Washington Bicentennial

Nation-wide educational contests, in the elementary schools, high schools and institutions of higher learning have been conducted by the Commission. More than two million American boys and girls have participated in these contests.

The Commission has distributed to the schools of America more than one million large-size lithographed copies of the Gilbert Stuart Athenaeum portrait of George Washington.

Every library in America received a copy of the Commission's special flag chart showing all the flags used in the Revolution. Every Post Office has received a large poster of Wakefield, Washington's birthplace.

More than one million copies of the George M. Cohan song, "Father of the Land We Love" were distributed. This song was written for the Commission by Mr. Cohan as his personal tribute to our First President.

A special Bicentennial quarter dollar was minted and put in general circulation. A special medal was also minted which the Commission awards for meritorious service in connection with the Celebration.

Our Post Office issued a series of twelve George Washington stamps to commemorate the Celebration.

The definitive Writings of George Washington are now being compiled and published. This is the most comprehensive undertaking on George Washington ever attempted. Twenty-five volumes will be required to complete this work.

Wakefield, the birthplace of George Washington, has been restored and turned over to the Government as a national shrine.

More than thirty million George Washington memorial trees have been planted since February 22.

The Commission collected practically all of the famous George Washington portraits which have been exhibited in the Corcoran Gallery of Art of Washington, D. C., during the Celebration. This is the first time that these famous portraits have been gathered under one roof.

Abroad, seventy-eight countries have participated in the Bicentennial Celebration. This was a spontaneous movement, without official invitation from our Government.

Twenty-six foreign cities have named streets, parks and squares for George Washington. In Germany alone four cities have renamed thoroughfares for George Washington.

The Government of Poland issued a special postage stamp in honor of the Bicentennial Celebration.

In Vienna a new municipal apartment house was named after George Washington.

The above includes but a few of the highlights of the Celebration. In every State, city and town in America, commemorative observances were held. Plays and pageants were produced, Bicentennial trees were planted, contests were conducted, meetings and parades were held.

The United States Bicentennial Commission in Washington hopes to gather all the reports of Bicentennial events from all over the world. Those responsible for these events should send complete reports immediately to the Commission. These will be published in Memorial Volumes of the Celebration and will be deposited in the leading libraries of America. Undoubtedly these Volumes will be a valuable addition to the Washingtonia now available.

The Grant was in the docks at Frisco when we arrived and will sail with us for Honolulu and on to China on the 17th of September.

Sept. 22. — Well at last I've settled down to write a little. I wasn't quite as selfish this time about feeding the fish. I offered them two good meals, and they gladly accepted. That was last Sunday. Here we are in Recruit Quarantine training camp where I expect to be for a month at least. I can't say much about the trip by boat, because we didn't see a boat or land until this morning, and really nothing of much interest happened.

Talk about a reception, we sure got it this morning as we were docking at Honolulu. About 50 army planes came to meet us. First came the little pursuit planes, then the observation bombers. Then three of the pursuit, some other and at last eleven suit planes did stunts while flying in close formation. While flying with wing tips about 10 feet apart they would loop and remain in that position through the entire maneuver. They flew around for about fifteen minutes and then went away. When we reached the docks there were about 200 officers and friends to meet the officers on the boat, and among the officers on the boat was General Gowen. They also had a large band to meet us. I just took a bath and feel good.

Sept. 25. — I have a couple of hours before church, so decided to finish when I started in the other letter. When we arrived at Honolulu we marched to the train, about a mile. The cars and the engine look like toys, when compared with those back home, but they go right along. It seems funny to get off a boat that stopped and started so smoothly and get on a train that bounces all around. We rode for about an hour before we got to Schofield Barracks, which Wheeler Field is a part of. The train did all kinds of fancy turns while coming up through the mountains, and on the way we saw more cactus than I ever saw before. Schofield is about 26 miles from Honolulu.

When we got off the train we were divided in our respective branches of service and sent to different training camps. There were only 42 in the Air Corps, and we all came here. When we arrived, after a mile and a half hike, we ate dinner and drew bed clothes, foot lockers and beds which we had to scrub off with gasoline before using. We sleep in troop tents, four men to a tent and plenty of room. We each have a wall locker beside the footlocker. One of my room mates is a United Brethren minister's son, a fine fellow, and two other fine fellows. We have as good a time and get along as good as any four fellows here.

We have to use mosquito netting over our bunks at night. We have single bunks. It's certainly nice to sleep nights here because it gets real cool, and we have the mountain air that makes a person feel swell. They are strict here. First call is at 6 a. m., and we stand Reveille at 6:10 and eat about 7:15. At night everybody must be in bed at 9 o'clock, and they come around to see that we are in bed. Every day for the next ten days we will have a physical inspection, and if any disease turns up we will be put in quarantine. Here I am, just back from church. We have another service tonight at 7. When we go to meals we all sit down and eat in peace. We get food of the best kind. At night everything is quiet and peaceful, and in the morning, at dawn, we can hear the roosters crowing out on the farms. There are quite a few planes here at the field. On the way out we passed the Navy base and they have a lot of boats of all kinds there. The officers are all very nice here. Guess I'll have to close for now and prepare for inspection to-

Miles mean little with todays improved roads, and each day, people come from afar to find better values at Gay Murrays. Only last week, two of our mechanics finished a new Steam Heat and Bath Room installation for William Harrington at Dupont. A successful installation is our best booster.

Mrs. Jay Tingley at Dimock is enjoying house work with a new Dockash. Besides 10 models of new ranges, we also have several good used ones at interesting prices.

With winter just around the corner, our sales of heating stoves shows no depression. Howard Armstrong of Centermoreland, John Carter of Bardwell, and Miss McCullom at Montrose were three of last weeks purchasers.
