Woman's Goal Is "Forever Young," Says Authoress.

The one thing most women want out of life is to stay forever young.

That's according to a statement just made by Elaine Sterne Carrington, world-famous novelist and magazine writer. For twenty years women have been writing her letters—she has received thousands of them. And from a study of these letters she has received, Mrs. Carrington says: "The one thing that the greatest number of women want is to stay forever young."

Thus she tops her list of ten things women want most with "Forever Young." Second on her list is "to keep my romance unending." Third deals with women's desire to attain beauty or to retain their beauty if they have it. Fourth is their wish for health.

Women, she also finds, would sooner be charming than intelligent, for, she says, the study of her fan mail from thousands of women shows that the desire for charm rates fifth and for brains ninth. Sixth in ranking comes the wish for children.

Seventh is the wish that "I may always appear well-groomed and have a smart personal appearance." Eighth is "an attractive home always," and tenth, and last on her list, is "financial security."

"Not," says Mrs. Carrington, "that any woman is not greatly interested in financial security, but that she seems to feel that with the other possessions, she will manage somehow to have that."

But the list is headed by "forever young."

Horner Opposes Cut Of Education Costs

Believes Scholars And Not Athletes Should Be School Heroes

In an earnest and sincere talk, Mr. John Horner, secretary of the Wilkes-Barre Y. M. C. A. discussed with parents of the Dallas Schools their legacies to their children at the Parent Teacher meeting Monday evening.

He played a public that allows national economy to cut the cost of education and spend such fabulous sums of money for road projects. He urged parents to resist such hacking of the school budgets as will deprive their children of the best education that money can buy.

Mr. Horner expressed the belief that schools should place less emphasis on competitive athletics and more on high scholarship. The boy with the brawn rather than the brain too often becomes the school idol.

Miss Helen Himmler entertained with several splendid vocal selections. The new globe purchased by the Parent Teacher Association was presented to the school. A miniature stage constructed by Jack Dungey was exhibited and a short skit was presented by 10th grade students. Announcement was made by Professor Dinger of a student program to be held in the auditorium March 12.

RECIPES

Leftovers Are Lyrics, Bites Become Banquets

Be saucy, sweet maid, and let who will be clever! Whether you're a bride who has just learned to boil water or "old hand" who has mastered French souffles, you'll earn the professional title of "chef" if you're saucy (spelled sauce-y).

As some old trencherman said: "The wise woman will have many side-lights to her composition; and in the kitchen her saucy will have many shadings." If you care to follow axioms, you'll find no better one to guide you. Sauce makes banquets of bites and lyrics of leftovers. It may be a cream sauce for the vegetable or fish dish, it may be a savory sauce for meat, a sweet sauce for dessert—in any case the sauce's the thing!

What's Your Problem? If your refrigerator shelves hold a bit of fish, a little meat, or too many hard-boiled eggs, if you're worried about the crusts left-over from sandwich making, and your family is tired of bread pudding, learn the chef-secret—sauce!

Do your leftovers lack savor? Does your pudding lack style? Does your main course need a topping? Sauce is the answer!

Let your manner be impudent if you will; but insist that your meals be saucy-y.

Butterscotch Sauce (Glorifies the Pudding) 1 cup dark karo, 1/2 cup sugar, 1 cbsp. cream or evaporated milk, 1 tbsp. butter, salt, 1/2 teasp. vanilla, 2 tbsps. boiling water.

Boil together sugar, karo and cream until a little syrup forms a soft ball in cold water, or 250 degrees fahrenheit. Remove from fire; add butter, salt and flavoring. Blend and add boiling water.

Almond-Mushroom Gravy (New Sauce for Boiled Rice or Meat) 2 cups boiled rice, 2 tbsps. mazaola, 1/2 slice onion, 1 cup meat stock, 1/2 teasp. salt, 1/4 lb. mushrooms, 1/4 cup almonds, toasted, 4 tbsps. flour.

Cook onion in mazaola until brown; remove onion, add flour and salt and cook until brown. Then add meat stock and boil two minutes. Add the mushroom caps which have been peeled, sliced and sauted in mazaola about five minutes. Mix in the toasted almonds and serve over the hot boiled rice or meat.

Banana Horseradish Dressing 1/2 ripe banana, 1/4 cup mayonnaise 1/2 cup heavy cream, 1 teasp. salt, 1 teasp. prepared horseradish.

Peel banana, slice into bowl and beat until smooth and creamy. Add cream and continue beating until mixture is stiff. Fold in mayonnaise, salt and horseradish. Makes about one cup—eight servings. This dressing keeps well in a cool place for about 24 hours.

You have read the good news; Teeth may be drilled now without hurt.
