COLONEL FRANK EBBERT SPEAKS AT TRUCKSVILLE MONDAY NIGHT

HE HELPED TO PHRASE EIGHTEENTH AMENDMENT

Coming directly from his headquarters in Washington, D. C., Colonel Frank B. Ebbert, counselor to the Methodist Board of Temperance, will speak on Monday night at the First Methodist Church of Trucksville on "The Unfinished Battle."

For many years Colonel Ebbert has been one of the most colorful characters associated with the temperance forces. From his wide circle of acquaintances at the nation's capital, he is able to tell many an inside story of the significant events that have transpired there.

Col. Ebbert is probably the greatest legislative mind in the ranks of the drys today. It was to his careful thinking that the drys owed the phrasing of the Eighteenth Amendment and the Volstead Act. He was for many years the intimate associate of Wayne B. Wheeler when the latter was making history. He has returned to platform work to assist in the nation-wide campaign the drys have launched to rebuild temperance sentiment.

In a recent statement Col. Ebbert was frankly optimistic about the success of the new program he and his aides have inaugurated. Said he: "We have allowed things to slide long enough. The public now has a pretty good idea of what the new liquor traffic intends. We are faced with a nation-wide conspiracy to make drunkards of all our people and it's time we did something about it."

"We are now undertaking to give people the truth on this question," Col. Ebbert continued. "As a result, we find ourselves almost over-night heading a temperance movement more significant than anything that has preceded it. Even in the moment of its supposed triumph the liquor traffic has sounded its death knell."

State Puts $137,000 Worth of Game In Pennsylvania's Woods

The heaviest game restocking program in the history of Pennsylvania will be brought to a close within the next ten days, according to Major Nicholas Biddle, President of the Game Commission. This unprecedented program, which began with the purchase and release of 76,000 cotton-tail rabbits early in December, culminates with the state-wide distribution now under way of over 33,000 fully matured ringneck pheasants and several thousand bobwhite quail. Over $137,000 was spent for game purchases this year, nearly three times the amount expended during either of the previous two years.

If the results of this gigantic restocking program come anywhere near the Commission's expectations, and providing weather conditions during the coming breeding season are anywhere near normal, sportsmen can look forward to a successful season during 1937, Biddle concluded.
