

Neighborhood Notes And News Of Local Church Affairs

300 At Mooretown Home-Coming Day

Old Neighbors And Friends Return For Enjoyable Reunion

Mooretown experienced one of its most successful events on Sunday on the occasion of its first Homecoming Day, sponsored by the Methodist Episcopal Church.

The all-day program was thoroughly enjoyed by the large number who attended. Former neighbors and old friends were enthusiastic in their praise of the entire affair and all agreed that it should be made an annual event.

The morning program was arranged by Miss Clara LaBarr, assisted by Rev. Mark Kroehler and Basil Steele. Special numbers were offered by the men's chorus, boys' quartet, girls' chorus, the Adams children, men's trio, Carl Brandon, Cecil Moore, Mrs. Harry Dixon, Neta Smith, George Stroud, Harry Smith and Clifford Stroud, Jr. Numerous songs by the congregation under the leadership of Carl Brandon were very inspirational.

The message of the day was delivered by Russell Steele of Kingston, who is a local preacher of the Maple Grove Quarterly Conference. Mr. Steele stressed the importance of all members of a community sharing the responsibility of building a Christian community.

"Some people," he said, "are desirous of benefiting from the advantages of a Christian community but are not willing to do anything themselves to promote that type of community." It was an inspiring message which induced serious reflection on the part of the listeners.

The afternoon was given over to the singing of favorite hymns in the community hall, with everyone taking part and Mr. Brandon again leading.
