Fire Company Gets Lease On Building

Borough Council Transacts Routine Business At Meeting

No important business came before Dallas Borough Council at its meeting on Tuesday night but a volume of routine business was transacted. Upon request of Ira Cooke, council agreed to give Henry M. Laing Fire Co. a lease for the hose house in order to safeguard the valuable equipment ment owned by the company. Mr. Cooke explained that frequent people without authority enter the building and tamper with the equipment. The secretary was instructed to arrange for a conference with representatives of the American Municipal Association of Harrisburg, which advises municipal officers with regard to Federal projects. Repairs were ordered made to Wyoming Avenue, bills were ordered paid, and the treasurer's report was received and approved. Permission to construct a temporary building at Main Street and Machell Avenue was granted to Mr. Karns and a permit for repairs and an addition to A. N. Garinger's property on Lake Street was granted. Arthur Dungey, tax collector, presented a list of persons who are unable to pay their taxes and who desire to work them out.

beside him. About thirty feet away he shook hands with us at the end of his prayer we asked him to tell us the story behind the incident. Briefly, it is this. About thirty years ago he was converted and shortly after he began to feel the need for communion. Since he lived in Pittston and Campbell's Ledge was close by he began the custom of climbing the ledge to worship. He mentioned his altar to a few friends and they asked if they might accompany him. Gradually, the little altar under the sky began to be known. But here's the real story. In the thirty years during which the man has been climbing Campbell's Ledge hundreds of people have knelt with him beside the rock and scores of them have decided there to devote their lives to ministerial or missionary work. The result is that today the fraternity of the altar is scattered to the four corners of the globe. Young men who went through some emotional conflict at that altar are now serving in Timbuctoo, China, India, Greenland—to mention only a few of the missionary posts the man told us. We should like to think that some day they might be permitted to come back from the distant outposts—over deserts and oceans and unexplored mountain ranges—to kneel together again at the altar and report their work. And as we said good-bye to our friend we couldn't help but think of another prayer on another mountain a long time ago.

Kingston Township Graduation June 4

Directors Approve List And Transact School Business

Commencement exercises at Kingston Township will be held on June 4, according to plans approved by members of the school board at their meeting on Tuesday night. Class Day will be on May 29 and the baccalaureate sermon on Sunday, June 2. Directors Elected Howard Appleton treasurer for the year beginning July 1, at a salary of $250 per year, Luzerne National Bank will be the depositor. Coal contracts were awarded to Lloyd Huey of Trucksville at his price of $3.60 per ton of buckwheat and Harry Still of Shavertown for his bid of $8 per ton of chestnut. Awarding of contracts for supplies was postponed, although bids were opened. Mack and Sahn, architects, presented plans for the proposed addition to Trucksville High School. The plans will be discussed later. The firm of architects also estimated that repairs and painting at the Shavertown building will cost $1,039.52 for labor and $536.64 for material. Federal aid will be sought. Insurance policies were delivered according to a new schedule made by D. L. Edwards of Mt. Greenwood, effecting a saving of about 35c a hundred as a result of the readjustment. A total of $187,500 in insurance is carried by the district. Dr. G. L. Howell of Trucksville presented a bill which was taken under consideration for action later.

Four Will Attend Lehigh Conference

Heads Of Local Students' Publication To Hear Journalists

Four representatives of the Blue & Gold, student publication of Dallas High School, will attend the second annual Scholastic Press Conference at Lehigh University on Saturday, May 11. The Blue & Gold's delegates are William Dix, editor; Robert Hull, business manager; Alexander McCullough, associate editor; and Gerald Sullivan, sports editor. A total of 454 students and faculty advisers from 133 high schools and preparatory school newspapers and magazines in Pennsylvania and New Jersey are expected to attend. Publications from 193 schools are entered in the nine classifications of the contest, results of which will be announced at the closing session on Saturday afternoon. Eighteen bronze plaques will be awarded to first and second-place winners in each class. Certificates of honorable mention will be given to other deserving papers. Speakers at the conference will include Dr. Neil Carothers, director of Lehigh's College of Business Administration; C. William Duncan, columnist for the Philadelphia Evening Ledger; J. A. Barnett, of the New York Herald Tribune; Harold B. Farquhar, editor of the Bethlehem Globe-Times, and Dr. Natt M. Emery, vice president of Lehigh.

Local Man Figures In City Accident

George S. Sawyer, 45, of Church Street, Dallas, assistant chief engineer of Spring Brook Water Co., suffered painful lacerations of the back, bruises and cuts last Saturday, at 11 a. m., when he was struck by an automobile at West Market and River Streets, Wilkes-Barre.

Mr. Sawyer, with other employees of the company, was surveying in the street to secure location of gates for the water main when the accident occurred. He was placed in the car which struck him and rushed to Wilkes-Barre General Hospital for treatment.

The driver of the machine, an Inkerman man, was released under bail.

Mr. Sawyer's condition is improving slowly, but he will not be able to leave the private hospital for a week and probably will have to remain home for a while. He wants to thank all his friends for their well wishes and evidences of kindness.
