The First National Bank of Dallas, Pa., is the most recently completed bank building designed and constructed by the Tighman Moyer Company.

This company, with its main offices in Allentown, Pennsylvania, is distinctive in the fields of Architecture and building construction in that all of its work is confined to a single type of building—bank and offices. So creditable has the work of these men been in their chosen specialty since the establishment of the business fifteen years ago that their reputation has been recognized throughout the Eastern States. During the past three years they have built more than fifty bank buildings in New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Delaware, Maryland, West Virginia and Ohio.

The Company's personnel is made up of men each of whom is an expert in some particular of bank design or construction. They are not dependent upon outsiders but every item that enters a building is designed or controlled within their own offices—even to such unusual elements as the steel furniture, wall decorations, vaults window draperies and mechanical equipment. Between fifty and sixty persons are regularly at work in the Allentown offices. It is the Company's policy to employ local mechanics on the construction of its buildings for every kind of work that does not require men specially trained to bank work.

The administrative heads of the Company are T. H. Moyer, president and H. G. Buel, vice president. The execution of the Company's work is under the direction of Harry Moyer, Chief engineer; P. Frederic Moyer, Chief Designer; Harold Moyer, Preliminary; Joseph Moyer, Purchasing Agent; G. W. O'Connell, Estimator; and M. L. W. Moyer, Draftsman. All of these men have long experience, many of whom had been successful in the practice before joining the Moyer Company staff.
