One of the best, if not the best, daily newspapers now being published in Pennsylvania is the Philadelphia Record. When the depression struck, The Record faced a choice between strictest economy and careful spending or improving its product and giving its readers more for their money. It chose the latter course. Its editorial staff was built up with the addition of many capable writers, it became a fighting newspaper, honest, aggressive, liberal, fair. The success of its policy is attested by a circulation gain of more than 40,248 papers daily.

We quote here one of the Record's recent editorials on the condition of Unemployment Relief in the State. No intelligent observer can fail to be disgusted and disheartened at the way unemployment relief is being MIS-handled in Pennsylvania.

The stories of wealthy beggars who drive with tin cup-and-pencils in limousines to a street corner are paralleled by the conduct of this Commonwealth.

Hat in hand, the second wealthiest State in the Union has continued to beg alms at Washington WHILE MAKING NO HONEST EFFORT TO HELP ITS POOR.

The State of Pennsylvania, corrupt in politics and shamefully backward in its legislation, has too long been ruled by a clique of venal politicians at the service of private interests rather than public welfare.

Our politicians are competent enough for the routine tasks of handing out boodle to unscrupulous big business, and blocking social progress. But they have neither the brains nor the humanity to handle the present crisis.

If Mr. Grundy's Pennsylvania Manufacturers' Association, or General Atterbury's Pennsylvania Railroad, or Mr. Mellon's vast enterprises needed protection, the money would be found, action would be quick, legal quibbles would be brushed aside.

But since the need is not that of the powerful who pull the strings, but merely that of the humble who go like sheep to the ballot box, THE LEGISLATURE IS NOT INTERESTED.

Politicians well fed at the public trough find it a little difficult, perhaps a trifle boring, to worry about mass starvation and misery.

Servants of plutocracy to an extent almost unparalleled in any other State of the Union, our political leaders haven't time to worry about the needs of the common people, nor the intelligence to sense the dangerous consequences possible.

One man in the Vane Organization, Senator Salus, honestly tried to do his bit for the jobless—but he quit in disgust when the gang wouldn't back him up.

Pinchot and the Organization have been busy belaboring each other with wordy bladders, like low comedians in a burlesque show.

Both have been quick to make political capital out of the other's shortcomings, but neither has proposed to raise more than $10,000,000 a year, although $75,000,000 to $125,000,000 is needed.

The Governor, exploiting a liberalism that grows more insincere every year, has talked eloquently of the people's needs, but he still refuses to give the poor a nickel from the $104,000,000 highway fund that means political patronage for the rural lieutenants of the Pinchot-Grundy combine.

The fact that the liberal, Pinchot, is allied politically with the arch-reactionary, Grundy, is evidence enough of how little may be expected from that quarter.

The Philadelphia Organization, anxious to avoid enactment of the Pinchot program (which would deprive them of tax collection patronage), is now striking a noble pose as friend of the poor.

Auditor General Waters, never yet very excited about the plight of the unemployed, suddenly leaps into the limelight with a demand that the $14,000,000 available from the Dorrance estate be appropriated immediately for relief.

Since that $14,000,000 already figures in the Pinchot budget for the biennium, this appropriation would give the Organization a splendid excuse to prune Pinchot followers from the State payroll.

Whatever his motive, Waters' idea is a good one. By all means use that $14,000,000 for relief.

Both sides are exploiting the relief issue for political advantage, BUT NEITHER HAS AN ADEQUATE PROGRAM FOR RELIEF.

Neither has the courage to declare for a major diversion of funds from highway building, an outrageous luxury in times like these.

Neither will fight for an emergency income tax to raise funds for the jobless.

LETTERS to the Editor

Shavertown, Pa.

Dear Sirs:—

Shavertown is growing in spite of the depression. Several residences were completed last year. Three fine homes are being finished now; and four are in process of erection. Every Shavertown citizen should favor a reduction of taxes, public welfare, attractive streets and public safety. Shavertown is a village of residence, no mines, no factories. We have three church organizations and two others just on border lines. It is asserted that a borough would necessitate many additional officers with increased taxation. Dallas has been a borough more than fifty years and does not pay its burress any salary. Its solicitor's salary is $100. The secretary is also the secretary of the Board of health and prepares the tax duplicates for $150. The health officer gets at present ten dollars per month. A policeman gets $7.50 per month. This is necessitated largely because there is only one thoroughfare through the borough. Shavertown paid last year to the Kingston township supervisors for attorney $37.50, for auditors $35.50, and $156.00 for other overhead. The supervisors expense would not be charged to the borough road commissioner. He would be paid his wages and would be amenable to the borough council for his designated work. We are now paying eleven mills tax for roads and lights. Seven mills tax spent only in Shavertown would give us better roads, more lights and more than pay all necessary borough expenses.

Glen Kitchen and Mr. and Mrs. Alford Harvey of Scranton spent last week-end in Washington, D. C. They were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Kitchen.

Neither will tax politically powerful interests to feed the hungry.

Both would like to snatch funds from the air, or beg them from Washington.

The Organization would like nothing better than to appropriate for relief by cutting into hospitals and social welfare.

Pennsylvania MUST raise at least $50,000,000 a year for relief.

Pennsylvania CAN raise $50,000,000 overnight by highway fund diversions and transfer of the Dorrance tax payment. Then it can levy an emergency income tax for next year.

The eyes of the masses are finally open to the political fourflushers who milk them in good times and cast them off in bad.
