Caution was the keynote of Jack Sharkey's campaign against Max Schmeling last Tuesday night. Sharkey evidently aimed at victory on points. Knowing that he possesses great boxing skill he used it. Instead of trying for a knockout, which might have resulted in wearing himself down, Sharkey was out to out-box Herr Max.

In view of pre-fight statements concerning what Sharkey was going to do, the outcome was distinctly opposite. He did not knock off Schmeling's head, nor did he try to do it.

The new champion evidently realized that Schmeling's natural style was to advance perpetually, take everything and come back smiling. Fearing to use everything he had without effect, and perhaps to break a hand against the durable German boy, Sharkey tried for a technical victory.

This column is not in position to express an opinion regarding the verdict. Judging by the radio report alone, we were surprised by the announcement that Sharkey had won. But a fight cannot be viewed at long range, and even at short range there is bound to be disagreement over any contest.

Now that the stage is all set for another fight, when Sharkey may be the tearing in, he studiously declined to do last Tuesday night.

You never can tell what Sharkey will do. Who could have predicted that extreme caution would have been his plan of battle against Schmeling?

Johnny Lopasky, the Harvey's Lake wood chopper is grooming for another fight with Eddie Devlin, who won on a technical knockout when Lopasky pulled a tendon in his arm in their last meeting at the Wilkes-Barre Army several weeks ago. In all probability they will be booked on the next bill which will be announced very shortly.

A number of local boxing fans were entertained last Friday night by Mr. Alexander, proprietor of the refreshment stand at Fernbrook Park to a radio description of the Micky Walker-Johnny Risok, 12 round fight at Cleveland, Ohio. A radio was installed on one of the stands. Micky, lost the decision to Risiko by a big margin.

Rural League Teams

Dallas of the Rural League took undisputed claim to first place when they journey to Orange last Saturday and emerged victorious by the score of 9 to 2.

Kingston township moved into a tie for third place when Herb William's nine pounced on two of "Torchy" Wilson's pitchers for 12 hits when they mowed Beaumont down by the score of 8 to 4.

"Inky" Kitchen for the township team batted out three hits, two of them which were doubles, the first came in the second inning when he started the team on its road to victory by pasting one over the fence in left field. His other two hits were clean hits over the infield. Farry hit a two bager over the left field fence which would have been a home run on an infield but the Shavertown school house.

Winters was on the mound for the township team and gave up but 7 hits and fanned 11 men.

Fernbrook kept up its winning streak by making it two in a row when they defeated Lake Summit at Luzerne by the score of 8 to 4. Coombs on the mound for Fernbrook fanned 5 men and aided his team by slamming out a home run with two men on the paths. The scores of the games follow:

A Tribute to Pennsylvania

Bruce Barton, author of "The Man Nobody Knows," has written this tribute to Pennsylvania for the "Parade of the States" Monday night programs of the General Motors Corporation, part of an educational plan to make the country as a whole better acquainted with the individual states—their history, scenic beauty, industries and people.

In a Pennsylvania city stands the old cracked bell that rang in American independence. For many a year it marked red letter days. But not even the Liberty Bell, toll it ever so proudly, could peer forth all the glories of Pennsylvania.

To this sylvan land of William Penn came men of thrifty hand and honest heart to worship God as their conscience led. Here Jefferson drafted the Declaration of Independence, here the American Constitution was framed. In Pennsylvania, Washington cheered his ragged soldiers through the bitter winter of '77. From Pennsylvania he steered his bark across the darkness of the Delaware. Here he lived as America's first president, and here he uttered the farewell that men can never forget.

From a Pennsylvania summer storm Benjamin Franklin snatched a thunderbolt with his kite and key. Here he fathered our first circulating library, hospital, insurance company, and the academy that grew to manhood as the University of Pennsylvania.

A Pennsylvania farm boy, Daniel Boone, tracked America's path to the West. A Pennsylvania heroine, Molly Pitcher, manned a cannon in the Battle of Monmouth. A Pennsylvania general led the army that turned the tide against disunion. And on a Pennsylvania hillside, looking out over the graves of the boys in blue and the boys in gray, Abraham Lincoln voiced his immortal Gettysburg Address.

No other state can boast so many American beginnings. Pennsylvania printed our first daily, opened our first turnpike, established our first bank. Her children enrolled in our first art school and medical school. In our own time, Pennsylvania gave us the first public broadcasting station.

Do you seek cities? Here are Philadelphia and Pittsburgh among America's first ten; Scranton, Erie and Reading among our first hundred.

Or pleasant countryside? Here are quiet rippling streams, clean ploughed acres, blossoming orchards, and the blue-gray crests of friendly mountains. In Kipling's words, "The things that truly last when men and times have passed, they are all in Pennsylvania this morning."

Linger in Gettysburg and lovely Valley Forge. In Independence Hall and the little house where Betsy Ross set careful stitches in the first American flag. Drive through Lancaster County, richest of garden spots. Go to Bethlehem for that rare treat for music lovers, the annual Bach Festival; to Harrisburg to see the capitol's murals. Visit Pennsylvania's colleges—she has more than any other state.

Keystone of the thirteen original states, Pennsylvania is a keystone of America's financial and industrial structure today. To the Keystone State, pioneer and leader, General Motors pays tribute!

Waldon Attacks Automobile Tax

A. A. Head Asks Car Owners To Use Ballot Box In Protest

Declaring that the "motor vehicle is a sacrifice to the flagrant extravagance that has honeycombed every kind and form of government," Thos. P. Henry, President of the American Automobile Association, on Monday called upon the car owners of the country to use the ballot box as a medium for protesting against the increasing motor taxes.

Mr. Henry's statement, made in the course of his address at Providence, R. I., opening session of the thirtieth annual convention of the national motoring body, sounded the keynote for a national campaign against excessive motor taxes.

"The Congress of the United States," said the A. A. A. President, "has just passed a bill which subjects the car owners to a burden of $258,000,000 of new Federal taxes. This is an increase of twenty-five per cent in the total motor tax levy. It is more than twice the annual Federal expenditures on highways. This piece of what has been aptly called 'shotgun' taxation was forced on us with full knowledge of the fact that the state burden of taxes had already reached the point where cars were going off the streets at the rate of 1,500,000 vehicles in 1932.

"I purpose that we scan the record of every man and woman seeking office in the coming elections, from the United States Senate down to the youngest aspirant for a local town council, and demand from them an explanation of their votes on motor taxes in the past and a pledge for the future. Let us translate our protest into political action. Ballots may prove a stronger weapon than reason."

Following Mr. Henry's address, there were presented to the convention a series of reports from standing committees of the Association, dealing with major problems affecting the motor transport, including taxation, safety, highways, touring services and automobile racing.

Estimating that the motor tax bill for 1932 will exceed $1,250,000,000, an increase of around twenty-five per cent over last year, and due to the $258,000,000 in Federal excise motor levies added to the annual tax burden, Mr. Waldon reported that the average per vehicle tax this year will be $49.74 as compared to $39.74 in 1931. He pointed out that this increase is in the face of a decline in registration of 800,000 last year and the outlook for a further drop of 1,500,000 during the current year.
