SHAVERTOWN

This year sees our "CORNERSTONE" for the first time with a well organized and we hope efficient staff. They were chosen by competition in essay, editorial, or story writing, which method seemed the fairest to the students themselves. Their standing on the staff depends wholly on the merit of their writings in respect to the competitors of the same classes. Here's to the new management!

CORNERSTONE STAFF

BEAUMONT Report Cards

The Thanksgiving holidays mark the end of the first semester of school. Report cards are issued at the end of each of these six weeks' sessions.

What does the report card mean to the average parent? We are not sure of the answer. I am positive it could mean a great deal more. To some parents it is the only teacher-parent link. In case you happen to be that type of parent, allow me to enter this precaution. If your child's marks are low, that is below B, check up on how he spends his leisure time at home, watch his study habits. Is he attending school regularly? These are important to the success of your child. Habits developed during his school days have a great deal to do with his success or failure in after life.

Water Important In Hen's Feeding

Expert Stresses Need For Giving Poultry All Water They Desire

By A. G. Philips

Formerly professor in charge Poultry Husbandry Purdue University.

Water is the cheapest feed that can be offered to poultry. Water is a feed and should be so considered by poultrymen because it is needed for body maintenance and egg production.

Both the hen's body and the whole egg contain about sixty-five per cent of water, and this percentage does not vary. With this fact in mind it can easily be seen that a shortage of water supply to a laying flock must naturally reflect itself in a lessening of egg production and possibly the egg size.

It takes a lot of water to satisfy the needs of poultry. One laying pullet will consume about one-third of a pint or one-third of a pound of water per day. This means that at least four gallons of water will be consumed by one hundred birds each day or six tons in one year. Giving consideration to exaporation and waste it will be wise to provide water capacity for at least five gallons for each one hundred laying birds.

Water consumption should be encouraged and the flock management so planned that it will be clean palatable, and always easily available. To do, Electric heaters are practical
