

Washington's Mother Lived To Be 80

Was Known As "The Rose of Epping Forest"

DIED IN 1789

The girl who was to become the mother of George Washington was something of a belle in her native colony, Virginia.

Mary Ball, descended from a good English family, was called "the rose of Epping Forest" in her girlhood.

At twenty-two, Mary Ball married (on March 6, 1730) Augustine Washington, then a widower with two little boys.

When Augustine Washington died, she was left with a brood of youngsters to care for.

George Washington was still a young boy when he became possessed of a great desire to be a midshipman.

He accepted her decision with good grace, and devoted himself to surveying instead.

Mary Ball Washington was sixty-eight when the Revolution began.

At last Cornwallis surrendered in 1781 and the Revolution was won.

Mary Ball Washington lived to be over eighty, mentally keen and unfailingly cheerful.

FOOD MARKET

Advice

This week The Post introduces a new column, "Food Market Advice," which, we hope, will serve our women readers much as the Stock Market Report serves their husbands.

Low prices for LAMB and for POULTRY are being asked this week. While DUCKS and TURKEYS are outstanding in value all poultry particularly small fowl, broiling and frying chickens are much cheaper than last year.

Generous supplies of EGGS continue to arrive in the markets and they are being sold at very reasonable prices.

All varieties of red skinned APPLES are higher. BANANAS, however, are somewhat more plentiful.

There are Chilean and Argentinean summer fruits available for those whose pocketbooks are longer than average.

Spinach and Cabbage Outstanding. Fresh PEAS and BEANS are high in price but both SPINACH and new CABBAGE are plentiful and low in price.

Iceberg LETTUCE is plentiful but the heads are unusually small, a consequence of California's cold spell.

Here are two weekend menus* built around foods which are readily available and moderate in price.

Roast Stuffed Duck or Turkey. Mashed Sweet Potatoes. Creamed Spinach. Grapefruit and Lettuce Salad. Bread and Butter. Orange Souffle. Hard Sauce. Coffee.
