The Shavertown M. E. church was the scene of a very lovely wedding on Thanksgiving Day at high noon when Miss Derloris Craig, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Craig of Shavertown became the bride of Ord Trumbower, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Trumbower, Sr., of Shavertown.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, was radiant in a royal blue crinkle crepe gown with hat and accessories matching. She carried a large arm bouquet of pink rosebuds and baby's breath. Her only attendant, Miss Della Riddal of Trucksville, wore a raspberry red crepe dress with matching accessories and carried an arm bouquet of yellow rosebuds. The bride's mother was charming in a rust crepe gown with brown accessories.

The groom's best man was Glen Case of Shavertown.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. Fred Sellers. Mrs. Margaret Price sang several numbers. The church organist, Mrs. Vester Vercoe, played the wedding march and the recessional.

After the ceremony, the couple left on a motor trip. On their return, Mr. and Mrs. Trumbower will reside in the Brickel apartment on the main street in Dallas.

Mrs. Trumbower is employed with the Commonwealth Telephone Company, and Mr. Trumbower is the manager of the American Store in Shavertown.

FULL HEARTS ON XMAS MORNING OFTEN COME FROM EMPTY ATTICS

FIRST LADY SUGGESTS HOLIDAY HOUSECLEANING

BY ELEANOR ROOSEVELT

(The following article will appear in the December issue of Reader's Digest and is used here with permission of that magazine. It is timely because Dallas Junior Women's Club is preparing to collect gifts for needy children in this section.)

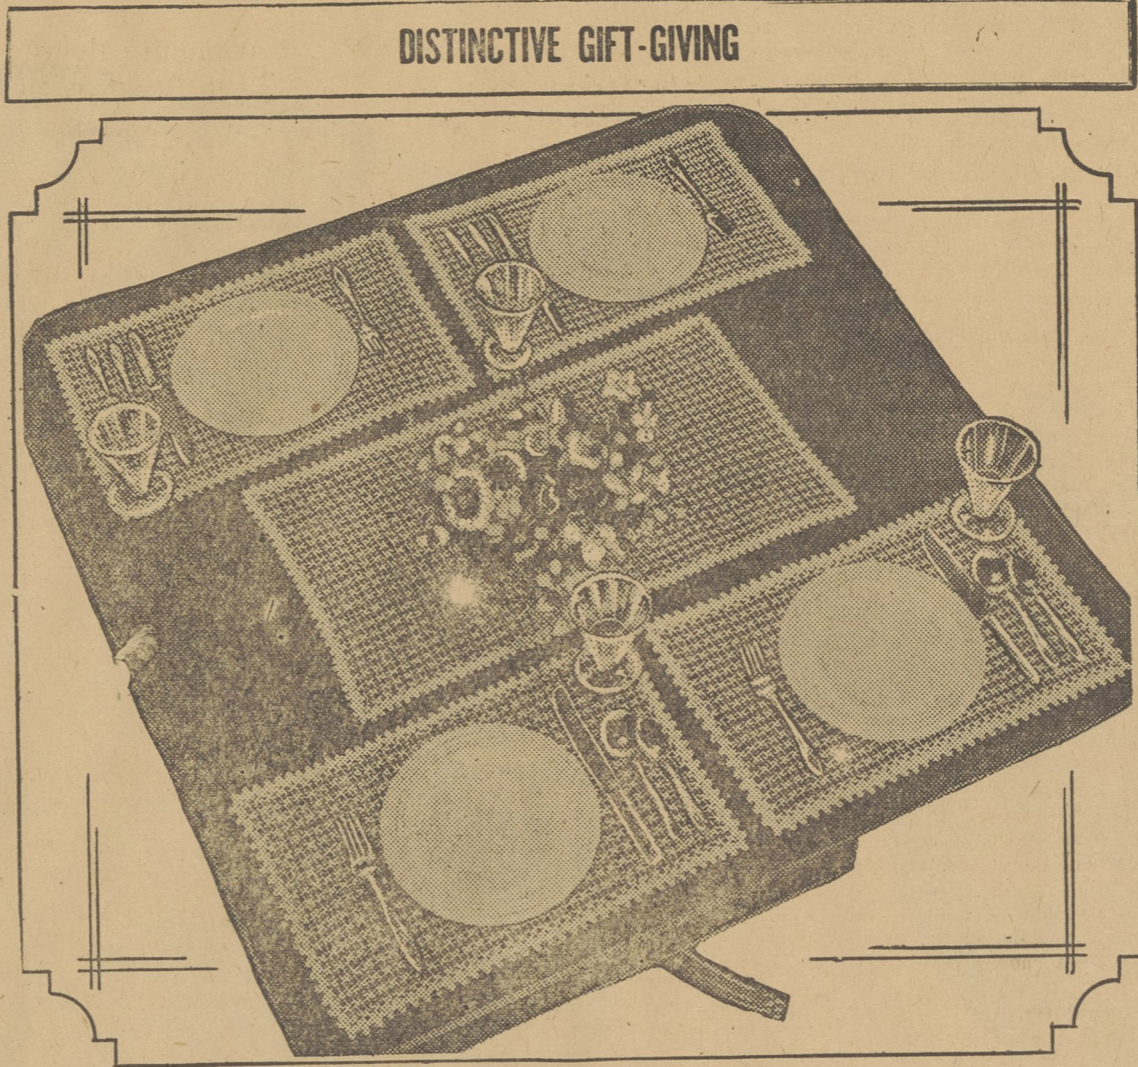

Here is a new idea for those of us who dread spring housecleaning: combine it with the Christmas spirit. Why wait until spring? Why not make a festive occasion of the weeding out and sharing of our usable surplus possessions? Things which have ceased to be useful to us, things we are tired of, could begin all over again under our neighbor's Christmas tree. Why not do it now, and make housecleaning a joyful, generous, friendly act?

Mother should not do this Christmas salvage work alone, however. Every member of the household should join in a hunt through closets, neglected drawers, the attic. All of them should overhaul their books. If it is put in the light of an opportunity for Christmas giving in which all members of the family can join, they will probably be surprised by the things which turn up on the pile to be given away. Here, for instance, is an overcoat which father has treasured for years, thinking the time might come when he would wear it again. But there are shivering men walking the streets without any coats at all these days. Or here is an old quilt, preserved in mothballs as befits an heirloom. You thought time and time again that it was too good to part with, but remember that there are children who go to bed wrapped in newspapers, and still are cold.

Be very careful about one thing. Don't give rubbish. Rubbish is no good to anyone. Clean and renovate what can be salvaged. What you are looking for is gifts, something you can enjoy giving, something you would be proud to see someone else enjoy. A good test of what to give is whether you would be glad to receive it yourself.

This movement could be made to echo through every community in the United States. It would help to draw communities together, whether large or small; it would make them conscious of the needs of those who have too little, and it would offer the chance for a real community Christmas. Ministers would surely be glad to announce this campaign from their pulpits; local radio stations and newspapers would gladly give information about it. In many communities firemen have for years generously helped similar campaigns. Merchants, Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, would surely be helpful volunteers in the work of collecting the gifts.
