

TWENTY YEARS A HYPNOTIST, ROBERTS EXPLAINS TALENTS

Robert D. Roberts, who has hypnotized more persons in this section of Pennsylvania than all other hypnotists during the past twenty years, believes his profession is one of the least understood and one of the most fascinating there is.

Mr. Roberts is best known for the interesting entertainments he has been staging for years at theatres, schools, churches, clubs, lodges, banquets, parks, minstrel shows and night clubs, where he has hypnotized scores of different types of men and women.

But there is comparatively little known of his experiments with hypnotism as an agent in bringing about, through suggestion, all sorts of amazing results.

He has, for example, caused habitual cigarette smokers to grow sick at the sight of a cigarette and break off the habit permanently. He has made a Grand Opera singer who hated the taste of onions relish them. He has removed the pain from neuralgia, toothache, or a sore corn. He has scores of witnesses to testify to the results and permanency of these experiments.

Mr. Roberts, of course, does not pretend to cure any illness. In his experiments, which, generally are requested by people who come to Mr. Roberts, he stresses that relief from pain does not remove the cause of the injury. Only careful medical treatment can do that. His realm is the mental, not the physical.

The word hypnotism, he explains, is derived from the Greek "hypnos" meaning sleep. This sleep, known as hypnosis, is induced in various ways, susceptibility to suggestion being the most important factor.

Everyone cannot be hypnotized. Some persons are not susceptible. But from 80 to 90 per cent of people can be hypnotized if they do not resist. It is possible for a man to be hypnotized against his will but it requires more effort than a hypnotist usually employs and the stunt is an infrequent one.

Mr. Roberts explains that the thinking provoked by hypnotism harms the mind no more than exercise injures a workman's muscles. Concentration always strengthens the mind. Feeble-minded people cannot be hypnotized.

Chiefly, hypnotism's benefits are used to bring relaxation and sleep to those who need rest. It can be used to banish pain, not only while the hypnotic state exists but after it ends.

Mr. Roberts, who lives in Kingston and has a wide acquaintance throughout this section, will be among the entertainers on Tuesday night, May 21, in Kingston Township High School. His exhibition will be one of the feature attractions of Scott's Ensemble, an entertainment which will be sponsored by Kingston Township Unemployed League, Branch 22.

Enemies Of Tent Caterpillar-Arise!

Trees and Shrubs Menaced By Presence Of Eggs

The probability of heavy damage by the tent caterpillar in this section of Pennsylvania this spring, is indicated by the presence of numerous eggs of this insect on favored trees, according to the State entomologists.

These eggs will hatch about the middle of April and the small worms will begin to feed on the leaves of such trees as wild cherry, apple and plum.

Each egg mass contains from three to four hundred eggs. The worms are social in nature forming a "tent" which is a familiar sight along roadsides in orchards, and along fence rows during May and June. As the worms increase in size, the tent is increased to accommodate the colony.

The eastern tent caterpillar is held in check by many natural enemies which accounts for the scarcity of the insect during certain years and in some districts. A New Jersey authority is quoted as saying that 1935 may be the peak year for this pest due to lack of control by natural enemies.

To safeguard valuable shade trees, the entomologists recommend a spray of one and one-half pounds of arsenate of lead to fifty gallons of water which should be applied just as soon as the white tents are noticed in the small crotches of the tree. Burning the nests with a flaming torch is sometimes practiced but this method of control is too damaging to the bark of the tree to be recommended. Tents, caterpillars and all may be successfully removed from the tree by grasping with the hand or twisting on a forked stick. The caterpillar should then be crushed. This should be done on cool, wet days when the caterpillars are in the tent.

CCC Army Completes Two Year's Forest Work

Harrisburg, May 9. — Pennsylvania's greatest peace-time army, the Civilian Conservation Corps, finished its second year of enlistment last month.

Enrolled two years ago for Emergency Conservation Work under Washington's huge work relief program, the State's battalion of the vast CCC organization completed 4,806,573 man days of work during this period, statistics just compiled by the Department of Forests and Waters disclose.

This huge total of man days worked was accomplished by a basic enrollment quota of 17,000 in eighty-five camps located throughout the State.

The projects undertaken during the encampment included such important activities as reforestation, forest fire prevention, road and trail clearings, water system installation, insect pest control, bridge construction, stream improvement, and fish and recreational dam building.

How the 4,806,573 man days were expended in Pennsylvania during the past two years are given in the table below:
