

Howells Wedded 56 Years Tuesday

East Dallas Couple Observe Golden Anniversary Of Marriage

In excellent health and in splendid spirits, Mr. and Mrs. N. W. Howell of East Dallas celebrated their 56th wedding anniversary last Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Howells were married by Rev. G. C. Lyman at the Carverton M. E. parsonage. They lived on the farm where Mr. Howell was born, in East Dallas, until about 18 years ago, when they moved to their present home on Demunds road.

Mr. Howells gave the East Dallas M. E. church the ground on which it now stands and his granddaughter, then a small child, was credited with the first gift to the church fund.

Mrs. Howells was born Nancy Lord, daughter of Elizabeth Dewitt and Stephen Lord, on a farm where her brother, Dewitt Lord, now lives, at Mt. Zion. She was born on May 9, 1859. Mr. Howells was born on the family farm in East Dallas, the son of James and Katherine (Stocker) Howells, on May 27, 1857. He sold that farm to the Paynes about 18 years ago.

Mr. and Mrs. Howells have one son, H. E. Howells, and two grandchildren, Alberta and Lois Howells of Main street, Dallas. The couple were guests of Mrs. Howells' sisters, Mrs. Ada Rice, at "The Maples", Demunds, on Sunday.

The Post joins with their many friends in wishing them many more such pleasant anniversaries.

A SON BORN

Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Yuest, DeMunds road, announce the birth of a son, Duane Paul, on December 4.

Pomona Is Opposed To Crew Limit Bill

A resolution opposing the Train Limit Bill now before Congress was adopted at the all-day meeting of Pomona Grange at Jackson Grange Hall last Saturday. Kenzie Bagshaw of Blair county spoke on "Proper Evaluation of First Things First." About 150 persons attended, representing Mountain Grange, Carverton, Muhlenberg, Kunkle, Center Hill and Jackson Granges.

FARM CALENDAR

KEEP EGGS COOL

If eggs are held in a house cellar in which there is a furnace, the chances are that they will not make the top grade. The furnace usually keeps the cellar too warm and dry. Eggs keep best between 40 and 50 degrees, say Penn State poultry specialists.

FEED COWS WELL

Cows freshening in good flesh and well fed during the lactation period will give enough extra milk to pay twice over for all extra feed used to get them into good condition, say Penn State dairymen.

MAKE GOOD THINGS

Many families will have Christmas puddings, cakes, cookies, and candies made from recipes recently printed by the Pennsylvania State College. Circular 192 on "Sweets and Nutmeats," and leaflets 57 and 58, entitled respectively "Christmas Puddings and Cakes" and "Filling the Holiday Cookie Jar" contain this information.

FEED LEGUME HAY

A good legume roughage, such as clover, alfalfa, or soybean hay, makes a splendid winter feed for the farm flock. Sheepmen everywhere place a high value in legume hay for breeding ewes, according to livestock specialists of the Pennsylvania State College.

KEEP EGGS COOL

Eggs will not freeze until the temperature goes below 2 degrees, but for best results they should be held in a temperature between 40 and 50 degrees. Penn State poultry specialists say that it is important also to have high humidity in the storage room.

CONTROL LEAF CURL

Spraying for control of peach leaf curl should be done while the peach buds are dormant. Bordeaux mixture is recommended by Penn State plant pathologists. Ask your county agent for detailed information.

GET GOOD VARIETIES

The most satisfactory varieties of peaches to grow commercially in Pennsylvania are Belle of Georgia, Elberta, and J. H.

Hale, according to fruit specialists of the Pennsylvania State College. There are many other varieties which possess special market possibilities.

Tuber-bone diseases are the worst enemies of next year's potato crop. Such diseases as leaf roll, mosaic, and giant hill are carried over in the tubers and cannot be detected. Only reliable seed potatoes should be planted, according to the plant pathologists of the Pennsylvania State College.
