IT'S A FACT . . .

By Elmer E. Matthews, Supt. Wilkes-Barre General Hospital

Sick or well, people must eat. And the sick in the 291 hospitals in Pennsylvania consume about 45,000 tons of food a year. That "snack" costs about $10,000,000.

That gigantic annual meal consists of 4,000,000 dozens of eggs, 3,000,000 pounds of butter, 7,500,000 quarts of milk and cream, 1,500,000 quarts of ice cream, 8,000 tons of meats, fowl and fish, 1,000,000 pounds of coffee, besides vegetables, bread, rolls and other foods.

Part of that food goes into nearly 3,000,000 special "prescription" meals in a year. There's as much science in those special diets as there is in a delicate druggist's prescription. Compare that with a typical hospital meal of 100 years ago. Three times a day those ancient patients got a pint of coffee or chocolate and a quarter pound of bread. Once a day they got a pint of soup and a quarter pound of meat.

No wonder scientific hospital meals are more costly. And six out of every ten patients can't afford to pay a cent. So out of that $10,000,000 yearly cost for food close to $6,000,000 is spent on the poor.

That's only one item the hospital contributes to charity.

Alpine Sports In As Winter Reigns

Ice Already Foot Thick On Several Local Ponds

Skiing, skating and coasting were in full swing here this week as the mercury continued to hover about zero.

Although recent snowfalls were not heavy, snow continues to cling to the ground throughout this section and forecasts of more snow before the end of the week indicates that winter sports will be in vogue for some time. At several times snow in the Valley has melted but the Dallas area has not been entirely without snow for a month and a half.

Skating is good at Harvey's Lake in spots where the snow has been cleared. Earl's pond in Trucksville, and Johnson's and Youngblood's are in good condition. Toby's Creek generally is too rough for good skating but there are small pools where younger children are enjoying the sport. At Fernbrook the Payne Dam is being put to use and there are crowds almost every evening at Lake Silkworth.

Temperatures continued to hover about zero, the coldest mark having been reached on Monday night when the mercury dropped six degrees below zero.

FATHER DEAD

Guy S. Greenman, 72, father of Leland S. Weyhemeyer of Dallas, died on Friday night at his home in Harrisburg. He was a former executive of the Sheldon Axle Works. Another son, Earle R., now of New York, worked in Dallas as an auditor for several months in 1933.

Garet Cule, spent Christmas in Kingston with their brother, Mr. Jones.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward E. Anderson of Dallas spent their Christmas at Plains, Pa., with Mrs. Anderson's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lenahan.

The Christmas pageant at the Lutheran church was excellent, and largely attended. Rev. G. E. Ruff gave a splendid oration.

Misses Sarah and Ruth Bray spent Christmas with their parents Mr. and Mrs. Calab Bray at Ruggles. They are graduate nurses from the Nesbitt Hospital at Kingston.

Miss Pauline, Elsie and Jean Ourey spent Christmas with their Grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. George Anderson. They also visited Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Kocher and Herbert Mayer and family.

Mr. and Mrs. I. A. Rood, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Rood, Vernon Rood, and Mr. and Mrs. Albert Abbott spent Sunday with Mrs. Rood's mother, Mrs. Evelyn Kocher, where they enjoyed a family dinner.

Mr. and Mrs. Otto Beiry from Wilkes-Barre, and children Barbara and Agnes spent Christmas with Mr. Beiry's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Beiry, at Alderson.
