

Educated Dog Pays Visit To Schools

Farmer Jones and his educated wonder dog, "Joe", of Muncie, Indiana, were in town Wednesday, where "Joe" entertained the townsfolk with his clever stunts and prowess at adding and subtracting numbers. Earlier in the day "Joe" entertained students of Kingston township schools at their morning chapel services. During the next few weeks "Joe" will also make his appearance at other schools in this vicinity.

"Joe" is a remarkable police dog. His master claims that he knows nothing of the dog's ancestry and that as far as he is aware "Joe" is just plain dog, but a dog with an education. Some years ago Farmer Jones picked "Joe" up at a municipal dog pound where he was being detained until some one claimed or until the authorities could painlessly put him out of the way. Farmer Jones liked the dog and "Joe" liked the farmer so they decided to cast their lot together. Since that time "Joe" has been the bread winner for the combination.

According to Farmer Jones, "Joe" was quick to learn. All of his education was completed in a period of about six months. That education includes all kinds of tricks in addition to his ability to multiply, add and subtract any numbers up to ten. "Joe" goes through his mathematics lesson with ease. Any one who meets him can ask him to add, subtract and multiply and "Joe" without a word from his master, will bark the answer.

WYOMING VALLEY

MOTORIST

Official Publication of the Wyoming Valley Motor Club

Reprinted From Times-Leader, February 4, 1933.

A MOTORIST ANNIVERSARY

The Wyoming Valley Motor Club is setting its anticipation forward toward May next when the observance of Every-member-get-a-member day will be celebrated. The magazine, and it continues to be creditable and attractive in the quality of its paper, its articles and illustrations, contains a reminder of this anniversary and also some statements which have a color of encouragement. It reports with considerable pride that though inevitably it has lost some members owing to the peculiar circumstances of the present still it has lost less than most. The local club does not purpose to put on a drive for members but instead to ask each member to gun around and pick up a recruit between now and May. Some prizes are mentioned.

In the article mentioned there are renewed arguments about membership. But the best argument appealing to members, non-members and all others is that through its greatly enlarged functioning of the past few years owing to the bigger membership, it has been able to exert a general influence that has reacted to the advantage of this entire community. That is saying it in a nutshell and without frills or additions. If anybody has hit old man D. Pression a hard blow, credit is due the fighting heart of this club which has added weight to these blows.
