Sew, and Reap These Splendid Creations!

THERE'S MANY A SLIP BUT THIS ONE, TOGETHER WITH ACCOMPANYING GOWNS, HAS SPECIAL APPEAL

NOTHING lends enchantment to the moments spent in one's boudoir like lovely undergarments and negligee. A slip that's infinitely easy to make, and one that you'll enjoy creating, is that pictured as Pattern 163.

Worn under your early fall frocks, it will assure good figure lines. The squares pictured at the top of the slip may be made of lace, if desired. Silk, satin, and jersey are materials recommended for the garment.

It is designed in sizes 14, 16, 18 and 20 (with corresponding bust measures of 32, 34, 36 and 38) and also in 40 and 42. Size 18 requires 21/2 yards of 39inch material plus 1 yard of 7-inch lace for the yoke squares and 1 yard of ribbon for the shoulder straps.

Two lovely gowns that can be made in either cotton or silk crepe are Patterns 149 and 150. Each is comfortable and easy to fashion. Pattern 149 is designed in four sizes: Small, 34-36; medium, 38-40; large, 42-44; extra large, 46-48. Size medium requires 4 yards of 35-inch material.

Pattern 150 is designed in five sizes: 11, 13, 15, 17 and 19, with corresponding bust measures of 29, 31, 33, 35 and 37. Size 13 calls for 31/2 yards of 35-inch material.

FASHION BUREAU,

103 Park Ave., New York City.

With this coupon, which I clipped from

I am enclosing ...... cents. Please send me the patterns listed below at 15 cents a pattern:

163..... Size ..... 149..... Size ..... 150...... Size .....

Address ..... City ...... State .....

nue, New York City, N. Y.

Clip Out and Mail This Order Blank for Patterns

..... (Name of Newspaper)

Pattern number:

Name .....

Write your name and address plainly, giving number and size of patterns you want. Enclose 15 cents in coin for each number, and mail your order to The Dallas Post Fashion Bureau, 103 Park Ave-

By EMILY POST, Author of "ETIQUETTE," "THE BLUE BOOK OF SOCIAL USAGE," etc.

VALUES FAR ABOVE MONEY

Good Taste Today

DEAR Mrs. Post: We are invited out a great deal, and why, I don't cause we have so far not been able to return anything. We do send candy, or sometimes flowers, and a book to people we know like these particular things, but outside of that we can't return their dinner, week-end and theater invitations. Ought we to stop accepting those? Oh, if only we had more money!

Answer: One need never return invitation for invitation. The only thing that matters is to show our appreciation of the kindness shown us in the best way we can. In other words, by the book, candy, flowers, or by things costing time and thought and heart, which are often more valuable than things costing merely money. Nor is it at all necessary to feel that you are unable to give a party. Remember that a young couple living in a single room, which has a folding sofa-bed, so that the room can be made into the semblance of a sitting room, can perfectly well ask friends they care for (after all, others are of small importance) to come to their "home-in-a-

Where people do things with modest hospitality, and fail, it is not because of their stinted means, but because they entirely overlook the fundamental fact that the success of a party is far more dependent upon the spirit of hospitality-actually the spirit of friendliness—than it is upon lavishness of provision.

Would you know the real secret of successful party-giving? It has not a thing in the world to do with money. It is simply the gift of never outgrowing a child's imagination. In other words, the spirit of "let's pretend" that enters into the play of all children. Unless you can enter into the spirit of this hospitality, unless you can delight to have the friends you like share your festival, your party-even though it be given in a palace with rows of lackeys and a ton of choicest viandswill be but a heavy procession of overrichly laden minutes. Whereas, if the enthusiasm of your welcome springs from innate friendliness-from joy in furthering the delight of good fellowship beneath your own roof-you need never doubt that those who have accepted your hospitality once will not eagerly look forward to doing so again

© by Emily Post.-WNU Service.

DALLAS POST CLASSIFIED ADS PAY GET RESULTS

Hezekiah Pleads for Reform

STUDYING the sermons of the prophets Amos, Hosea and Micah, we can sense that behind them when the nation had suffered deand truth into their national and conquering Assyria.

eras when men were fathers. aroused to a sense of their condihigher plane.

the time of the Passover—a time him and who seek his blessing. sacred in the life and tradition of to serve his purposes.

ought to have been leading in sade. that celebration, were not suffi-

IT was under these circum-stances that Hezekiah rallied we build the hope of mankind. The world has never reached in sincerity and in repentance.
So the message went forth The influences that created a

Text: II Chronicles 30:1-9, 13 | the most southern. It was a The International Uniform Sunday School Lesson for Sept. 9 message of appeal to the people to turn to the Lord and to consecrate themselves to the rebuilding of the nation in righteousness

lay the failure of the people to live | feat in war and when many had properly, and to incorporate justice been carried off into captivity by

In his message to the people, If we have throughout history Hezekiah reminds them of these the tragic evidences of failure in things. He assures them that evil personal and social life, we have, has fallen upon the nation bealso, thank God, the record of cause of the sinfulness of their

