Relief for Unemployed Under Way

If plans of the Luzerne County Emergency Relief Board materialize before winter, Kingston township unemployed will be given opportunity for work by local school authorities, who are planning various improvement projects calculated to employ every unemployed man in the township in rotation. The extent of the funds available from the recently enacted Talbot Act will define the extent of work to be done here.

Township officials will be required to designate what sort of work the unemployed members of the community have been doing previous to their idleness so that when similar work becomes available they will be called upon to do it.

Earl Newhart, member of the school board brought the above mentioned project to the attention of the writer and is considering calling a meeting with the township supervisors to make plans. Mr. Newhart is greatly in favor of the plan, claiming that if the sum of money that is not used here it will be used elsewhere. He is seriously thinking of instituting a registration period at the Trucksville community hall during which all unemployed members of the community could register and make their needs known.

PENN STATE GIVES HINTS FOR FARMER

Improve Dairy Income

Culling out the low-producing cows from a dairy herd often changes the color of ink in the ledger from red to black. Where the range of production is wide culling out the lowest producers will reduce the income only a few dollars but there will be a decided decrease in feed costs.

Make Sauerkraut

Use firm, mature heads of cabbage for making sauerkraut. The cabbage should be shredded finely, placed in layers 4 to 6 inches deep in an earthenware jar, and each layer sprinkled with salt, 1 pound to 40 pounds of cabbage, and then packed before the next layer is added.

Store Vegetables Properly

Vegetables which are to be stored should be handled carefully, not allowed to freeze, stored at the right stage of maturity, and kept at fairly constant temperature and ventilation.

Feed Turkeys Wet Mash

If turkeys are fed a wet fattening mash for 10 days or 2 weeks before they are marketed they will fatten more easily and produce higher quality meat, say State College poultry specialists.

Keep Potatoes Safe

Seed potatoes dug carefully should then be stored where a low temperature can be maintained. These precautions will insure good keeping, prevent spread of disease, delay sprouting, and assure strong vitality when planted.

Maintain Efficient Dairy Production Machinery

By Prof. W. B. Krueck

Every year many dairy cows go into the stables in the fall and winter in low condition. Cattle that are stabled in the fall in poor flesh usually require more feed during the winter months and do not produce nearly as well as if the body condition had been maintained during the summer while out on pasture.

The fact that cows always respond with an increase flow in milk production when placed upon pasture in the spring has led many dairymen into difficulties in the fall and winter months. The palatability of early spring grass appealing to the appetite of the cow, in a great many cases has caused her to ignore her grain ration for some time and consequently the dairymen becomes discouraged and offers her nothing but grass.

Good dairymen always find that a cow will come back and consume the concentrate portion of her ration of the grains and the protein after they have been on pasture for a short time. There probably are two reasons for this. First of all, the palatability of the spring grass has disappeared and the ration is no longer new to her. Secondly, the grass becomes tougher, the fiber content increases and the cow is needing additional nutrients to maintain her body condition.

In many cases where cattle were turned upon pasture extremely early, at present they are furnished nothing more than a gymnasium, because all the grass is gone. Every day one can see cattle grazing upon tramped, burned pasture that is providing very little in the way of nutrition for the animal, consequently the animal body is becoming lowered in its efficiency.

The protein content of a summer ration need not be extremely high. A 16 per cent protein mixture for a dairy ration is sufficiently high for summer feeding. The amount fed may have to be increased as the season advances, depending a lot upon the weather conditions which have a great deal to do with influencing our pasture. Dairymen who consistently practice summer feeding always seem to be among those who are most successful financially in the dairy business.

Are You Tired Of

Taking the prize for length, is this baby boy's name, reported from Erie county: — "Anthonie George John Emile Vand der Star Den Hartogh." Just think of starting a boy off in life staggering under the weight of such a cognomen! Of course, when he grows up, he can just be "George Hartogh," but since all these names have been legally given him, he may have to go to law to be relieved of the burden.

Here's one from Lycoming county: "Montoursville Tisaquam Yellits!" From the Indian, evidently! And the girl born on Armistice Day in Wyoming county who will always carry the name of "Armistice M. Williams." While in remembrance of the Liberty Bond days is contained in the one from Cambria county — "United States Liberty Barrett." There's patriotism in that name — surely.

Attorney Keck dedicated to Mr. Gallagher an original poem, which ended with the stanza:

"Thus, O dearest spot, White Haven, Through thy long tradition runs,

The loyalty of thy lineage — the strong friendship of thy sons."
