MAKES RECORD IN PERCH STOCKING

Distribution of yellow perch, popular as a game and food fish with thousands of Pennsylvania fishermen, last year topped in number every other species, officials of the Fish Commission said today. Yellow perch numbering 390,774,992, and ranging in size from fry to ten inches, were stocked in lakes and streams of the State.

Development of an exceptionally large strain of yellow perch by the Fish Commission in regard to fish cultural circles as one of the outstanding accomplishments of modern fish culture. Brood stock from which the eggs are gathered is retained in large ponds at the hatcheries, and at spawning time, the eggs are gathered from specially constructed hatching pens. After hatching, the young fish are distributed to suitable waters.

Unexcelled as pan fish, yellow perch are popular with anglers because of the readiness with which they take bait. They bite freely at practically every season of the year and might well be termed "year round fish" as there is no closed season for this species.

FARM CALENDAR

Plant Hardy Materials
March is the time to plant hardy trees, shrubs, vines, and herbaceous perennials. This work can be done most conveniently now before other spring work crowds it out of the schedule.

Reduce Milk Costs
In spite of low prices for milk, the feeding of a balanced ration with grain in proportion to milk production still is the best practice. Milk is produced at the lowest cost by the best feeders.

Improve Celery Grown
Philadelphia county growers produce one-third of the Pennsylvania celery crop. Spraying with bordeaux mixture has become an economical practice in the control of blight with resulting improvement in yield and quality.

Plant Sugar Maples
The life and usefulness of an old sugar bush can be extended by filling in open spaces with young saplings 1 to 1 1/2 inches in diameter. These trees can be located now, pulled and transplanted early in April.

Learn New Methods
Each 4-H club member grows a garden, raises a calf or pig, keeps a flock of poultry, cans food, makes clothing, furnishes a room attractively, or carries on some other useful project. Club work educates the member in the use of new methods.

Plant In Rows
More vegetables can be grown in the garden if long rows are used. Raised beds and low paths waste space and cause the soil to dry out more quickly. Use a line to make the rows straight.

OUTLET TABERNACLE

There will be special services at Outlet Bible Tabernacle at Outlet, Friday evening, March 24th.

Miss Grace Bennett Missionary from South America will give her thrilling message at 7:30.
