Congress shall make no law abridging the freedom of speech, or of Press.—From the first amendment to the Constitution of the United States.

THE DALLAS POST PROGRAM THE DALLAS POST will lend its support and offers the use of its columns to all projects which will help this community and the great rural-suburban territory...

For two years now there has been a minimum of political controversy in the affairs of Dallas School Board. Any minor differences of opinion have been settled without involving the entire community.

BWARE OF POLITICS

The schools here will be catapulted into a political battle similar to those which have done great damage to the local system before.

Dallas has entrusted the conduct of its schools to certain directors. If they fail in their duty there are electoral provisions for replacing them with directors who the community feels might do better.

We do not favor dictatorships which over-ride public opinion, but on the other hand we are confident that the success of any school district rests upon its detachment from peanut politics.

In any controversy which does arise, let's consider the welfare of our schools above any narrow prejudices. Let's forget on which side of the political fence we stand and judge the question on its own merits.

There is in Dallas today a better feeling of harmony and accord among business men than there has been in some years. It is a condition which warms the hearts of those public-spirited men who have long felt that the lack of organization here was having a decided effect on general business conditions.

DALLAS GETS TOGETHER The current trade expansion program will, of course, be only a temporary thing but it will serve as a bond to unite the merchants for more permanent affiliation.

Another encouraging factor is the formation of the new Business Men's Association, with Peter Clark, one of the most aggressive and popular residents of the borough, as president.

All in all, the business men of Dallas are to be commended highly and congratulated.

Nature is repeating herself. Last year she brought the greatest drought in history to the great American mid-west, turned millions of acres of rich wheat land to desert.

As if that lesson weren't severe enough, Nature is again menacing crops—dust clouds recently swept day after day across the vast mid-west wheat country.

The Secretary of Agriculture has removed certain restriction on the planting of spring wheat. This is expected to cause a rise of from 10 to 30 million bushel in the normal spring crop.

Although he climbed a 50-foot tower and "skinned the cat" on his 95th birthday, Dr. Edwin Osbaldeston of New Jersey is mindful of the uncertainty of life and is shopping around for a cheap funeral.

American Legion Post Organized

Definite plans for the organization of a Post of the American Legion were made at a meeting of World War veterans in Dallas on Wednesday night.

An organization meeting for the nomination, election and installation of officers will be held next Friday night, April 19 in the borough building in Dallas.

All World War veterans who live in this region have been invited to attend. Members of the committee in charge urge that all veterans, whether they have received a written notice or not, make it a point to be present.

Charles S. Cook, of the Pennsylvania State Police, Commander of the Twelfth District of the American Legion will be the speaker.

Play Postponed

Schindeler Opens New Bakery Here

New Addition To Borough's Business Section Welcomed

A new business enterprise is welcomed to Dallas this week with the opening on Saturday of the Schindeler Bakery in the Sullivan building on Main street.

During the past several weeks the store room has been completely renovated and re-decorated. Bake ovens, electric mixers, steam plant and all of the other equipment necessary to a modern bakery have been installed in the rear of the building while the front will be used as a display and sales room.

The new bakery will be in charge of John W. Schindeler of Scranton, who expects to move here with his wife and eleven year old son within the next few weeks. Mr. Schindeler has been engaged in the baking business in this country for the past twelve years having come here from Holland.

In commenting on his location, Mr. Schindeler says that he has signed a five-year lease on the building and that he expects to have a bakery truck on the road starting Monday.

Township Board Names 4 Teachers

Dallas Township School Board named four new teachers at its meeting on Monday night. Three of the teachers will be assigned to elementary grades and one was appointed for the home economics course in the high school.

Old Paper May Be Original

Garfield has been expressed clearly in the Southern States and in Europe. The courts of kings and queens were clad in mourning, the bells of English rural churches tolled, memorial services were held in great cathedrals, and European newspapers, with every sign of grief, discussed with sympathy and intelligence the pathetic event.

