

New Use Of Farm Produce Seen By Grange Lecturer

Pomona Pays Impressive Tribute To Departed At Saturday Session

PLAN CHURCH PROGRAM

The future of the American farmer depends to a great extent upon the new uses and new possibilities which science may find for agricultural products, declared Mrs. Ira C. Gross of Johnstown, lecturer of Pennsylvania State Grange, in an address last Saturday afternoon at the meeting of Luzerne County Pomona Grange, No. 44, in Kunkle Grange Hall.

The problems confronting agriculture today, she said, represent a challenge to farm youth, and to all who, regardless of their age, feel young.

John A. Hildebrandt Lehman Grange, Pomona master, presided. He awarded the honor banner for the quarter to Beaver Run Grange, which has enlisted the most new members.

An impressive part of the day's program was the memorial service directed by Mrs. L. U. Case, Jackson Grange, when roses were laid on an altar in memory of Stanley Gregory, James Ide, Albert J. Miller and Lucy Jones.

Mrs. Ernest Keller, Center Hill Grange led the afternoon meeting. Invocation was given by Ralph Lewis, Rev. Guy Leinthal welcomed the guests, Mrs. Herbert P. Riley responded and Helen Elston, Lena Elston, Caroline Brace, Stella Elston, and Gene Elston sang.

The Kunkle Grange presented a one-act play, "Making A Sister". The new soil conservation program was explained by Grover C. Stock, county chairman, and Ira C. Gross spoke briefly. Ruth Yeust and Phyllis Kunkle also participated in the afternoon program.

In the evening plans were completed for the annual Pomona Grange Go-To-Church Sunday at Patterson Grove Camp Ground on Sunday afternoon, July 12, at 2:30. John A. McSparran, Fulton, past master of Pennsylvania State Grange, will be speaker.

Besides those mentioned, the following attended Saturday's sessions:

Anna McNally, L. U. Case, Mrs. J. A. Hildebrandt, S. V. Lewis, Ernest Keller, Mrs. F. R. Searfoss, Mrs. Alfred Rice, Mrs. W. A. Smith, Mrs. Catherine Gregory, A. W. Rice, Mrs. Emma Ide, Mrs. R. D. Lewis, O. P. Williams, Philip Kunkle, Mrs. Harold Smith, Kunkle, Mrs. M. C. Miers, Mrs. James Hartman, Mrs. J. S. Kunkle, C. S. Hildebrandt.

HOPES OF G. O. P. VICTORY LIE WITH THEM

Alfred M. Landon Governor of Kansas, and Frank Knox, Chicago newspaper publisher, candidates, respectively, for the Presidency and the Vice-presidency of the United States. Landon's name was the only one presented to the convention. It was the first time such a thing had happened at a Republican convention since the nomination of Grant in 1868 and 1872. So loudly did delegates cheer Governor Landon's nomination that the noise exceeded the capacity of the huge applause meter which was used throughout the convention to measure enthusiasm.

Dallas M. E. Opens Bible Class Monday

Thirty On Teaching Staff For Summer Church School

A summer Bible school for children will open Monday at Dallas M. E. church and will continue five days a week for two weeks until Sunday, July 5, when there will be a demonstration of the work at the annual Children's Day Exercises in the church.

Because of the success attending the school in previous years, the session this summer has been planned to extend a week longer than in former years. This is the third Bible School that has been held at Dallas M. E. church since Rev. Francis Freeman became pastor. An average attendance of more than 130 children were at each of the sessions last year and an even larger number is expected this year.

Sessions will begin at 9 a. m. and extend until noon on the five first days of each week. Classes will be devoted to Bible study under the supervision of skilled teachers. There will be supervised recreation periods and classes in handwork for both boys and girls. The teaching staff will number thirty.

Class periods will be thirty minutes duration covering such subjects as: Health and Temperance; Life of Christ; Standard Catechism; Missions, Bible stories and Church Doctrine.

"Cowboy Bill" Promises Defiant Leap On Sunday

"Cowboy Bill" Hubbard, who has been building himself a reputation as one of the country's most foolhardy daredevils for the last decade or two, is sore!

Last Sunday a typical holiday throng was gathered at Harvey's Lake Picnic Grounds, waiting to see Bill take his life in his hands by jumping off a 40-foot platform into 50 feet of water on a motorcycle speeding along at 60 miles an hour. Bill and his motorcycle were ready—but the platform wasn't, it seemed.

For several days workmen had been raising the high scaffolding beside the chute the chutes at the picnic grounds. On Saturday night the management, checking over the construction, discovered that someone had made a mistake in the measurements. As it stood, it would be impossible to get the speed "Cowboy Bill" needed. An emergency crew of workmen began reconstruction on the scaffold, racing against time while Bill stood impatiently by. But it wasn't finished in time.

An embarrassed management and an angry daredevil resolved then and there to make up to the crowds this coming Sunday by planning a special big day. Bill signed a defiant contract to make the jump twelve times during the next month. He'll make the first two next Sunday—even if he has to jump off the bathhouse, he says. Never before in the history of the picnic grounds has a crowd been disappointed, and although the people there last Sunday agreed good-naturedly that no one was to blame, the picnic grounds is inviting them all back so Bill can prove that he can jump off his platform and come up alive.
