1,000 Turn Out For Out-door Rally Of Republicans At Ox Bow

HARMONY IS KEYNOTE

A drive to have every Republican registered in time to vote for Judge Arthur H. James for Governor in November got off to an enthusiastic start last Saturday when more than 1,000 Republicans from this district turned out for the Sixth Legislative District outing at the Ox Bow Lake estate of Attorney Donald O. Coughlin.

The followers of the Grand Old Party began arriving early and by noon a spirited crowd was on hand, attacking the generous supplies of refreshments and enjoying the opportunities for sport. The formal program began in mid-afternoon, with Peter D. Clark of Dallas, district chairman, presiding. Speakers were Attorney Lawrence Coughlin, County Chairman J. Henry Poole, County Commissioner John MacGuffie, District Attorney Leon Schwartz, Robert Miller, candidate for Senator; Michael Yeosock, candidate for Congress, and Attorney William McLean, 3rd.

The speakers pleaded for a concentrated effort to uncover unregistered Republicans and have them register promptly to protect their vote. They painted a glowing picture of the Republican opportunity to gain victory in Pennsylvania this fall under the banner of Judge James.

Among the people from Dallas and vicinity who were seen at the outing were:

Bob Hoover, Jean Hoover, Ralph Frantz, Jake Harrison, Dick Rowlands, William Rowlands, Giles Moore, Harold Lloyd, Jake Gossart, Wilfred Moore, Bill Cobleigh, Marvin McCarthy, Jim Ayre, George Ayre, Joseph Schooley, Wilbur Nichols, Alex Johnson, Alex Wilson, Tom Earl, Henry Disque.

POST SCRIPTS

Pegler: That's what I am getting at. This thing has ceased to be a lark. It's become a business. We must have an executive business director with a competent staff.

Tunney: I think we are growing too fast. Let's not get cocky.

Reynolds: Personally I think we pay too much rent. Brown would like to move to Stamford.

Brown: No, New Canaan is a nicer address. When we get our second class privileges we should mail out of the New Canaan post office, I think. But we could move our own office in New Canaan, if you think it best.

Bye: I never saw such a restless crowd. We have been here only since April.

Reynolds: It's going to be as hot as blazes in here—and we'll have to have about eight big fans—

Pegler: But, Quent, you forget about our wax gals down in the hair-dressing window below—Drusilda and Gwendoline. If they can stand the heat—

Reynolds: We'll stay. We'll stay.

And we echo Quentin Reynolds' concession with our own fervent wish that they do stay, all of them, and flourish.

Stiff Opposition To School Merger Mounting Locally through a larger unit of administration.

"The need for merging many a small school district in Pennsylvania in order to create an administrative unit large enough to support an adequate educational program has been evident to all students of school administration for many years," Superintendent Ade says. "The factors which influence the movement toward larger attendance areas are the improved roads and transportation facilities and the need for an enlarged and enriched program of learning for the individual who must prepare himself to live efficiently in our modern society. For these reasons both elementary and secondary schools should be large enough to make a wide and diverse offering of school activities."

RIVER LEVEL LOW

Mountain streams are unusually low due to the absence of rainfall, with the result that the Susquehanna river is lower than is usual for July.

International . . .

"MISTAKE"
Forbidden to fly his 9-year-old patchwork plane across the Atlantic, Douglas Gorce Corrigan, 31-year-old California mechanic, took off from New York Sunday morning, presumably for the West Coast, turned up 28 hours, 13 minutes later in Dublin, insisted he thought he was headed toward California until he dropped below the clouds and saw Ireland. Next day admiring members of the Burlington, Wis., Liars' Club solemnly elected Corrigan to membership.

MOTHER-IN-LAW
As it must, even to Queens, death came this week to Marie, Queen of Rumania, 62, granddaughter of Victoria of England, "mother-in-law of the Balkans". An aristocrat to the end, Marie died of a liver disease so rare only about 50 such cases have been known to medical science.

THIRD
The third year of the Spanish Civil War dawned Monday.

DECLINE
Provoked by continually shrinking foreign trade, German stock prices tumbled sickeningly downward this week in the worst collapse since the advent of Hitler as economic laws began to assert themselves over Germany's proclaimed "national independence".

National . . .

BABY
Born: To Mr. and Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, Jr., in Philadelphia, a seven-pound boy, "a very beautiful baby", in the opinion of proud papa Franklin. Other Rooseveltians: Presidential Secretary James Roosevelt, leaving Mayor Clinic, pale but cured, promised to answer in Colliers soon the charges that he used his position to sell insurance; deep-sea fishing in California, Papa Roosevelt hinted he might report on his Western tour at its conclusion in a fire-side chat.

BULLS
In New York's Stock Exchange steady gains of the month paused momentarily, gained new impetus, rose to a new average high, best stock market showing since last Autumn.

WITNESS
On the night before he was to testify in the notorious Harlan, Ky., anti-labor conspiracy case, now entering its tenth week, Oscar Skidmore, employe at defendant Harlan-Wallins Coal Co., died in an auto accident, the fourth death by violence to principals in the case.

State . . .

LEGISLATURE
Abandoning his earlier attitude of injured dignity, harassed Governor George H. Earle donned one of righteously frankness, summoned his Democratic Legislature to a special session at Harrisburg next Monday to decide whether he accepted graft, as ex-Attorney General Margiotti charged in the heat of last Spring's Primary Campaign.