There is a prophetic note struck in the editorial entitled "Pennsylvania Politics". The Weekly deplors political organizations which stifle differences of opinion and concludes: "Independent Republicans know the necessity of organization quite as well as 'boss' Republicans, but they will not support a venal despotism on the ground that government is indispensable. It is 'bossism', not opposition to it, which endangers the Republican party, and while the question of fighting it within the party is one to be carefully considered, it must not be forgotten that to play politics with a boss is to throw with the gambler whose dice are loaded."

Among the other old papers entered in the contest was a torn and tattered Wilkes-Barre Record dated May 31, 1884, and giving an account of the Memorial Day parade in Wilkes-Barre, and a North Christian Advocate for a date in 1887.

Next Tuesday the contest will be won by the youngest married couple to visit the Post.

60 Local Contestants

The day was a busy one for the seven stores sponsoring the campaign and for the contestants who were out to gain an early advantage in the contest.

The oldest woman to brave Tuesday's storm was Mrs. Durland from Shavertown, who is 89 years and eight months young. She was presented at Dallas Dairy by Mrs. Harold Rood, one of the leading contestants.

The tallest man to enter Gregory's Store was E. Wagner of Dallas, who measures six feet, five inches. He was taken to Gregory's by Mrs. William Niemeyer, who was one of the most alert contestants on Tuesday.

Robert Hislop, Jr., another outstanding entry, won the 10,000 free votes at Devens Milling Co. because he introduced the youngest grandmother, his mother, Mrs. Nellie Hislop, aged 40.

The largest hen's egg was taken to Frantz's Grocery Store by Robert Eipper, one of the most youthful but one of the most aggressive of the contestants. The egg, owned by Leslie Moss of Star Route, Dallas, weighed five and three-quarter ounces. A number of surprisingly large eggs were entered.

The oldest licensed driver to appear at Oliver's Garage was Robert Cox of Trucksville, 75 years and six months old. Robert Hislop, Jr., was the winning contestant there.

For some reason—perhaps the slender diet of depression days—there was a notable lack of heavy men at B. and B. Supply Co., where the prize was to be given to the heaviest man. Not a single entry was received.

One hundred thousand free votes and surprise gifts were awarded to the winners in each contest.

The contests for next Tuesday follow:

B. & B. Supply Co.—100,000 votes and a surprise gift to the lightest weight man over 21 years.

Devens Milling Co.—100,000 votes and a surprise gift to the youngest twins visiting the mill.

Oliver's Garage—100,000 votes and a surprise gift to the man driving the oldest car visiting the garage.

Charles B. Gregory—100,000 votes and a surprise gift to the man over 21 wearing the largest hat visiting the store.

Dallas Dairy—100,000 votes and a surprise gift to the oldest man visiting the dairy.

C. A. Frantz's Store—100,000 votes and a surprise gift to the person bringing in the largest potato.

The Dallas Post, Inc.—100,000 votes and a surprise gift to the youngest married couple visiting the plant.

On next Tuesday anyone over sixteen years of age will be permitted to go to any of the firms sponsoring the campaign and will receive 5,000 free votes for every mile they live from Dallas up to the 25-mile limit. Those living in Dallas will receive 5,000 free votes.

'Forty Days' Subject Of Misericordia Talk

Franz Werfer's current best-seller "The Forty Days of Musa Dagh" will be discussed by Mrs. Salo Friedewald of Scranton on Sunday afternoon, April 28, at College Misericordia.

The book, which has received high praise from critics, relates a little-known but stirring episode of the World War, the efforts of a small group of peasant folk who refused to submit to enemy rule and who fled to a great mountain where they resisted attack for forty days.

Local Inn Under New Management

Colonial Inn, one of the most delightful eating places in this section, will open under new management tomorrow, Saturday, Mrs. Grace Wieser Rhodes, the new proprietor, announced yesterday.
