600 Musicians To Play In Annual Massed Band Concert On August 14

NATIONALLY KNOWN SOLOISTS TO BE FEATURED

On the evening of August 14th, the annual Montrose Massed Band Concert, which has attracted many thousands of musicians and music lovers in past years, will undoubtedly surpass all previous records of attendance. This concert is already known as the leading event of its kind in eastern United States and continues to attract, in increasing numbers, noted musicians, bandsmen and spectators.

The huge band of over 600 players, representing more than 70 musical organizations from various parts of Pennsylvania and New York, will play an entertaining program of band numbers under the leadership of 14 well known band directors.

As an added attraction, the management each year secures outstanding talent to appear as soloists, two years ago featuring Mr. Frank Elgass, now soloist with Goldman's Band and last year offering a trio consisting of Leonard Smith, cornet soloist with Goldman's Band, Ned Mahoney, cornet soloist with the famous Seventh Regiment Band of New York City, and Joseph who is now at the Ernest Williams Band School.

Determined to make the coming concert even more attractive than those of past years, two special numbers have been arranged for the 14th of August. Another cornet has been engaged, consisting of Miss Madeline Bogle of Sebring, Florida, Donald Jacoby of York, and Leonard Meretta of Bound Brook, New Jersey. Each has a country-wide reputation as a soloist on his instrument and all are at present studying under Ernest Williams, world renowned teacher, who will be present to direct the accompaniment of their trio. The principal number to be played by this talented group is a new composition of Walter B. Rogers which he has named "Catskill Echoes". It will be given its first public rendition at the Montrose Massed Band Concert.

The second special number is one that probably could not be duplicated anywhere—Miss Lenore Hungerford, a seven year old musical prodigy, will appear as trumpet soloist, playing from memory selections of recognized difficulty including the "Grand Russian Fantasia" by Levy. Accompanying little Miss Hungerford to Montrose will be her teacher, Francis Meyers, well known composer, teacher and director of the Meyers Conservatory of Music of Utica, N. Y. Following the little girl's solo numbers Mr. Meyers will, with her assistance, give a brief demonstration of the way in which this child prodigy has been taught. This will be easily heard by all through the amplifying system.

The Montrose Massed Band Concert is in no sense a money making proposition and is not promoted for the benefit of any individual or organization. Necessary expenses will be met by a small admission charge. All under 14 years of age will be admitted free. In past years a collection has been taken but the audience has reached such proportions that it is difficult to handle and takes too much time from the program which accounts for the change in policy. Because of the admission charge no collection will be taken this year.

For a small additional charge a limited number of reserved seats are available which does away with the necessity of going early in order to have a good location. Complete information may be secured by writing to the Montrose Cut Rate Store or to Maurice D. Taylor of Montrose.

The concert is held in the Montrose Band Park and will start promptly at 8:30 P. M. Any musician who wishes to play is welcome regardless of whether or not he is identified with any band or orchestra.

Unlighted Craft Cleaved By Boat

Senator's Son Saves Fisherman After Trying To Avoid Crash

A fisherman who was fly-casting from an unlighted rowboat on Harvey's Lake narrowly escaped serious injury on Tuesday night when his boat was struck by Jack Sordoni, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Sordoni.

The Sordoni youth was cruising slowly about the lake. He swerved suddenly to avoid hitting a canoe in his path and was unable to avoid striking the rowboat in which a man by the name of Alden of Kingston was fishing.

Mr. Alden leaped from his boat and was pulled from the water by young Sordoni, who took him to Harvey's Lake police station immediately to report the accident.

The "Class in the Corner", Mr. Frank Klees, teacher, will hold a picnic meeting at Perrin's Marsh next Tuesday evening, August 4. They will entertain the members of the Fidelitas and Good Will classes at this meeting.

The Weaver reunion was held at Viola Park Sunday.
