SKIING NEXT, SAYS KATE SMITH

Every Thursday night, after Kate Smith pushes the moon over the mountain again for her vast radio audiences, she catches a train (which is always delayed ten minutes for her) and goes to Lake Placid. She started going there four years ago on recommendation of her physician and now spends most of the winter there. Skating and bob sledding are her favorite winter sports, but she promises to master the intricacies of skiing before the winter is over. Last Saturday she was honorary judge at the Adirondack Bob Sled Club's annual intra-club race.

WHILE WE SHIVER, DALLAS FOLK IN FLORIDA SWELTER

While we point with pride to a flock of noisy crows as premature harbingers of spring, our friends in Florida swelter in the shade.

Mrs. C. William Bertels, the former Miss Marion Shindel, writes that even the sheerest winter dresses have been consigned to the closet and scanty sun suits are most comfortable.

Sample These Spot-Light Specialties

A SPARKLING IDEA!

Plum pudding in a blaze of glory is nothing new, but the young "smarties" at Smith College, prominent Eastern school, served their bedazzled with Fourth-of-July sparklers! Atop each serving of fruit pudding a sparkler sizzled its merry way—what an idea for your next party—Make your fruit pudding the "bright way" too; just use the same Dixie fruit cake mixture, and add a dash of Dixie liquid and a little oven-time to turn into fruit cake. Serve it hot, in slices, with pudding, with a dash of sauce and a lighted sparkler. SHORTCUTS FOR SUPPER

A cornbread chortcake is the 1936 shortcut to impromptu Sunday night entertainment. Just bake your favorite cornbread, split white hot, butter, and put creamed left-over ham or other left-over meat (chopped), between layers. Serve with broiled bananas to "fill 'em up", pep 'em up, and dress up the meal! The luscious banana garnish is simple and quick to do: Peel firm, partially ripe or yellowripe bananas, brush with butter, sprinkle lightly with salt, place on rack of broiler or in pan, and broil 5 to 6 minutes, or until tender and brown. Serve hot.

SWEET KITCHENS!

The latest "sweet kitchens" have nothing to do with gingham curtains and bright new gadgets, except as a setting for the winter sport of candy making! The younger generation has cast its vote for taffy pulls, fudge making, and peanut brittle, and leading the "poll" is a nut brittle. Make it like this: Nut Brittle: Put 2 cups granulated sugar and 1 cup brown sugar, 1/2 cup white karo and 1/2 cup water into saucepan and cook, stirring until sugar is dissolved. Continue cooking, without stirring until temperature of 300 degrees fahrenheit is reached, or it is brittle in cold water. Remove from fire, add 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1/2 teaspoon soda and 1/2 cup butter and stir only enough to mix well. Add 1 1/2 cups nut meats and pour in thin sheet at once on oiled slab or on oiled inverted pans or baking sheets. Do not scrape saucepan. Smooth out with spatula.