He appeals to them not to be tion, and when, under divine in- stiff-necked like those who had fluence and prophetic leadership, pursued their own perverse way, they purged their souls from sin but to sanctify themselves and to and re-established life upon the serve the Lord. Along with this Hezekiah assures the people of It is one of these great epochs, the Lord's graciousness and meror movements for reform, with cy, that he will not turn his face which our lesson deals. It was away from those who will turn to

Israel that marked essentially God's protection and guidance of Multitudes of people came to the people and his choice of them keep the feast of unleavened bread, ready and willing to re-Yet the priests themselves, who spond to the call of a new cru-

It is the capacity for repentciently sanctified-a lack of cere- ance, for retracing the ways where monial purification that, possibly, he has gone astray; it is the fact symbolized a condition of heart. that God never casts away those who will turn to him, upon which the leaders of Israel and Judah so dark a condition of degradato Jerusalem with the people that tion and seeming despair but the they might observe the Passover divine spark in man has fanned

The influences that created a from the king and his supporters revival in Israel are powerful to throughout all Israel and Judah, create a revival again whenever from Dan to Beersheba; that is, and wherever prophetic leaders from the most northern city tocan set them at work.

Robbers' Roost

(Continued from Page 9)

and he had opened his mouth to shout the good tidings when something checked him.

He rubbed his eyes and looked again. Three riders: Assuming that two of them were Hays and Latimer, who could the third be? They disappeared behind a corner of bank. Jim sank down in a cold sweat. Perhaps these men were Indians or strangers from Hankville, or prospectors. But he had not seen any pack animals.

After a long, anxious watch he saw the three reappear in the wash, considerably closer. The one in the middle rode a gray horse and otherwise contrasted sharply with the dark ment a hell rioted in Jim Wall's mounts and dark clothes of the other | breast. How he cursed himself for a two. A second time the trio disappeared. Smoky was peering about in a desultory manner, but he was too low down to sight the riders. Jim was now shaking. An awful premonition attacked him. He had met it and almost overcome it as another unaccountable attack of nerves when the foremost horseman emerged from behind a bank. He recognized the stalwart figure, the wide, black sombrero, the poise in the saddle. That was Hank Hays.

Jim scarcely dared shift his gaze back to the second rider, but he was irresistibly forced to. A slight figure in tan, drooping in the saddle! "So help me!" he whispered, and sank down on the stone. That center rider was Helen Herrick. For a mo-

The Story of the Bible Told in Pictures

Murder of Abel and Curse of Cain .- Cain was a tiller of the land, but Abel was a keeper of sheep. Both brought offerings to the Lord, Cain the fruit of the ground and Abel the firstlings of his flock, their sacrifices being shown in the right background of this picture. According to Gen. 4: 4-5, the Lord approved of Abel's offering, but disapproved of Cain's offering. Jealousy sprang up in Cain's heart toward his brother, Abel, and he rose up against Abel and killed him, the scene recorded in Gen. 4: 8 being graphically portrayed in the left foreground of this picture. God cursed Cain and the Bible's first murderer became a wanderer upon the face of the earth. One of a series of Bible pictures by Merian, Seventeenth century engraver.

vacillating idiot! His intuition had robber leader's behavior at Star ranch. But like a fool he had not trusted himself. Jim grew cold to his very marrow. Yet his intelligence did not wholly succumb to his fury. He strove to would wait. think. This hound had gotten Helen, spot? That gave Jim Wall pause. come upon Jim suddenly it would have been right. He had seen through this | Hays' men would roar at this deal, in- been his doom. volving them in the abduction of a far as to resist him with arms. Jim up their ears. crushed down his deadly impulse. He

Well indeed had it been for Jim to keen as a horse. just how, it was useless to conjecture. espy this trio long before they reached But to kill him then, right on the him. He had time to recover, to think sharply. He leaped up. what was best. If Hank Hays had

One of the pack animals neighed woman, still they would hardly go so shrilly and then all the horses stuck

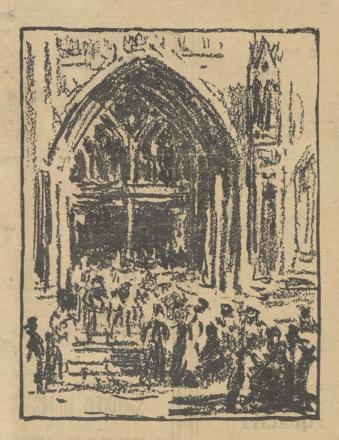

"Say, I heerd a hoss-shoe ring on a stone," called Mac, who had ears as

"What's that?" queried Smoky,

(Continued Next Week)

Friendly Contacts

MEN and women of character, men and women of high community standing, gather together on the Sabbath in the House of God. There they not only receive spiritual inspiration but also share with each other the warmth of friendship. You, too, will meet worth-while friends in church.

Come To Church Sunday

This advertisement was prepared and is contributed by The Dallas Post, Inc., in the interest of the churches of all denominations in the Back Mountain Region.