Laketon

Fred Crispell and son-in-law, Lawrence Sickler, killed a three-and-one-half foot rattlesnake last Friday on Lord's Mountain. They went back on Saturday to a huckleberry patch on Lord's Mountain and James Sickler was picking berries in the same place with them. Another rattler ran through his hands. They killed it. It was four feet long.

Miss Susan Oram of Kingston visited Mr. and Mrs. William Hensch last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Garinger and son motored to Lakline recently and brought Miss Lillian Ward home.

Mrs. William Housch received a phone call Tuesday at midnight that her sister, Mrs. Mary Kunkle of Kingston, is very ill at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Arvilla Whitebread. Mrs. Housch and daughter, Florence, left Wednesday with Mr. Kline for Kingston.

Miss Adelaide Housch is visiting her former roommate at Bloomsburg State Teachers' College, Miss Millie Wary of Shamokin.

Mr. and Mrs. Carleton Kocher and daughter, Carlene, and Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Nulton and son, Sherry, spent

REQUEST

CIO bigwigs of Pennsylvania, preparing to back the Democratic ticket in the Fall, conferred with Governor Earle, asked him to reciprocate by placing more CIOers in important State positions, Governor Earle: "There was absolutely no politics discussed."

BAD

During the first four months of 1938, railroads in Pennsylvania operated at a deficit of $38,942,150, Walter S. Franklin, vice-president of Pennsylvania R. R., told the Public Utility Commission at Harrisburg this week. "Financial condition of railroads . . . is as bad as it has been ever," he said. P.U. Commissioner Beamish suggested blandly that the railroads reduce their fixed charges.

BONDS

At Harrisburg the State Liquor Control board reported that many drinking establishments in the Wilkes-Barre area will close their doors August 1 because bonding companies are reluctant to insure proprietors since recent wide-spread raids and convictions.

INNOCENT?
Mumbling repeated protestations of his innocence, Michael Fugmann, ex-German artillery officer, walked unaided into the death chamber at Bellefonte at 12:30 a. m. Monday, died for blasting Michael Gallagher, cemetery sexton; Thomas Maloney, union leader, and his son, Thomas, Jr., into eternity with home-made bombs on Good Friday, 1937.

COPS
Members of the Northeast District Police Executives' Association of Pennsylvania voted to "back to the end" Luzerne's Police Chief Albin Grumbis, who blinded a young man with tear gas recently and was ordered by the court to pay damages. Keynoted Warden William B. Healey: "Police-men are sworn to protect the lives and property of others, but they also must protect themselves and their fellow officers."

Miscellany . . .
INCIDENT
Wars have been started by incidents such as the dispute which flared briefly when eight Canadian cows turned up on the Maine side of the border this week and were seized by U. S. customs officers. After a Canadian M. P. had proposed that Canada annex a slice of Maine, the owner forked over $250 for the cows, forestalling international complications.

LOTTS
At the Meshoppen home of Ziba Lotts gathered 150 descendants of one of the four Lott boys who gathered stout logging chains, strung them across the Hudson at Constitution Island to snag British war vessels during the Revolution. When England placed a price on the boys' heads one, Abraham, fled to Pennsylvania, married an Indian Princess, begat the line from which lots of Lotts sprang.

CHIEF WARNS BOATERS THEY MUST HAVE LIGHT WHEN ON LAKE AT NIGHT

A stern warning against taking a boat out on Harvey's Lake after dark without adequate lighting was issued yesterday by Chief Ira C. Stevenson of Harvey's Lake.

The practice of fishing, sailing or canoeing without a light is dangerous, the Chief said, and a violation of the law.

He declared he is anxious for everyone to know of his warning because he is launching a drive to curb the practice and those who disobey in the future will be liable to arrest and fine.

Directors Divide On Acceptance Of Teacher's Apology

"In plain words, I'm for the disciplining of Line. I'm voting in favor of dismissal."

"Well," said Mr. Disque, "I'm voting no, for a number of reasons, and you can record my vote that way."

Then Mr. Lapp made a motion, seconded by Mr. Disque, that the directors vote on whether Line should be retained or dismissed. Disque, Jeter and Baker voted for retention, Ayre and Lapp for dismissal.

Mr. Jeter hesitated some time before he cast his vote. Finally, he said: "I don't think we ought to carry it any farther," and voted for retention.

Motion Is Re-worded

After the vote Daniel A. Waters, secretary, read a message from the law covering such votes and requiring a two-thirds vote. Mr. Lapp then withdrew his motion and Mr. Disque his second and another motion was called to accept Line's apology and retain him as a teacher.

Mr. Jeter made the motion and Mr. Disque seconded it. The directors voted as before, 3 to 2 in favor of acceptance of Line's apology. It was stressed afterward that the motion was not meant to exonerate Line from the charges.

At conclusion of the meeting Secretary Waters was instructed to advise Attorney B. E. Lewis, solicitor, who was absent, so he can inform Line's counsel promptly of the board's decision.

In contrast to some of the heated sessions of Dallas school boards in the past, it was pleasant to see the directors shake hands cordially after the meeting and assure each other sincerely that there were no grudges held as a result of the division of opinion. Despite that division the meeting was marked by calm and dignified discussion, with none of the directors even raising his voice above a conversational tone.
