"Aunt Betty" Wilbur Passes In Peace

Aged Resident Of Dallas Dies Quietly At Home Monday

Mrs. Betty Wilbur, 90-year old widow of Henry Wilbur, who died some 15 years ago, passed away at her Franklin street home Monday afternoon, causing no little sadness among residents of Dallas and the whole Back Mountain region, which knew her affectionately as "Aunt Betty". Mrs. Wilbur had been very active throughout her long and eventful life, and it is believed that she just outlived herself. Up until a very short time before her death, it was a common occurrence to see Mrs. Wilbur, who was one of the oldest residents of this section, clambering about her house and lawn with all the energy of a young woman, keeping things in shape. Death came easily, with no fear and deep peace, to the elderly woman.

The deceased had lived in Dallas for the last 22 years, before which she resided at Harvey's Lake, Huntsville and Luzerne. She had been an active and prominent member of the Lehman Methodist Episcopal Church for a great many years.

Surviving Mrs. Wilbur are a great many nephews and nieces in Dallas and vicinity. The funeral services, conducted by Rev. C. H. Frick, were held yesterday afternoon, and the body laid away in Huntsville Cemetery.

Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Perrin and family of Wilkes-Barre have moved to their summer resident at Chase.
