JUDGE COUGHLIN

Coughlin Fitted For Job As Judge

Presents Case To Voters In Seeking Re-Election This Year

Judge Clarence D. Coughlin has announced his candidacy for re-election to the Luzerne County bench in this year's election.

In a statement, Judge Coughlin, who was first appointed in 1925 and was elected for a ten-year term in 1927, presents his record for the consideration of the voters. He has, he says, "endeavored to administer the law in accordance with the basic principle of our government that all men are created equal, applying it to the best of my ability without regard to race, color, faith or political affiliation."

Judge Coughlin was born in Kingston, educated in the public schools, Wesleyan College and Harvard University. He was admitted to the bar in 1910, and elected to Congress in 1920.

He is active in many organizations, civic and fraternal, and is a member of the Grange at New Columbus, near where he operates a farm.

Van Dyke Asks Pennsylvanians To Help Publicize Their State

"See Pennsylvania First" Is Theme Of Ambitious Program

SCENIC BEAUTY

By WARREN VAN DYKE
Chairman Pennsylvania Publicity Commission

A great industrial empire—yet one of the most scenic and historic states in the Union—birthplace of American history. Such is Pennsylvania!

Nature has endowed this Commonwealth with a wealth of natural beauty making it an ideal year-round vacationland. Enthralling offerings delight the eye, whether it is eastern, central or western Pennsylvania that is visited.

More than 30,000 miles of improved state highway—the greatest in the United States—enables the motorist to easily reach the matchless scenes that make this the "Scenic State". This vast network of modern traffic arteries not only runs the length and the breadth of our state but threads through miles and miles of beautiful mountains, farming and resort sections.

Pennsylvania has a diversity of scenic beauties. It has rugged mountains, such as the cool, green Poconos, the Alleghenies, and the Blue Ridge, expansive lakes and winding rivers, majestic waterfalls, virgin forests and thousands of acres of farms and orchards.

Mr. and Mrs. Lozier and family spent Tuesday visiting Mr. and Mrs. Truesdale of Meshoppen, Mrs. Lozier's parents. Billie and Betty Truesdale returned home with them to spend a few days.

The Girl Scouts of Outlet held an ice cream social on the Rossman lawn Thursday evening.

This state abounds not only with the best in Mother Nature's handiwork but with historic and educational points of interest.

It was here in Penn's sylvan wood that our nation was founded. That wooded beauty which delighted the pioneer still makes our mountains and valleys the tourist's mecca. This great and fertile land, settled 300 years ago, still preserves its old landmarks and its historic shrines, giving testimony to the epoch-making events that have immortalized our Commonwealth.

Here the Continental Congress met; here the Liberty Bell rang out the news of the Declaration of Independence; and here the first National Capitol was established. The Constitution was written and signed here. A great constitutional celebration, extending through September, is being held now in commemoration of that historic event.

The spirit of William Penn, the spirit of hospitality that led him to extend a welcome to all people, still lives in Pennsylvania. The invitation that he extended has never been withdrawn. If you would live again your American history, if you would enjoy the coolness of mountain retreats or the thrill of exploring new and different places of interest, see Pennsylvania first.

Every Pennsylvanian should join the drive of the State Publicity Commission to popularize the Keystone State.

The Girl Scouts will hike to camp Wildwood every Wednesday. Martha King has returned home from Philadelphia after visiting her aunt.
