

Girl Scouts Enjoy New Home At Lake

Mr. Weckesser's Gift Draws High Praise From Campers

Wildwood, the newly acquired home of Wyoming Valley Girl Scouts, is now open for use of the girls. The beautiful building, donated by F. J. Weckesser, is now being used almost every day by the enthusiastic campers and their leaders. Located on the Southern part of the Lake, Wildwood is an ideal location for the girls.

The spacious former home of Mr. Weckesser consists of a very large parlor adjoined by a good sized dining room. The kitchen alone, located directly in back of the dining room, is as large as any hotel kitchen. The second story of the building boasts of eight large and airy bedrooms, with accommodations for twenty five persons. The complete interior of the house is finished in a very beautiful rustic style. The walls bear paintings of wild life and animal studies. The exterior finish of the house is that of a log-cabin, having little indication of long usage.

Surrounding Wildwood, are many old and noble-looking pine and spruce trees. The lawn, encircling the building, although not in very good condition now, is being cared for and promises to be in perfect shape by next summer. Flowers galore provide the girls with plenty of plant life to study.

The house is not the only boast of the Scouts. The beautiful boat house, now being used very much by the girls in their swimming parties is perhaps the most beautiful on the Lake. Lately buoys have been placed to mark off the safe sections for the yet inexperienced swimmers. Along with the boat house should be mentioned the large garage and the barn. When too many girls are booked to stay overnight, cots are placed in these two buildings and provide ample protection from the elements for the Scouts and their superiors.

Mr. and Mrs. German, caretakers of the estate, have no easy job on their hands. What with fifty girls trying to have the fun of their lives, without making too little noise? The girls have no life of luxury at their disposal, however. As Mr. German said, "They have to do what's to be done." The girls eat meals cooked by themselves, enjoy a blazing fire in one of the large fire places from their own fire wood, and sleep upon beds made for the night by themselves. The chores are not shirked, however, but done in a willing and understanding way.

To provide all scouts of Wyoming Valley with the use of the new home, Mrs. Neil Chrisman, head of the Valley Scouts, is having the time for each troop or troops booked in such a way as to please all and offend none, if that is possible.

"COWBOY BILL", INJURED IN FIRST DIVE, TO REPEAT STUNT ON SUNDAY

By JOSEPH OLEKSIW
Several thousand thrill-hungry people were at the Picnic Grounds last Sunday to witness the spectacular motorcycle dive by "Cowboy" Bill Hubbard, dare-devil supreme.

The dive, scheduled for two thirty, did not come off 'til three, due to an unavoidable delay in getting the motor started. When the motor was finally started, Bill rode down the runway at a fast speed until he left the runway and flew through the air into the water. The motor, due to a bad carburetor, stalled at the end of the runway and hurting his face slightly. The football type helmet worn by the driver was torn off during his plunge into the lake. Bill emerged smiling from the water to receive the applause of his audience. The motorcycle was later hauled out of the water and cleaned.

The story of the motorcycle dive is very spectacular and quite interesting, but the story of Bill Hubbard is perhaps even more so. To begin with, this is the first time Bill or anybody else did that type of a jump. Bill did a lot of doubling work for the movies a few years ago. In fact, he doubted when he was only sixteen years old. He has had more experience with horses and autos than with motorcycles. Bill got the motorcycle dive idea when he was riding around the lake and noticed the high tower. The runway was built under Bill's direction and is now ready for his use.

Many people thought the act was impossible and believed that he was trying to stall the act last Sunday and the Sunday before last. This is of course untrue. The Sunday before last he could not jump because the runway wasn't completed. Last Sunday the jump was delayed by no cause of Bill's. He finally jumped, however, and proved his worth. Many of the people thought that Bill either couldn't do it or would get hurt. The injustice of this fact is that these same people, after the act, believed—or rather, said—that the act was "simple" or "easy". To the people down below just watching him, Bill seemed to be just going through Bill, who makes most of his money by selling advertising sign space on the runway, approached several Wilkes-Barre firms in his advertising campaign. (He isn't only a dare-devil, he's also a great business man!) Several of them declined, however, to buy, not because of lack of interest, but because they believed that his first jump also would be his last, therefore making their ads useless. This jump of his will certainly convince those skeptics!

Asked whether he liked his work, Bill said, "No, not very much. I'd much rather live a natural life—go into business, work, nearly anything—but I can't very well complain!"

This Sunday Bill will again jump—twice—and with a better motorcycle. He'll jump at two and at seven. A large crowd is expected, and certainly all will enjoy it. Bill is putting a new angle into his jump this Sunday, making it all the more interesting! Many people are bringing their whole families and spending the whole Sunday as a picnic along with the great attraction. This jump is very unusual and therefore should not be missed. The management of Picnic Grounds invites all the public to be there this Sunday to witness this most spectacular event.

Wilkes-Barre Scouts Visiting Camp Here

Troop 58, of the Baptist Church of Wilkes-Barre, under the direction of Mrs. Brader is spending four days at the new Girl Scout home, Wildwood. Sixteen girls, with seven elders, are at the home now. On Thursday, twenty-one more girls will arrive and these sixteen will return home.

During the stays at the Lake home, the girls are taught first aid, swimming, cooking, and life-saving. Lately the water has been too cold to allow safe bathing for the scouts, but warm weather will soon afford this privilege to the girls.

NEW LOCATION

Jenkin's Summer Beauty Shop, operated by Boris Jenkin, has been moved to a new and better location this Summer. Overlooking the Lake, the shop adds to the convenience of Mr. Jenkin's patrons.

Y. W. C. A. Camp Will Be Opened Tomorrow

Blue Triangle Camp, the Harvey's Lake camp of the Valley Young Women's Christian Association, will be formally opened tomorrow, Saturday, June 27.

Forty-eight girls, accompanied by ten leaders will be the first group to inhabit the camp this summer.

Miss Marguerite Criste, Wilkes-Barre, is head of the Valley Y. W. C. A. In the program for this summer are included the following courses of study: Swimming, plant and animal life, first aid, and cooking.

BUILD NEW BOATHOUSE

Dr. Benjamin Davis, Point Breeze, has had a new boat house and dock built in front of his cottage, May-Dell. The boat house shelters Dr. Davis's new motor boat and his several row boats.

Seven-Foot Black Snake Killed At Outlet Camp

Eight boys, campers at Outlet, captured a seven foot Black Snake last week, while cooking a meal at their camp. Getting a piece of cord, the boys made a make-shift trap and successfully hunted the snake. After getting the snake into a burlap bag, they proudly displayed the snake to Lake cottagers.

The snake was finally killed and buried by the Frank Bucks of Harvey's Lake, who gave their names as follows:

Raymond Ried, Carmen King, Joe Thomas, Phil Ackey, Joe Kurley, Larry Lock, Joe Chick, and Sam Mitchell.
